CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS. Government's Prediction of Widespread

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Dread of crop injury by frost led to a sharp advance today in the corn market. Prices finished 2%c to 3%c net higher at $1.18% to $1.18%. The close in provisions ranged from 10@15c close in provisions ranged from 10@15c decline to a rise of 7c.

The frost bogey ruled the corn market almost from the outset. Prices began to jump as soon as the government forecast was out showing that frost was probable tonight in North Dakota. There had previously been unofficial predictions of a general frost between September 10 and 20. As the widespread but mild frost last week had been correctly prophesied magnitudes. had been correctly prophesied misgivings that damage might this time be in store took possersion of the majority of dealers and for the rest of the day the bulls did and for the rest of the day the bulls did about as they pleased with values. Resumption of work at two big Illinois plants grinding a total of 45,000 bushels of corn a day, tended further to lift prices, but was only a minor factor compared with the prospect that killing low temperatures might spread throughout the chief producing states.

Oats as well as corn felt the bullish effect of probable unnettled weather. Shipping and elevator concerns were conspicuous buyers influenced to some extent apparently by a falling off in receipts at Chicago.

The selling movement appeared to have been checked for the time, but toward the been checked for the time, but toward the close pressure was again exerted. In some cases further declines were recorded, al-though the list in general held up fairly well. Total sales were 655,000 shares. In the course of the decline a number of stocks reached new low points for the move-ment and in the cases. stocks reached new low points for the move-ment and in the cases of a few industrials the setback was severe. Some of the stand-ard investment issues developed heaviness, but for the most part those stocks were fairly steady and bear traders found that their best eZerts were less productive than heretofore in bringing on liquidation. Al-though there was no indication of an awak-ening demand or of any consequential im-provement in the markets position, the in-creased resistance to pressure by the list as a whole was a source of uneasiness to

The whole market apparently represented mothing more than alternating phases of a highly professional market, signifying no change in the bearish sentiment of the street. There was one favorable development, however, which was an influential factor in recovery of stocks. It was a decidedly casier tone in mony with call funds loaning under 3 per cent. Announcement also was made that a considerable amount of time money had been put out in connection with the efforts of the newly organized committee to supervise and control the New
