Some Sidelights on Omaha's Invasion of the Twin Cities

By FRID S. HUNTER. The manager of the victorious Wilcox Trux answers to the name of Shrimp. It's his last name and said to be bona-fide, too. All of which goes to prove a name has no significance.

The banquet for the Omaha athletes at the Minneapolis Athletic club wound up at 9:55. And promptly at 10 p. m. Minneapolis ceases to be an oasis owing to a safety commission which recently moved the clock up an hour. Thus three disappointed scribes, who had early in the day made the acquaintance of an affable and skillful bar-tending person, wrapped themselves in a shroud and crawled into the hay only to discover the next day that St. Paul heads not the safety commission's stake by having learned of the tea cup trick from a knowing Omahan early in the game. More mourning.

Omaha tobacco dealers will suffer from the Minneapolis journey. The athletes discovered that the well known and popular Camel still sells for a dime in the twin cities. In Omaha, the tax is 15 cents. So almost every athlete on the trip loaded up his grip with a dozen or so packages of the dream sticks thus saving a jitney on each pack.

Johnson, hurler for the Lake Athletics, it was learned after the game, is the crack pitcher of Minneapolis and has been signed by the Minneapolis American Association club. No wonder the Murphys couldn't connect. Duvall, who first sacked for the Wall for Trux, was formerly with the Cantillon club before he turned "amateur" again.

"Kid" Delaware, the demon Armour scorekeeper, blew into Minneapolis with a pair of white shoes and five minutes after his arrival offered to swap 'em for an overcoat.

The Wilcox Trux were given the shock of their lives Sunday night. They felt pretty good after their victory over the Armour, but they no sooner landed down town than they were informed the Lincoln team had walloped St. Paul, 5 to 0, and that Dusty Miller, the Link hurler, had fanned eighteen men and permitted two hits. The Links play the Wilcox Trux today and, if the Trux have the old buck nose as badly as they had it Sunday night when they heard the bad news, the game is Lincoln's already.

"Chick" McLaughlin, formerly United States commissioner in Omaha, but now almost a lieutenant in Uncle Sam's army, took a day off from Fort Snelling and occupied a seat on the Murphy bench during the game as the guest of Bert Murphy. Mike Cantillon, in whose park the game was played, tried to chase Bert and Chick off the bench, but Bert's blarney was too swift for him.

Johnny and Carl Anderson, shortstop and rightfielder, respectively, for the Wilcox Trux, were members of the General Electric team which played in Omaha a year ago.

Earl North, who came to Omaha last year with the General Electric, was at the depot to meet the Gate City invaders. North still remembers the time he had in Omaha last year and did his best to return the courtesy.

Clayton and rightfielder, respectively, for the Wilcox Trux, were members of the General Electric team which played in Omaha a year ago.

Recreation Department Needs More Money Before Fall Opening

The municipal recreation department owes $325 in salaries to employees and has no money to pay them. According to figures compiled by Commissioner Hummel, the recreation department needs $4,609 to pull through the year.

Hummel and the recreation board were given $20,000 with which to run the department this year, $10,000 less than last year. The $20,000 already has all been spent and if there is to be any more municipal recreation, money must be provided.

Nine community centers are scheduled to open this fall, but they will be delayed until after the first of the year unless funds are obtained. Funds also are needed for skating inspectors. This last Hummel regards as important because of the necessity of inspectors in making skating safe on the municipal ponds and lakes.

If the $4,609 is not forthcoming, the recreation department must suspend operations immediately, as it will be unable even to pay salaries of employees. Three hundred and twenty-five dollars is now due employees and there is no money in the treasury to pay them.

Hummel's worries are not confined to the recreation department, as he needs more money to continue activities in the park department. Park, Kugel and Jardine also are in need of funds.

The shortages in funds were due to come before the city council this morning, but Commissioner Withnell and Mayor Dahlman were absent, so on motion of Hummel, the matter was laid over until a full council is present.

HALLER ANSWERS ATTACKS UPON HIM

University Regent Declares He is Strong in His Support of the Government in the Present War. F. L. Haller, member of the board of regents of the University of Nebraska, has given out this statement as his answer to attacks that have been made on his Americanism:

"Not in answer to attacks made on me, but because I feel it due the citizens of this state who made me regent of the university, I deny that either before we entered the war or after have I in thought, word or deed been disloyal to the United States.

"I will not concede to any man, whether native-born, as I am, or foreign-born, a higher standard of Americanism than mine. I am doing all I can and will continue to do all I can to uphold the administration and the government of the United States, to which I yield absolute loyalty and allegiance.

"This is no time for dissension among well wishers of our country. I consider it the duty of every citizen to render that service for which he is best fitted. While I refuse to advertise what I have done to help along the Red Cross, the Liberty-bond and other war campaigns, I may with propriety say that it has been my business for more than a quarter of a century to promote the yield and conserve the agricultural products of the state of Nebraska and it is a matter of public record that as soon as war was declared, without waiting to be called, I began my active service along these lines and shall continue the same so long as the war may last, alike indifferent to praise or blame."

Dr. Manning Issues Rules To Govern Public Schools. Dr. E. T. Manning, director of health supervision for the city schools has made the following regulations regarding health:

"Now that the health cards have been distributed through the schools the principals are requested to make an earnest effort to stimulate a little closer co-operation of the teacher with the department of health. It is absolutely impossible for the nurses to inspect all pupils daily and it is suggested that the teacher make a routine inspection each morning for the most obvious symptoms of contagion.

"In any case if symptoms are noticed the child should be sent home at once and the nurse should be notified on her next visit to the school."

"Should the child return to school on the day the nurse is not present the principal will use her own judgment in admitting him.

"Children having had any of the following diseases may be admitted back to school only by the board of health certificates: Small pox, scarlet fever, diphtheria, cerebrospinal meningitis and poliomyelitis.

"Absentees on account of any other illness may be admitted according to the judgment of the nurse or in case of her absence the principal will decide as to the disposal of the case.

"Principals are directed to send any child home who, in the judgment of the nurse, should not be in school.

LAW WILL STOP CHILD MURDER TRIAL

County Attorney Says Protest of Bee is Right, and Youth Will Not Face Criminal Trial. Little Concetto Circo, 12-year-old Italian lad, will not undergo a jury trial for the killing of his playmate, Earl Cunningham, two weeks ago. The law contains no provision for the trial by jury of a boy under 16 years of age.

Following The Bee's protest against the outrage of subjecting a 12-year-old lad who, in a boyhood quarrel, stabbed a companion to death, to the stia of a criminal court trial before the gaze of curious hundreds and bickering of fee-hungry lawyers, citizens are up in arms and are appealing to authorities to stop the farce begun in the name of justice.

County Attorney Magney, too, is strongly against allowing young Circo to be tried by a jury.

"The Bee is right," declared the county attorney. "The lad should not be tried by jury for the death of his companion. Personally, I am not in favor of any such plan and if I have my way he will never come to trial.

"The only part the county attorney's office played in the arraignment of young Circo was the drawing up of a complaint under orders by Judge Sears, who presided in juvenile court when the lad's parents, friends and attorneys demanded a jury trial.

Judge Sears Orders Complaint. "The attorneys made a motion asking trial by jury. Judge Sears sustained the motion and ordered the county attorney's office to draw up a complaint charging manslaughter. That's all we had to do with the matter.

"The law is plain. The boy cannot be confined in jail of a penitentiary. Nor does the statute say a boy of Circo's age may be tried by jury the same as a grown person.

"If I had my way young Circo would be given a hearing in juvenile court and then either sent to Kearney industrial school for a term, to River-view detention home or given his freedom. One of those three things should be done—and nothing else."

County Attorney Magney said he was going to take the case up with Judge Sears in an attempt to forestall any trial by jury.

The Circo boy was released from River-view detention home today after $5,000 bond had been furnished by friends of the family on the South Side. The boy had been in the home since juvenile court authorities took him into custody. Accompanied by his mother and several friends young Circo went to his home on the South Side.

I'm so happy to be home again with my mother," said the little Italian lad.

No Preliminary Examination. The manslaughter complaint was drawn up in County Attorney Magney's office and then sent down to juvenile court. Probation Officer Miller signed it and sent it down to police station by Deputy Vosburgh. The document was not legal then, for Miller had neglected to swear to his signature in court.

The probation officer's name was scratched out at police station and Sergeant Wilson swore to and signed the complaint. There has been no preliminary hearing nor has the lad been bound over to district court.

Will Lock Up Jury in Pitloun Murder Case. At the request of attorneys for the defense in the John Pitloun murder case in district court, Judge Sears ordered that the jurors be locked up during the remainder of the trial. Attorneys on both sides agreed at the start of the trial that jurors be allowed their freedom.
