THE BEE: OMAHA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1917.

THE OMAHA BEE DAILY (MORNING) - EVENING - SUNDAY FOUNDED BY EDWARD ROSEWATER VICTOR ROSEWATER, EDITOR THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY, PROPRIETOR Entered at Omaha postoffice as second-class matter. Are. SUBSCRIPT: By Carrier. per month, 656 - 400 - 400 - 200 - 200 Ey Mail Per year, $6.00 - 4.00 - 4.00 - 5.00 - 5.00 TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Associated Press, of which The Bee is a member, is exclusively led to the use for republication of all news credited to it or otherwise predited in this paper and also the local news pub-d herein All rights of republication of our special dispatches also reserved. REMITTANCE draft, express or postal order. Only I-cent stamps taken in of small accounts. Personal check, except on Omaha and OFFICES Chicago-People's Gas Building New York-256 Fifth Ave. St. Louis-New B'k of Commerce Washington-725 16th St., N. W The Bee Huliding. aha-4827 S. 24th St. Ruffs-14 N. Main St. Little Building.

CORRESPONDENCE ddress communications relating to news and editorial matter maha Dee, Editorial Department.

AUGUST CIRCULATION 59,011 Daily-Sunday, 51,912 average circulation for the month subscribed and sworn to by Dwight Williams, Circulation Manager.

Subscribers leaving the city chould have The Bee mailed to them. Address changed as often as requested.

The early hunter rarely misses bringing down the fine.

Pulling down "easy money" by the bootleg route evidently falls painfully below expectations.

It is clearly demonstrated that the proverbial German efficiency never touched German diplomacy.

The doom of autocracy is sounded with reassuring vigor. Haiti unsheaths the sword and is out to get the junker goat.

Here's hoping none of our city commissioners will so far forget the rules of safety first as to get in the way of a coal truck.

But the advice to the householder to save coal by avoiding overheating the home, violently presupposes that he has the coal to waste.

Frank Vanderlip goes into government service at the princely salary of $1 a year. The high cost of living has no terrors for some people.

Still, the fact remains that enemy sympathizers, dissatisfied with things, have the privilege of moving on. The speed limit might even be suspended on request.

It is inferred from the count's reference in the $50,000 draft "as on former occasions" that the German embassy's nether limbs responded nobly to numerous pulls.

Congress rightly and emphatically laughed to scorn the suggestion that it could be influenced for $50,000. Congress has its faults, but being a piker is not one of them.

"We did not will the war," says the kaiser. So that little conference hurriedly called at Pots- the end that cost may be reduced and money saved dam, July 5, 1914, was nothing more than a for the consumers. Various items that enter into schoonerfest. Ach, Wilhelm!

Haig's Campaign Shows Results.

The p-sistence with which Field Marshal Haig has hammered the right wing of the Hindenburg line is beginning to have its effect. In a news report from London comes information that the kaiser has sent a supplemental reply to the pope's note, agreeing to negotiate peace on the basis of the evacuation of Belgium, stipulating only that Germany be left free to work out its economic enterprises in Belgium, preferably at Antwerp. Whether this proposal is formally laid before the allies by the pope, or not, the British thrust is surely weakening the hold of the kaiser's army on western Belgium and Flanders, and another enforced retirement by the enemy in that region is not out of the question. The new bargain offered by the German emperor is not more acceptable than his other suggestions, for it would leave him in possession by conquest of something to which he has no other claim, and therefore contains the germ of future controversy.

Scrutinize All Expenditures. Senator Martin, in reporting and advocating the passage of the deficiency appropriation bill carrying eight billions of dollars, put himself on record as favoring closer scrutiny of all war expenditures hereafter. The senator is right. Congress has been pouring out money on requisition from the departments at an inconceivable rate, the absolute unreadiness of the nation requiring that the president be given unlimited power and money to repair the neglect. This phase of preparation has nearly passed and for the future less of urgency appears. Appropriations have been made within the last few months to cover the cost of work that should have been spread over the last twenty years. With this out of the way, no harm can follow inspection of department estimates for the future. Americans have pledged all their resources to the war, but expect that it is to be conducted with eyes open and a full knowledge of what is going on. The remarks of the chairman of the senate's finance committee are a strong argument for the budget plan of making appropriations.

Vanderlip as a Volunteer.

Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank of New York, America's largest financial institution, has resigned his place to devote his services to war work, without pay. His act is noteworthy only as an indication of the American spirit. Defamers of our nation at home and abroad have shouted, "This is a rich man's war." and have pleaded with the workers of the nation to give it no support. Here is another conclusive answer to this charge. It is only one of many such examples.) The best of our citizenry is devoting its efforts to the preservation of free government and battling for democracy, while slackers skulk and maintain a fire in the rear. Frank A. Vanderlip is no better American than the boy who enlists in the ranks, but either is immeasurably above the pacifist who conceals himself behind the miserable assertion that the purpose of this war is to make only profits for the wealthy.

Retailers on a War Basis.

Many suggestions have been made lately for plans to put retail business on a war basis, to the cost of doing business have been gone over thoroughly to determine on which a saving might be effected and some well-digested ideas are now coming forth. Chicago dealers offer a set of rules calculated to secure economy and directly benefit their patrons. One object to be gained besides lowering the cost is to prevent hoarding. Much of the scarcity of food during recent months has been attributable to storage by consumers of large quantities of supplies in excess of normal needs and anticipation of a further rise in prices. Dealers will try to discourage this practice by making it plain no saving can be effected thereby. Two price schedules will be maintained, one for cash and carry-it-home, the other for credit and delivery. In this way the cash customer who takes his purchase with him will have the benefit of the lower price and not be called upon to carry any part of the expense incident to the cost of delivery and extension of credit to the other fellow, who will bear his own burden. Such

Washington's Boom

By Fre enc J. Haskin .

Washington, Sept. 24 .- In this city, which has ilways been spoken of as having "no business," there is a single concern which has over a thousand visitors a day and every one of them must prove the importance of his business before he is admitted. This firm has contracts to let which will mount into billions and it is backed by a bank which has a large percontage of all the gold in the world.

The firm referred to is the War department of the United States government and its backing bank is the treasury. Of course, these two have always been among the greatest business concerns in the world, but not until the United States declared war on Germany did their importance as such become apparent to the nation. Now they are the center of a business and social boom in Washington such as never before was seen.

Every room in every Washington hotel is booked for weeks ahead and boarding houses do a rush business in the overflow. The wide streets of Washington for the first time in their historyexcept for special occasions like the inauguration -are busy and even crowded. Retail stores are breaking all their previous records and real estate dealers rub their eyes and wonder if it isn't all a dream. For Washington, the city of empty houses, will soon have to hang out a sign, "nothing for rent."

Hotel people and real estate men have estimated that there are 100,000 more people in the District of Columbia than there were a year ago and there is reason to believe that this estimate is conservative. But the numbers of these visitors is not half so important as their wealth. The Council of National Defense, for example, has a thousand members, nearly all of whom are now resident in Washington. Their aggregate wealth is said to be over $2,000,000,000, while their aggregate social importance is staggering, even to this city of the great, the near-great and the would-be-great.

The food administration, the Red Cross and numbers of lesser organizations rival the Council of National Defense in the numbers of impor-tant visitors and residents they have brought to Washington. The town is literally crowded with millionaires. But Washington's boom, while filling the city's coffers to brimming over with gold. has scarcely disturbed the elegant-almost supercilious-character of the city's life. For the thou-sands who have come probably do not include more than a few hundred working men. The government has added about 20,000 clerks to its force and the great new departments such as the food administration and the Council of National Defense have probably added half as many more. The local Young Women's Christian association has been busy taking care of girls who have flocked here at the government bid of $85 to $100 a month for stenographers. Thousands of ambitious young men have come to seek government jobs, as a stepping stone to something better or a means of education.

Quite different are the manifestations of Washington's prosperity. There are more great motor cars; the F street parade in the afternoon is dressier and more crowded than ever; hotel lobbies swarm and millionaire bread lines wait at the doors of the dining rooms. Great mansions in the northwest section that have long been empty are taken again, at impressive rents. This section, in fact, is a veritable millionaire colony, with liveried servants, limousines, $1,000 dogs and an air of dignified seclusion and with a foreign war mission, full of European and oriental nobility, on every corner. Washington is looking forward to a social season this winter which for cosmopoli tanism, brilliance and wealth represented-and spent-will exceed anything in its history.

H. E. Byram, who today becomes president of the Chicago, Milwaukee

St. Paul railway in succession to A Earling, who has been named chairman of the board of directors, is a notable example of the man who has risen to the highest position in the railroad world after starting at the foot of the ladder. Mr. Byram was born in Galesburg, Ill., in 1865. At the age of 16 he began his career as an office boy in the service of the Burlington road in his native town. few years later he was transferred to the general offices in Chicago, where he was employed as a clerk and ste-nographer. His first position of importance came to him in 1898, when he was made assistant general superintendent of the Montana Central railway. For some time he occupied responsible positions in the service of the Rock Ilsand system. Then he returned to the Burlington, of which company he eventually became vice president

One Year Ago Today in the War. French made gains north and south the Somme. Roumanians defeated Austrians in northern Transylvania.

Serbians repelled severe Bulgarian assaults at the Serbian frontier.

In Omaha Thirty Years Ago Today.

sus takers, it is expected that there will be about 7,000 souls accredited to South Omaha this year. Some of the merchants have been and meatless days, I just simply wish

According to the returns of the cenoffered in payment for goods a number of lend dollars, which conveys the impression that several workers of the "queer" have been plying their voca-tion in this neighborhood.

E. Brandeis of the Fair has left for New York to purchase the entire stock of a New York jobbing house.

James A. Rankin, late superintendent of the gas works, was presented by the employes through the foreman, Mr. Quinn, with a massive gold chain.

L. Harris received a present at 2 o'clock in the morning in the shape of a bouncing girl baby.

Charles Miles was tendered a sur-prise at his residence, Eighteenth street and St. Mary's avenue, at which the beauty and gallantry of Omaha were represented by the following young people: Misses Annie McAn-drew, Minnie Flannery, Katie Nichelson, Katle Cosgrave, Kittle Purcell, Nora Gouly, Maggie Dolan, Sophia Fol-hoff, Sarah Flannery, Mollie Darling, Ethel Gordon, Ida Livingston, Sadie Revere, May Addison; Messrs. John. Cosgrove, William Ormsby, G. E. Cutts, T. J. Ormsby, W. .G. Drake, S. G. Fletcher, H. Blackman, J. H. Jenkins, Dave McAlvey, J. C. Quiggle, G. Matt-son, L. S. Murray, P. H. McAndrew, John Burdish, J. P. Connolly. an autocrat, of greater and more abso

This Day in History.

1722-Hugh Drysdale became governor of Virginia.

1777-Fifth continental congress met at Lancaster, Pa. 1787—The revised constitution of crats" are selected by the people with a very definite knowledge as to their policies and their capabilities. the United States was submitted to Where Does the Money Go?

York, Neb., Sept. 26 .-- To the Editor The Bee: There are a few things that the members of the Grand Army of the Republic do not know. One of the most important at this time is: Why do the members who go to the reunion at Vicksburg have to pay $5.75 out of their own pockets when the last legislature appropriated $20,000 for the purpose of paying the transportation for all who might wish to go?

The committee in charge of the dis-tribution was allowed $500 for its labor, printing, postage, etc. At this time it reports 583 who have certified their intention of going. With the $20,000 appropriated and $5.75 added for each one of the 583 members who are to go we have the action sum of $23,352.25, or $40 for each "He telephoned to fourtoen friends and twelve of them sent him the coin."-Pittsmember. The transportation from Lincoln or burgh Post. Omaha to Vicksburg is $30 for the round trip and 583 members at $30

High Price for Meat.

quote the receipts of cattle alone record being $54 cars. I do not refer last three weeks has simply been overlooked and has not impressed any very time a tip should be given them. To think of selling liver at 20 cents per pound when a short time ago it was thrown in free. Common steaks selling at 28 to 30 cents per pound is simply outrageous with grass cattle on the block. Instead of meatless days we should have "cheatless days," as, viewing this matter from any stand-point, it is nothing short of robbery, and if this matter is not regulated and handled in a different manner soon

it will invite a revolution that will require a standing army to quell. People will not starve in a land of plenty.

and this problem will be solved in the

Ideal Democracy Temporary

Autocracy.

Omaha, Sept. 25.-To the Editor of The Bee: I am proud of the wailings and criticisms by internal and external enemies of this country of ours to the effect that our president is a czar lute power than any European ruler Americans delight in selecting the right man for the higher position and in giving him full rein and absolute authority to go ahead and do thing.s

We are seldom fooled. Our "auto near future one way or another. JAMES, HALE.

this record in a boastful manner, to each would be $17,490. The difference in the amount of "He can't seem to realize that "He can't seem to realize that "He can't seem to realize that money appropriated and asked from City Journal. "He can't seem to realize that he can't "A this war with a resolution."-Kansar Will some member of the committee

Will some member of the continued "I bought a book house of someone who knows let the old to make a fortune." veterans who expected to go and can- "Yes, and I thought you were going the $5.75 demanded know ahead now. Why don't you whirl in and "I bought a book illustrating 300 ways veterans who expected to go and can-not pay the $5.75 demanded know what is to be done with the $4,862.25. B. A. WARD. B. A. WARD. B. A. WARD.

She-Don't you think you ought at least to make enough money to support me? He-It wouldn't make any difference: even then I couldn't support you.-Life. Omaha, Sept. 24 .- To the Editor of The Bee: Talk about wheatless days

Holding up an expensive-looking vase, the suctioneer said. "Give me a start." "Five cents." came a voice from the rowd.

on the South Omaha market for yes-terday, Monday—950 cars of cattle, es-timated at 24,000 head. This estab-lishes a new cattle record, the previous "What!" exclaimed the auctioneer, and the vase almost dropped from his hands. "I thought that would give him a start." muttered the bidder as he quickly faded away.—Boston Transcript.

but the point I wish to emphasize is that in the face of these enormous re-Jones-Don't you think our chauffeurs should drive ambulances at the front? Smith-No, they have the training for something a good deal more deadly.celpts our local markets or our meat venders have not dropped on the true conditions and the 8 and 10 per cent drop on grassers as butcher stuff in the Judge

Patience-How many times did he kiss perceptibly that the dear public needs any change, waiting, of course, for Mr Hoover to notify them. I think it high Patrice-Oh. I don't know. "Didn't you count them?" "Oh. my, ne! I was too busy!"-Tonker's Statesmen.

1000 Rooms 700 with Bath

A cuisine which has made the Astor New York's leading Banqueting place. Single Room, without bath, $2.50 and $3.00 Double $3.50 and $4.00 Single Rooms, with bath, $3.50 to $6.00 $4.50 to $7.00 Double Parlor, Bedroom and bath, $10.00 to $14.00

Times Square

Old Gentiemnn-Boys, be caraful you don't pick toadstools instead of mushrooms. They are very easily confused. Spokesboy-Don't worry, mister. We ain't goin' to eat 'em ourselves; we're goin' to sell 'em.-Boston Transcript.

Bill-And don't you thing the old-time pirate ships were more decent than the submarines of today?

Jill-Why, of course. The old-time pirate ships were on the level.-Yonkers Statesman. "Vaudeville is getting more sophisticated all the time." "What now?" "A difficult juggling turn used to travel "A difficult juggling but now it's no good on its own merits, but now it's no good unless performed on roller skates."-Louis-ville Courter-Journal.

Ye Fair Knitter-Isn't it dreadful. They say the war may last three years longer! Ye Unfair Knocker-Possibly that wil give you time to finish one of those socks you are knitting for the soldiers.-Life.

"I hear Flubdub was arrested and held or $10 collaterial." "Yes, he made money out of that transfor $10 "How's that?" "He telephoned

"What's the matter with Senator Wom-

The American Bankers' association lauds thrift as a war winner. Within certain limitations. Some of our present troubles spring from an excess of thrift in too many quarters.

The kaiser's lofty professions of peace and morality would command more than passing attention if his works squared with his words. Men and governments alike are judged by their works.

If there are any friends of the kaiser left in this country duty requires that Potsdam be advised of the offensive activity of the American congress in passing unanimously a war bill of $11,000,000,000.

Silver's upward flight cheers the diggings and amazes its enemies. The sacred ratio of 16 to 1 is only three points off and the going is good. Prospects are good for an early debut in eastern financial society.

Omaha and Douglas county tax payers have spent enough money on road improvements in the past to make a real highway out of every main artery of traffic. Our constantly bad roads are only indisputable proof of waste of money.

A St. Louis professor gravely announces that the law of gravitation is no law at all. In many quarters like certainty prevails that the law of supply and demand is a dead letter. Two venrrated standbys, like international law, fatten the scrap heap of war.

Chicago's ingratitude passeth mortal understanding. Scarcely had Mayor Thompson penned a proclamation of sizzling patriotism ere the political philistines jumped upon his business manager and hauled him before a grand jury. The injured soul of Big Bill rightly murmurs: "What's the use?"

Some very interesting statistics have been compiled by the Pennsylvania railroad as the result of an investigation to ascertain to what extent the employes of that system who are of foreign birth subscribed to the first Liberty loan. They show that out of a total of 160,127 employes on the lines east of Pittsburgh 25,827 were born in foreign countries. Of these foreign-born employes 8,146, or about 32 per cent, subscribed to the war loan. This proportion was within 2 per cent as great as that among the American-born employes. Besides the native-born American, there are men of forty-two different nationalities employed by the Pennsylvania and members of thirty of these were included among the buyers of Liberty bonds.

The percentage of bond buyers among the men of the various nationalities was: Italian, 32 per cent; Irish, 43 per cent; English, 36 per cent; Rus-sian and Polish, 36 per cent; Austro-Hungarian, 27 per cent, and German, 32 per cent. The thrift of the Scotchmen was aptly illustrated in the fig-ures. Out of a total of 247 Sotchmen employed 155, or 65 per cent, invested in war bonds. The Canadians did nearly as well, since 59 per cent of them bought bonds. Two Japanese and two Chinese were in the service, but none of them in-vested in bonds. The forumes thus compiled have more than a

The figures thus compiled have more than a passing interest. They show that the men of foreign birth who are enjoying the benefits of this foreign birth who are enjoying the benents of this government are, as a rule, as ready as native-born Americans to give of their savings to the support of the government. They teach a lesson of loy-alty and frugality that is encouraging. The for-eigner who comes to this country to hnd freedom and opportunity and who is willing to lend to the government in time of stress is a good citi-zen. He is the type of immigrant which AmerFarmers' Unions and Politics.

rules, if enforced, might lead up to a general reform that will greatly modify business methods and costs.

In 1914 Nebraska had 274 organizations of farmers, co-operative or joint stock, 160 of which reported to the United States Department of Agriculture a total volume of business exceeding twenty millions of dollars. If those not reporting reached the average of those that did make returns the business done by the farmers in their own name amounted to over $34,250,000 for that year. What it has been for the last three years can only be conjectured, but it certainly has been much larger.

History is repeating, however, and attempts are being made to get the Farmers' Union and Society of Equity to unite with the Nonpartisan League and go into politics. Experience should warn the successful farmers' organizations against this. Associations designed to accomplish economic-purposes cannot succeed through political methods; at least they never have. Forty-five years ago the National Grange assumed to become a power in politics and did gain local successes, but its decline was as rapid as its rise. The Knights of Labor flourished as a labor organization, but decayed and died when it entered the political field, and the Farmers' Alliance went the same way. These are but modern instances along the path.

Honest and sincere men in such organizations fall easy victims to self-seekers; political hacks, discarded by parties, get control and the usefulness of the economic body is destroyed to form a machine to foist incompetents onto the public as officials. The experience of North Dakota is only a continuation of a series of experiments, all of which have failed. Farmers should apply to their own affairs the lesson they helped teach the railroads and similar corporations. Laws should be made for all the people and not for a class, no matter how important it may be economically. If the Farmers' Union has any legitimate end it can serve it better by keeping out of politics. It would be very unwise to jeopardize a business of thirty-five or more millions annually just to elect a farmers' legislature.

The appointment of Joseph F. Guffey of Pittsburgh, an oil producer, as supervisor of government oil purchases, doubtless will recall to "Brother Charley" memories of the Denver convention of 1908. The son of a father rudely tossed over the political transom as a democratic pariah presses to the front as a potential factor in war while the master hand of that famous coup plucks paragraphs in the shadows of Fairview.

This boom in the capital is the more welcome and the more striking because for a long time before war was declared Washington was particularly dull. Indeed, it had never been particularly brisk. For a long time after it was officially founded everyone of importance lived in Georgetown and it was only after many years that Washington became in any true sense the home of the government. Even then, despite the growth of the government and the tremendous purchasing power it represented, the city remained little more than a site for government buildings and a home for those who worked in them. In the last few decades the brilliance of Washington official sqciety has attracted some wealthy men from the north and the west, but the government itself never before seemed to draw any but officials and office seekers.

So business was always rather slow. In 1915 according to a report of the commissioners, Wash-ington had over 6,000 vacant dwellings and stores out of its 70,000 structures and that was in Feb ruary, when the social season was at its height and congress in session. With all of the congressmen gone and also everyone else who had money enough to escape the heat, Washington was indeed a quiet place that summer. Its streets were filled with sunshine and emptiness; its hotel lobbies were silent as cathedrals.

The change which less than two years have wrought is almost unbelievable. But Washington business men, after blinking once or twice in amazement, are now up and at it. They are making money while they can, but they are also con-fident that Washington has entered upon a new era of social and financial importance. The war has been for Washington one gigantic advertise-ment and in this country advertising never fails.

Fire-in-the-Rear Patriots Boston Transcript

Jeremiah O'Leary, head of the "American Truth society" (which ought to be called the Ger-man Lies society), wrote to Bernard H. Ridder editor of the New Yorker Staats Zeitung, under cattor of the New Yorker Staats Zeitung, under date of August 9, urging him to "take heart" and "come out and fight—don't quit." "We are lead-ing the way for you," he said, referring to his own wretched paper, "Bull," which has since been righteously suppressed. "Fight for your German language," he implores Ridder, "do what the French are doing in Canada." Through a long letter, of which the postmaster general publong letter, of which the postmaster general publishes a photographic copy in his proceedings against the publication called "Bull," under the provisions of the espionage law, O'Leary indicates that his only thought and motive is to resist the United States government in all it does to prosecute this war.

It is to be hoped that Ridder himself gave this letter to the government-though, if he did so, he has taken a little too much time about it. The position of some of the German language papers has been morally creditable when compared wth the operations of Irish extremists of the O'Leary type. After all, the German editors are mostly Germans. They have, at least, the excuse that the country whose cause, against America, they are openly or covertly fighting for, was their original country. The Irish extremists have no such excuse. They have taken up Germany's cause entirely out of hatred for England, which country America is now allied. It is hate England first, and support America last-or never. "Bull" was perfectly willing to get the Steats Zeitung into all sorts of trouble by stimulating it to disloyalty, while saving its own precious neck if it could. Its particular form of operations up to the date of this letter had lain in making vicious attacks on loval German-Americans, That was a most mischievous and detestable way of fighting America.

As a pendent to this wretched O'Leary business, read the message of Bernstorff to his government, sent in January last, which the State department makes public today. "I request authority to pay up to $50,000 in order, as on former occasions, to influence congress through the organization you know of, which can prevent war; in the above circumstances a public official declaration in favor of Ireland is highly desirable. in order to gain the support of Irish influence here." In view of this, can anyone doubt the treasonable part which certain organizations have appetite with the price of food so played in doing Germany's work in this country? high."-Indianapolis News.

ss and signed.

1809-Raphael , Semmes, famous confederate naval commander, born in Died in Charles county, Maryland. Mobile, Ala., Aug. 30, 1877. 1813-General William Henry Harrison with 2,500 Americans invaded Canada from Detroit. 1817—Thomas H. Benton and Charles Lucas fought a second duel at St. Louis, in which Lucas was mortally wounded. 1889-Cheyenne was selected as the state capital of Wyoming.

1892-William E. Russell, democrat, was nominated for governor of Massachusetts.

1914-Russians occupied Uzsok pass, leading through the Carpathians into Hungary.

1915-Italian infantry made gains on the Carso plateau near the Adriatic sea.

The Day We Celebrate.

Postmäster Charles E. Fanning hails from Washington, D. C., and is celebrating his sixty-fourth birthday today.

He used to be a paving contractor. Rear Admiral Robert S. Griffin, en-gineer-in-chief of the United States navy, born at Fredericksburg, Va., sixty years ago today. Major General Francis H. French commanding Camp Jackson at Colum-bia, S. C., born in Indiana sixty years ago today. Louis F. Swift, president of the great packing firm of Swift & Co., born at Sagamore, Mass., fifty-six years ago to-

Martin H. Glynn, former governor of New York, born at Kinderhook, N. Y., forty-six years ago today.

Henry Phipps, eminent capitalist, steel manufacturer and philanthropist, born in Philadelphia seventy-eight years ago today. H. Douglass Baird, infielder of the St. Louis National league base ball team, born at St. Charles, Mo., twen-

State Bar association is to open a Kansas City today for a three-day ses-

Representative Jeanette Rankin of Montana is to speak on suffrage and labor problems at a meeting to be held tonight in Madison Square Garden, New York, under the auspices of the Humanitarian Cult.

An informal congress and reunion of American and Canadian engineers of Norwegian birth or descent is to Liberty loan committee, of which Mrs. W. G. McAdoo, wife of the secre-tary of the treasury, is the official head. a two-day conference will meet in Washington today to plan a campaign to enlist every woman in the United States in the second Liberty loan cam-third annual convention of the American Bankers' association, meeting in Atlantic City today, will be featured by addresses on the war and its financ-ing by Secretary of the Treasury Mc-Adoo, Lord Northcliffe and George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chi-Storyette of the Day.

Miss Edna G. Henry, social service worker, tells a story of the unusual ailment of a negro woman who once met in a local hospital. The woman, one of unusually large proportions, was seated on a frail little bench outside her ward and her face bore only too plainly the marks of evident dis tress

"What's the matter?" she was asked.

"Law, Miss, the doctor didn't leave me any medicine." was the reply. "Didn't leave you any medicine?"

"Well, yes; but I want some for my appetite. 'Isn't your appetite all right?"

"Law, yes," came the answer. "It's too good. I want some medicine to cut it down. I can't afford such an now pretty well hat they and we want them to do it, quickly, unhampered and unrestrained.

-the center of New York's social and business activities. In close proximity to all railway terminals. Our "autocrats," when big enough to reach the presidential chair, are big enough and broad enough to do the right thing for you and for me with-out having to know every reason and petty detail. "Our autocrat" will soon step down into the citizen ranks and another will take his place. He may have made mistakes, but you or I would have made ten to his one. Rest assured that he has made none intentionally. neither has he been guilty of low-down trickery or deceit. He is just like you or I would be, only bigger, broader and more capable. He knows the dignity and honor of the position and has always before him the knowledge that every act will be written into history and will have to bear the scrutiny of this and all succeeding generations.

He who fails or declines to back and support our president in his negotia-tions or contentions with any foreign A Heavy, Viscous, Filtered Motor nation should properly be put where he can do no harm or else shipped out The L. V. Micholas Oil Company of the country. This whether alien, naturalized or native-born. GEORGE H. LEE.

Now the boat,

A few months ago the American Bible society sent to Panama a power boat, the Goodwill, for the use of its new Bible house

there in supplying Bibles to the vessels that mounting a gun, is in the government patro

Too Much Meat Bad

For the Kidneys

Most of us eat more meat than our systems require. It creates uric acid, overworks and weakens the kidneys and brings on attacks of back-diet a bit and assist the kidneys with

Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands praise

Doan's for quick, satisfactory results.

Another Omaha Case

Chas. Fulling, 2455. S. Fifteenth St., says: "I was lame and sore across my back and hips. I had awful pains through my loins when I bent over or got up after sitting down a while. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Schnefer's Drug Store and they cured me of the attack."

AN'S KIDNEY

ache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and a dull, drowsy, tired or nervous condition. If you are in this run-down state, lighten the pass through the canal.

service.

When a large flag was lowered from the flagpole of a school in Dodge City, Kan., it was found that the wind had whipped it into a braid so tightly that it was almost im-possible to unbraid it. GRAIN EXCHANGE BLDG.

For Knight Motors

55c Per Gallon

hing substantial, drink

"It Satisfies"

An appropriate refreshment, agreeable and appetizing with meals, the ideal drink for the home.

Served wherever invigorat-ing and refreshing drinks are sold. Delivered at your home in the case.

> Stors Beverage & Ice Co.

| 60¢ at all Drug Stores Roster-Milburn Co. MigOhem Butfalo, NY. | Charles and the second se |
|--|--|
| | FORMATION BUREAU |
| Enclosed find a 2-cent stamp, entirely free, a copy of "Storing Veg | for which you will please send me, retables." |
| Name | |
| Street Address | |
| City | State |

...

meet in Chicago today under the aus-pices of the Chicago Norske club. Under the auspices of the woman's paign The opening sessions of the forty-ty-six years ago today. Timely Jottings and Reminders. The annual meeting of the Missouri

