day afternoon and ransacked his Marsh, vicar of St. Paul's church, has moved during the last week to 403 North Thirtieth street. The Altar Guild plans to give an entertainment at the parish house next Thursday (September 20). Refreshments will be served.

Go on His Vacation—Earl Jones, manager of the Co-operative Free Employment bureau in the court house, has gone to Kansas City for a two weeks' "vacation." He will spend his vacation studying the methods employed by the Kansas City free em-

Gift to the Library—Miss Leone Dellone, chief librarian in the law

Carter Lake Club Has Two Very Busy Weeks Ahead

The closing two weeks of Carter Lake club will be a period of special activities.

Saturday evening, September 15, a rube dance will be given. A real farm dinner will be served at 7 p. m. and pumpkin pie, country ham sandwiches, pickles and hot coffee will be served during the intermission. Only rubes will be permitted on the dance floor until 9:30 p. m.

Tuesday evening will be Council Bluffs night. Mayor Snyder will lead the grand march and a large delegation will be over to hear City Attorney Peterson handle the drums during the dance. Chief Vien has promised the best of order and Ted Riepen will act as guide.

Wednesday evening, September 19, a military dinner-dance will be given by Companies D and E, Fort Omaha, and the soldier boys invite all club members to participate. These soldier boys assert that Carter Lake club has the world beaten for hospitality.

Saturday, September 22, will be officers' night, on which many of the officers of Fort Omaha will participate.
This will be a rare treat for club members, as officers from the post have the world beaten when it comes to military etiquette.

The following and last week of the open season will be a week of continuous activities, closing with a harvest home dinner and dance Saturday evening, September 29. The last cot-tagers' dinner, Wednesday evening, September 26, will be followed by an evening of sports.

Juggles Tempins Onto
Head of Other Pinboy

Oliver Black, pin boy at the Farnam alleys, is all black.

His one delight consists in juggling tempins. In fact, "Olivia" is proficient in the art of tossing the pins about with neither regard nor respect for bystanders. His fellow worker, Tonie Osborne, also colored, chanced to be a "bystander" last night when gentle Olivia preceded his "juggling" act with a personal remark to Tonie.

"Now you all pay me dat whole two bits you owe me, or you'll see yoah name on de list—ah means de hospital list."

Tonie saw that the juggler was peevish, and prepared for the worst to come.

"An ef yo expects dat two bits, yoah expexashuns is travlin' high," replied Tonie.

Oliver grew exceedingly angry. He seems to have lost all his "pulsional" honor and respect, for suddenly, without warning, he picked up two tempins and "juggled" them in Tonie's direction. One of them took effect on Tonie's head, inflicting two serious scalp wounds. He was rushed to St.
Joseph's hospital where Dr. Romonek attended his wounds.

"Ah ducked when ah saw 'em comin', but ah knows now ah didn't duck soon enuf," said Tonie.

"Gentle" Oliver lost no time in making his escape through the back door.

Council Boosts Interest Rate to Sell the Bonds

The city council will receive bids on $400,000 of public improvement bonds until 10 o'clock this morning.
The commissioners recently advertised for bids on these bonds at 4 1/2 per cent interest, but all of the bids received were below par. This morning the city dads had a conference with Omaha bankers and were advised the condition of the bond market was such that it would be impossible to sell 4 1/2 per cent bonds at par.

So the council passed a motion boosting the interest rate, which it is believed will make a sale at par possible.

Bids will be received on two issues.
One issue is for twenty-year bonds at par, the interest not to exceed 5 per cent. The other issue is for five-year bonds at par, the interest not to exceed 5 per cent.

Thus bidders for the bonds will make their percentage of interest their bid. The council believes it will beat the 5 per cent mark, as an oral bid of 4 3/4 per cent has already been made.

The bonds to be sold consist of $200,000 sewer, $100,000 police, $50,000 park and $50,000 public comfort stations.
