

HANSEN JUMPS TO DEATH FROM HOTEL WINDOW

Brother Unable to Prevent Wealthy Ranchman from Jumping from Fourth Story of Rome Hotel.

Alfred Hansen, aged 42 years, and unmarried, of Cone, N. M., formerly a resident of Shelby, Ia., committed suicide at 5:30 o'clock Friday morning by jumping head-first from a fourth-story window of the Rome hotel. He died instantly. He crashed to the pavement at the corner of Sixteenth and Jackson streets, falling on the back of his head and crushing it.

Alfred Hansen was strongly afflicted with nervous trouble, according to his brother, Otto, and has been dependent for some time. Hansen was returning with his brother, Otto, to their old home at Shelby, Ia., when he became so ill that he was taken from the train to the Rome hotel. A doctor who called at 3:30 a. m. gave him a sedative to quiet his nervousness.

Call Doctor.

After the doctor left Alfred threatened several times to kill himself. His brother soothed him and told him to go to bed. Otto then took a position near the open window, in order to prevent him from carrying out his threat of jumping out.

Suddenly Alfred made a dash toward the window, dived over his reclining brother, who was not prepared for such swift action, and hurtled out into space. Police Surgeon Mullen, who attended him, said that death was instantaneous. The body was taken to Hulse & Riepen's undertaking parlors.

"When he smashed out the window," said the brother, "I tried to catch hold of him, but he was too heavy, and I could not hold him."

In Sanitarium.

According to his brother, Alfred had been ill for about two years. On September 5 to 8 he was in a sanitarium at Delport, Tex. He then went to Clayton, N. M., to aid Otto in proving up on a new claim there. Alfred has been a ranchman at Cone, N. M., for the last four years.

On the journey here from Clayton Otto says that his brother repeatedly attempted to jump through the window of the train, and that he was only prevented from doing this by the strict watch kept over him. He was continually having terrifying visions, and it was to escape these that he tried to leap through the car window.

His mother and two half brothers of Shelby, Ia., who survive him, are on their way to Omaha.

Omaha Drafted Man at Camp Funston Promoted

Frank O'Connor, son of County Commissioner O'Connor, has been promoted to corporal at Camp Funston, according to word received in Omaha. Young O'Connor, who was employed in the public defender's office in the court house, was among the first 5 per cent of the national army to leave for camp. The commissioner has sent a foot ball to Camp Funston for the use of his son and other soldiers during their spare time. The Omaha boys are organizing a foot ball team and will challenge an eleven made up of Kansas City national army men to a game.

NEW COMMISSIONER ATTENDS MEETING

Bauer & Johnson Ask County Dads What They Are Going to Do About Letting New Paving Contract.

Leo Hoffman, new county commissioner, who was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of the late Jeff W. Bedford, attended his first board meeting Friday morning. His first official business was to vote on a few minor claims. Democratic friends sent him a big bouquet of flowers, which were in a vase on his desk when he "began work."

A representative of Bauer & Johnson, paving contractors, who recently won a fight in district court against the commissioners and the Callahan Construction company over the letting of a contract for resurfacing county roads, went before the board to find out what the "board is going to do about it."

Judge Redick, sitting in law court, knocked out the contract let to the Callahan people and referred the paving matter back to the commissioners.

Two Women Divorced Would Reopen Suits

Two wives recently granted decrees in divorce court have filed motions to reopen the suits. Mrs. Zorah Zwieble, freed from John Zwieble, wants the court to amend her decree of divorce so she can get alimony.

She alleges she has discovered since the decree was granted her former husband owns a lot of real estate she never knew he had. She says he has the property and insists it must be the result of "accumulations during their married life."

Mrs. Mary E. Brown, divorced from Willis F. Brown, alleges she has discovered "he concealed property and assets from the court when the decree was granted." She says he misrepresented his holdings in order to mislead the court in making a proper alimony allowance.

According to Mrs. Brown, her former spouse conveyed all his property in Union county, Iowa, shortly after the divorce decree was granted. She declares she has had a hard time collecting what the court did allow her.

Federal Grand Jury to Report On September 24

Four Nebraska newspaper editors are included among the twenty-three men called to be federal grand jurors for the Omaha division of the federal court. They are Ross Hammond of Fremont, Dr. C. C. Barnes of Albion, C. C. Jones of Ainsworth and James R. Sutherland of Tekamah.

The following are the others named to serve on the grand jury: L. A. Arthur, Grand Island; Barney Becker, St. Helena; C. J. Cornell, Valentine; O. E. Crannell, Tekamah; Charles H. Flower, Minatare; E. Von Forrell, Scottsbluff; Frank L. Haycock, Callaway; Henry Korff, Hartington; John Kuhl, Randolph; Charles McComb, Blair; William C. Mitchell, Coleridge; L. H. Neble, Omaha; Frank Pierce, Belmont; J. W. Ransom, Norfolk; S. S. Van Horn, Fremont; A. J. Viele, Norfolk; Elmer Weber, Papillion; Ed Wideman, Columbus; Lew J. Young, Newman Grove.

Alternates—Edward Catour, Genoa; J. C. Duggan, Goodwin; George H. Clayton, Canton; E. J. Fletcher, Nacora; C. F. Harrison, Omaha; James B. Miner, Ravenna; James G. Woodman, Morrill.

The jurors will report at the Omaha federal court September 24.

Army Draft and Enlistments Cut Down Available Jurymen

A smaller number of jurymen than usual will be available for the fall docket of district court, which opens next Monday, according to Election Commissioner Moorhead, in whose offices the names of 150 veniremen were drawn. Election Commissioner Moorhead says the army draft and the large number of men who have enlisted in different branches of the service have taken many prospective jurymen. Jurymen will report for duty next Monday morning.
