POPULAR GIRL WHO WILL
WED TUESDAY

Gladys Seely

By MELL FICIA—Sept. 17

Fort Omaha Canteen Popular.

Omaha society women know no rest these days. Between Red Cross classes, providing the boys who are leaving for training camps or for "some unknown point" with comfort kits and delicious box lunches or their knitting, which is always with them, they are in a constant whirl.

The Red Cross canteen at Fort Omaha, which was open for the first time Saturday, is the newest hobby of many of our well-known society women and young girls.

Mrs. Luther Kountze, chairman of the refreshment committee, is general manager of the canteen and is on hand every day to see that all goes as it should. Mrs. Howard Baldrige is Mrs. Kountze's right-hand assistant on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays and Mrs. Max Fleischman on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. With the help of a group of young society girls, they serve the hungry throng. Indeed, it is a throng, for, as Mrs. C. T. Kountze expressed it, the boys stand in line 400 deep.

On Sunday, which was a busy time, Mrs. Baldrige assisted Mrs. Kountze all day, with the help of Miss Marjory Smith, Miss Erna Reed and Miss Emily Keller. Today Mrs. Francis Brogan and Mrs. Baldrige were in charge, with the Misses Louise White, Ruth and Grace Slabaugh, Erna Reed and Margorie Smith assisting them.

"The boys are most enthusiastic and appreciative. They keep us the busiest during the rush hours, which are from 10 until 1 and 4 until 8, when the canteen closes.

"There is always a huge crowd for breakfast and the canteen is crowded by 7 o'clock in the morning," said Mrs. Kountze, who is herself there to oversee the corps of colored help which is employed.

Family Reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ringwalt and son, Joseph, of New York, will arrive October 1 to visit Mr. Ringwalt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ringwalt. This is the first visit home of Mr. and Mrs. Ringwalt since their marriage. Mrs. Ringwalt will be remembered as Miss Marguerite Stowitts of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bradford will arrive at the same time from California to visit at the Ringwalt home.

At the Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Drake will entertain at a dinner party Wednesday evening at the Country club for twenty-two guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Clarke will entertain Tuesday evening at a dinner party for ten guests.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Eastman entertained a supper party last night including the following: Messrs. and Mesdames: Luther Drake, C. C. George, Henry Wynne, Mr. Walter Page.

With Mr. and Mrs. Westbrook were the Misses Louise White, Meliora and Elizabeth Davis, Mr. D. E. Gallagher and Lieutenants Oviatt and Haskew of Fort Omaha.

R. B. Towle had six guests at supper, Captain Fleischman, five, and W. D. Hosford, six. Others having supper at the club with small parties were Guy Furry, M. R. Smith, W. H. McCord, E. H. Sprague, Frank Judson and F. W. Lake.

The Prettiest Mile Club.

Mrs. C. H. Mullen will entertain at a luncheon at the Prettiest Mile club Tuesday for eight guests.

Mr. Charles W. Martin will entertain the members of the Real Estate exchange at a luncheon Wednesday at the club.

Rector-Chapin Wedding.

Another army wedding which will be of interest to Omaha people was that of Miss Lillian Chapin of Lincoln to Captain Voyle Dixon Rector of this city, which took place in Philadelphia Saturday afternoon. Miss Chapin is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving G. Chapin of Lincoln and Captain Rector is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Rector of this city.

The wedding was a quiet affair, only the bride's and groom's parents and sister, Mrs. Robert Talbot, and Irving Chapin, the bride's brother, being present. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for a short honeymoon trip to New York City, after which they will be located at Wrightstown, N. J., where Captain Rector is in the artillery branch of the service at Camp Dix.

Mrs. Rector has a host of friends in Omaha, where she has frequently visited at the home of Mrs. Chester Nieman. She is a graduate of the Girton school in Chicago and attended Wellesley college. With her sister she spent last winter traveling in Japan.

Captain Rector is a graduate of Dartmouth college and a popular member of the Happy Hollow club. He received his commission at Madison barracks, New York.

With the Boys in the Army.

Sergeant Ted Anderson, a member of the medical corps stationed at Des Moines, is here on four days' leave of absence, visiting his aunt, Mrs. J. E. Helms. Mrs. Helms' son, Donald, is also in the service, being a member of the infantry stationed in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Lieutenant Norton F. Engelman, who is attached to the transportation headquarters at Camp Dodge, Ia., spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Engelman.

Mr. Howard Baldrige spent Sunday in Des Moines with his son, Malcolm, who is stationed at Camp Dodge. Lieutenant Kenneth MacIntosh, who has been stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., since the close of the

WAR SPIRIT SHOWN IN FALL DESIGNS

Fall Openings in Fashion Centers Attract Milady to View the Latest Creations.

Monday was a great day for milady. The crowds in the stores bore testimony to the fact that there was something of extraordinary interest to her going on.

It was the "fall opening" and the grand exposition of new gowns and hats. The Brandeis Stores, Burgess-Nash store and Thompson, Belden & Co., were all in holiday dress, specially decorated in the women's ready-to-wear and hat departments. The clerks seemed filled with the inspiration of the new styles.

Such gowns! Such hats! They surpass description. The great designers in Paris certainly are not much distracted by the war. Their genius seems to flame even higher than it did in time of peace. Their creations are marvelous and many were the "Ohs" and "Ahs" heard in the beautiful dress salons of the stores as the women feasted their eyes on the very latest, the "defier cri," of Dame Fashion.

Inspired By War.

The creative artists drew somewhat from the great war for their inspiration in this fall's styles. Many of the hats are shaped like the French helmets and Italian bersaglieri hats. Purple has seen its day in hats and now taupe, niger brown and black are having their turn.

In the tailored suits trimness and military severity are noticeable. There is a noticeable scarcity of evening gowns, the presumption being that during the war evening social affairs will be less popular than usual. The brighter shades of velvet are used in them. Skirts are long and wide.

Real Fur Trimmings.

Party gowns shown at the style shows have long sleeves made of tulle. Venetian meteor and georgette crepe are the materials most favored for the afternoon frock and real fur trimmings are used, especially sable, ermine and kolinsky.

The windows of the local stores were wonders of beauty and the women paid full homage to the art of the window dressers and the wonderful creations of the gown and hat artists.

The stores reported that the interest shown by the women in the beautiful things and the number of sales made even this early are a forecast of a busy season and proof that business booms in time of war.

Sergeant Magney Home On Furlough from Camp Dodge

Sergeant Vernon Magney of the truck drivers' division at Camp Dodge Des Moines, is home on a two days' furlough. He returned to Omaha with his father, County Attorney Magney, and family, who spent Sunday at Camp Dodge. Sergeant Magney is a son of the county attorney.

To Dance Night Before Leaving for Their School

Twenty students of the Kemper Military academy at Boonville, Mo., will be guests at a dinner-dance at the Field club tonight. Nineteen of the party are Omaha boys and one resides in Iowa. Tomorrow they leave in a special to take up their school duties.

At Carter Lake Club.

Covers were laid for thirty people for supper at Carter Lake club last evening. Among those entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Whitehouse, who had ten, and Mr. Roy Bloom, who had twelve.

At Seymour Lake Club.

The last card party of the season was given this afternoon at Seymour Lake club, when fifty people were present.

Mrs. Raymond Overmyer and Mrs. Roy Dennis acted as hostesses, and there were five prizes for the those holding high scores.

Orpheum Parties.

Among those entertaining at the Orpheum this evening will be Mr. W. Campen, who will have fourteen; H. E. Howland, six; H. F. Mann, seven, and R. Drexel five. The following will have four guests parties: H. F. Byrne, T. J. Flynn, O. C. Redick, T. C. Stewart of Council Bluffs, H. C. Kirchbath, Charles Metz and L. M. Cohen.

Mrs. T. G. Dwyer will have a matinee party Tuesday afternoon for eight guests.

Future Affairs.

Miss Harriet Walters entertained a few friends informally this afternoon at her home at a knitting bee. She will also give a luncheon at the Country club Wednesday in honor of the Misses Emma and Helen Warren, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who are the guests of Miss Clara Hart. Eighteen guests have been invited. Miss Walters will return to Kemper Hall at Kenosha, Wis., next Monday, where she will be in the senior class.

Miss Olga Metz is planning a luncheon for Thursday at the Country club for twelve guests. Miss Metz will return to Miss Spence's school in New York the end of the month. Among the other Omaha girls who will attend the same school this year are the Misses Louise Clarke, Claire Daugherty and Dorothy Belt.

The motor picnic which was planned by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Reese for Sunday, in honor of Miss Nina Clithero of Chicago, was postponed until the end of this week. Miss Clithero motored to York, Neb., with Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Smith to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are planning a dinner party for their guest on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Rogers is planning a luncheon for the Princeton men who are old time friends of Mr. Rogers for some time this week, the exact date being yet seen.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Swobe will entertain at a family dinner party Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Rogers of Trenton, N. J., who arrived Sunday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rogers.

The Columbia club will give a card party Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at Lyceum hall. There will be twenty prizes for those holding high scores.

Social Gossip.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Peck will leave Wednesday for an extended eastern trip. Mr. Peck will attend the Grain Men's convention in Buffalo, after which he and Mrs. Peck will visit friends in Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mr. Harold Paffenrath will leave this evening for Boonville, Mo., to attend the Kemper Military school.

Miss Lea Howard who is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, went to Lincoln Thursday to assist in the arduous duties of rushing week. She will be gone several days.

The Manicure Lady

By WILLIAM F. KIRK.

"The old gent was 68 years old yesterday," said the Manicure Lady. "Gee George, I am glad my father has such good health. He's one grand old dad."

"I hope he lives to be a hundred and never gets sick," said the Head Barber, generously. "That's all the tough going I wish him, kid."

"I think he would live to be a hundred if he don't worry too much about brother Wilfred," said the Manicure Lady. "Wilfred ain't got no job yet, and he is getting kind of melancholy."

He wrote a poem about father being 68, and read it to the old gent, and it made such a hit with father that he gave Wilfred a five case note before he had time to think.

"The old gent ought to have been tickled with that," said the Head Barber. "My poor old dad died when he was fifty. He got in front of a moving train that kept moving."

"Oh, I wish that hadn't happened, George!" said the Manicure Lady, "but I am sure he is happier now."

"I hope so," said the Head Barber. "He was always happy as long as he lived. I know that. He had the same kind of a disposition you've got, Kid. Nothing feased him."

"Us folks with sweet natures is kind of lucky when you stop to think of it," said the Manicure Lady. "Now, my sister Mayme ain't blessed that way. Every time there's a nice cool breeze blowing she says it is going to blow up a rainstorm. That's Mayme."

"It's too bad to be born that way," said the Head Barber. "Not meaning no disrespect to your sister, if she ever gets married it will be a rough, muddy track her husband has got to travel. I wouldn't want to be him."

"You wouldn't get no chance to be him, even if you was single," said the Manicure Lady. "Sister Mayme has some face and figure, believe me, George. And if she don't marry some distinguished, rich gent, I miss my guess. She would be some queen in society, too, George. Fine manners comes as natural to her as rough stuff comes to her dear old father. You just oughta see her table manners and the way she can talk about them old authors. I thought I had read a lot, but she's got me beat forty ways. She can say almost half Mr. Shakespeare wrote by heart."

"That won't get her nothing, saying what he wrote," said the Head Barber. "A lot of people can say what he wrote, but they couldn't write it."

"You couldn't write it, either," said the Manicure Lady. "What are you trying to get at—that Mayme is dumb? I hope you don't get no notion like that in your little head, George."

"I didn't say that," said the Head Barber. "She couldn't be dumb and be your sister. Anybody in this shop would know you wasn't dumb if they waited a minute any time of the day. If you could work as good as you could, talk you'd get a raise every week."

"Yes," admitted the Manicure Lady, "I always prided myself on my powers of expression. If Wilfred could write like I talk he'd get independent. I wish I was independent."

"If you was any more independent, Kid," said the Head Barber, "I'd be working for you."

Many Attend Funeral of Mrs. J. F. Stout Sunday

Funeral services for Lida M. Stout, wife of John F. Stout, were held at the home Sunday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Young, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, of which she was a member, conducted the services. He spoke appreciatively of her Christian activities and especially of her services as director and treasurer of the Young Women's Christian association and as president of the Ladies' Aid society of that church. The church choir sang her favorite hymn, "Crossing the Bar."

The body was taken to her old home at Cambridge, O., this morning for interment. The body was accompanied by her husband and daughter, Miss Gertrude, and her sister, Miss Nan Stitt. They will be met at Cambridge by her son, Robert J. Stout, formerly with the Commerce National bank of New York, but now in the officers' training camp at Plattsburg.

Announcing Our

Fall Exhibit

TUESDAY EVENING
8 to 9:30 O'Clock

September Eighteenth, Nineteen Seventeen

In announcing the date set aside for the formal exhibit of the authentic fashions for fall, as gathered by this store for your approval and inspection, please accept this printed message as our personal invitation to you to visit our store on this important fashion occasion.

In view of the scarcity of goods and the general tendency toward higher costs, we have through painstaking care and through the exercising of unusual efforts, secured merchandise of a distinctive character designed upon the accepted mode of fashion yet within price limits—so as to maintain the value-giving standard set by this store. By assembling these superior stocks for fall, we feel we have scored a distinct achievement.

That this Exhibit will be an occasion decidedly interesting and will prove of great value to you in determining your fall purchases, you will at once agree. And so we again extend you a very cordial invitation to visit our store Tuesday evening between 8 and 9:30 p. m. and view at your leisure, the specially arranged displays and the collection of fall wearables gathered for the sole purpose of meeting, fully and completely, your preferences.

In departing from the usual custom of holding this event in the afternoon, it is with the view of making it more convenient for the Housewife, the man in the family, the children, the business woman and the school teacher to attend.

Another Great Mountain Range Conquered by Electricity

The mighty Rockies, the Belts and the Bitter Roots have bowed their lofty heads before the onward progress of man. The limitless energy of their tumbling cataracts has been harnessed to furnish power for the giant electric locomotives which haul the heavy steel trains of the "Milwaukee Road" across their rugged slopes.

And now another great mountain range—the snow-capped Cascades in Washington has felt the hand of the conqueror. The work of electrifying the 211 miles of line through this range is well under way.

Mountain travel is given a new charm—no smudge of smoke paints its black line across snow-clad vistas—travel is clean, smooth, silent.

When next you journey to Butte, Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and other Pacific Northwest cities travel the electric way—via the
