Frank Hunter at the Gayety. With Frank Hunter as Tony Ferrone, putting his laugh-a-second across the footlights, "The Best Show in Town," as this week's Gayety attraction calls itself, goes far toward jus-tifying its title. In spite of the fact that he "felt a Presbyterian run down his back" Saturday evening, Hunter coolly continued to put his jokes over "hot from the griddle," and the audience liked it.

Hunter's finished comedy work was backed up by an exceptionally classy chorus of Gayety beauties. Leopard skins and autumn leaves furnished the costumes for one of the most artistic choruses in Miss Winter's and Mr. Laer's "Garden of Eden" number. The raffia chorus in "Borneo" received several encores.

A nifty ballet sextet, shaded through from blonde to brunette with a pair of chestnut beauties on the right wing, was one of the principal attractions of the evening.

The clever and graceful work of a peppy little blonde in the ponies seemed to elicit considerable attention. Miss Ethel Davenport was one of the livest spots in a particularly lively and good-looking chorus.

and Big Dinner at Stock Exchange for Second Draft Contingent.

South Siders have felt and answered the impulse to help the boys who go marching off to war. The big hearts of the men who are left behind are anxious to do what they can to show their gratitude for the service which the boys are giving. The wish to do something for the boys has formulated into plans for a big entertainment Wednesday evening, September 19, at the Stock Yards exchange dining hall. The boys in the second contingent of men selected for earning from both the South lected for service from both the South Side district and from the First district in Omaha will be the honor guests. The men who represent the live stock interests and other South Side interests will be the hosts.

"Let's give the boys a good feed before they go," said a prominent South Sider, whose thoughtfulness for others has made him a favorite. Act-

ON FALL FASHIONS BY SHERIFF CLARK

by Reporter and Army Officer Forbidden on Murder Suspect.

Charles Smith, negro, in solitary brutal murder of Mrs. C. L. Neth-Tomorrow, up go the curtains and away, wife of a Florence real estate man, was the subject of an experimental "test," made in county jail a week ago last night.

On that night a reporter for an afternoon newspaper, which also prints a Sunday edition, asked Sheriff Clark if a reserve officer stationed at Fort Omaha could give Smith a "psycho-logical" test. The sheriff consented. The newspaper printed a story of the "test" last Sunday morning, declaring the experiment was "made at the request of the sheriff." As a matter of fact Sheriff Clark merely gave the reporter and the army officer permission to "put on the show."

Yesterday this same reporter asked if the army men could give Smith another "psychological" test: Public Defender Horton, who probably will represent Smith when the nego is put on trial for the murder of the Florence woman, protested. Sheriff Clark, too, put his foot down on another "test." The sheriff told the reporter than another than a posterior than a sheriff told the reporter than a posterior than a sheriff told the reporter to the sheriff told the reporter than a sheriff told the reporter to the sheriff told the reporter than a sheriff told the reporter to the sheriff told the reporter to the sheriff told the reporter than a sheriff told the repor there would be no more "tests" until the county attorney gives his consent.
The county attorney happened to be out of the city.
"No such so-called 'psychological' tests will be allowed to creep into the trial of Smith in the shape of evidence," declared County Attorney Magney a couple of days ago. "Nothing like it would be allowed for a minute in a court room."

"Psychological bunk," declared Public Defender Horton and Adult Probation Officer Andreesen in chorus. "Smith is charged with murder and if he's consisted it will be on der and if he's convicted it will be on evidence, not on how he acted when a newspaper reporter and a psycholo-gist put him through a stunt."
