Bruce Tells How Kelly Jury Stood; No Faith in Confession

Red Oak, Ia., Sept. 29.—(Special Telegram.)—Henry Bruce, foreman of the Kelly trial jury, today returned from Council Bluffs, where he went yesterday, with C. I. Miller and Oscar Rice of the defense committee, in an effort to obtain Kelly's release bond.

Bruce tells an interesting story of the proceedings in the jury room. "We took the first ballot within an hour after we first entered the room, and that vote stood eleven to one," he said.

"It was evident then that W. C. Brown was the minority member. We of the eleven believed Kelly could not have left the home of Rev. Mr. Ewing that night and entered the Moore home with an ax and lamp without disturbing either Mr. or Mrs. Moore.

"Remember, the alleged confession stated that Kelly killed the children first. We did not give the confession any weight. Brown, when we would discuss the case with him, always came back to the confession, which he relied upon. He maintained that Kelly was insane at the time of the ax murders, but sane when he made the Logan confession. Brown further contended that Kelly in his confession related details of the crime and therefore could remember."

WATTLES WANTS LIVE STOCK MEN TO HELP WIN WAR

Requests Commission Men to Suspend the Recent Increase They Made in Charges.

The live stock commission men on the Omaha market were asked this morning by State Food Administrator Wattles to suspend the recent increase in commissions charged for selling live stock. Mr. Wattles made this request in a speech made to the members of the Live Stock exchange in the Exchange building on the South Side at 10 o'clock. He said he hoped his appeal would not be in vain.

He declared that the increase in commissions charged for marketing live stock would only tend to retard the development of larger herds, and held that the increase in the herds is what is wanted at this time to help the food supply along.

Commission Men Grumble.

There was a good deal of grumbling by the commission men on the side lines, because they say their commissions are proportionately far lower than those of the grain men.

"While the grain men are getting 2 per cent for handling grain here, grumbled one commission man to another, "we are getting less than one-half per cent for handling live stock, and look at the work we have to do and the force of yardmen and salesmen we have to maintain.

"A load of hogs which brings $3,000 at present prices yields the commission man between $12 and $15 in commission."

Talking on the increase in commissions, Mr. Wattles said in part: "The increase in commissions put into effect September 12, 1917, on the South Omaha market amounts approximately to 25 per cent on cattle, 33-1/3 per cent on calves, 44 per cent on hogs and 50 per cent on sheep. Taking as a basis the receipts for last year at this market, this increase of commissions will amount to $48,917.80 during the coming year. If other exchanges throughout the United States should follow the example of this exchange and put like

ITALIANS GAIN IN SUDDEN RUSH ON SAN GABRIEL

World in Dark Regarding Operations on Franco-Belgian Front; Bomb Austrian Naval Base.

(By Associated Press.)

At a late hour the ban on press dispatches from the Franco-Belgian front apparently had not been raised and the world was left to guess the reason for it.

Field Marshal Haig's report in the forenoon was of routine character, merely announcing reciprocal artillery fire.

The Berlin statement was similarly unilluminating. From the French front violent artillery action was reported east of the Meuse in the Verdun region.

Gain on San Gabriele.

The official statement from Rome shows General Cadorna giving his infantry rein again, with the result that an important gain was effected in the Monte San Gabriele region, northeast of Gorizia. A surprise attack carried out with complete success, gave the Italians a line reified to their advantage between Sella Di Dol and the northern slopes of Monte San Gabriele, 224 prisoners and a few machine guns being captured in the operation. The new line was solidly maintained against several Austrian counter attacks.

Bomb Submarine Base.

The Italian air operation's were again of importance, the airmen once more sweeping over the Austrian naval base at Pola, where the arsenal and submarine base were bombed by a big squadron. Austrian military establishments in the Carso zone were also successfully attacked.

How heavy the fighting on the British front in Flanders and northern France during September, despite the absence of attacks on a large

Washington, Sept. 29.—A communication from the governor of Minnesota and the state public safety commission requesting the expulsion from the senate of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin was presented in the senate today by Senator Kellogg of Minnesota and referred by Vice President Marshall to the senate privileges and elections committee.

Senator Kellogg received the communication which was adopted by the Minnesota state commission as the result of Senator La Follette's recent speech at St. Paul. Before presenting it to the senate he conferred with Vice President Marshall, Senator Martin of Virginia, democratic leader, and Senator Pomeroy of Ohio, chairman of the committee to which it was referred. Any further action will first come from the committee.

Senator La Follette was not in the chamber when the communication was presented and there was no discussion or other action.

The hour had scarcely passed when the folks, big and little, began surging carnival-ward and the gates began to click with the music that the king and the board of governors like to hear.

It promises to be the biggest day the carnival has seen for a long time.

Kilties Band Arrives.

The Kilties band added its volume of music to the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities for the first time. The bagpipers began their melodious whine early in the morning when the kilted and bare-kneed Scots began parading the down town districts. They played on the court house steps, at newspaper offices, hotels and other places.

The Kilties band men have spent months at the trenches in France. There they gained the name from the Germans of "the ladies from hell," because of their apparent disregard of shot and shell. They will be the guest of Ak-Sar-Ben for a week. Their primary reason for coming to Omaha is to help the work of the British recruiting mission.

M'ADOO APPEALS FOR BUYERS OF LIBERTY BONDS

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo yesterday wired the Liberty loan committee in Omaha an appeal to patriotic Americans for the second Liberty loan, as follows:

"For the purpose of equipping with arms, clothing and food our gallant soldiers who have been called to the field; maintaining our navy and our valiant tars upon the high seas; providing the necessary means to pay the wages of our soldiers and sailors, and, if the bill now pending in the congress passes, the monthly allowances for the support of their dependent families and to supply them with life insurance; constructing a great fleet of merchant vessels to maintain the link of communications with our brave troops in France, and to keep our commerce afloat upon the high seas in defiance of the German kaiser and his submarines; creating a great fleet of aeroplanes, which will give complete supremacy in the air to the United States and the brave nations fighting with us against the German military menace, and for other necessary war purposes, the congress of the United States has authorized the secretary of the treasury to sell to the American people, bonds of the United States bearing 4 per cent interest, with valuable tax exemptions and convertible under certain conditions, into other issues of United States bonds that may be authorized by the congress. The official circular of the Treasury department gives full details. There is now offered to the American people a new issue of $3,000,000,000 of bonds to be known as the Second Liberty loan. They will be issued in such denominations and upon such terms that every patriotic citizen will have an opportunity to assist the government by lending his money upon the security of a United States government bond. It is essential to the success of the war and to the support of our gallant troops that these loans shall not only be subscribed, but oversubscribed. Mother Charges "Big Gus" With Arresting Boys for Licking Son

A general laugh at the expense of Probation Officer Miller was created in juvenile court Saturday morning when Mrs. Cora Hawkins, 4727 North Twenty-sixth avenue, whose two sons were in court on a charge of incorrigibility and truancy, told Judge Leslie "Big Gus" had had them picked up because one of the lads had "licked" the officer's own son.

When the boys were arraigned Probation Officer Miller recommended they be sent to the state in-

Provisional Government Determined to Carry the War Through to a Finish Despite Opposition of Working Men's Council to Prevent Reorganization of Army for Active Offense.

OLD KING AK HAS THE CHILDREN AS HONORED GUESTS

Great Crowds Throng Carnival Grounds and Subjects from All Quivers Come During This Week.

Saturday was another big day in the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities. The weather man came through with a fine brand of weather and crowds of folks from Omaha and many other places surged to the downtown district and to the carnival grounds, which this year are twice as big and busy as ever before.

It was children's day at the carnival. Of course, this does not mean that it wasn't grownups day, too. But, for the benefit of the kiddies, the prices were cut in half and a nickel did the work of a dime. The youngsters were there in full force. They came early and stayed late, not missing anything. Some of them even brought their lunches, so as to make the nickel paid for admission do all-day duty.

Try to Sneak Over Fence.

Sergeant Murphy discovered three youngsters, evidently filled with the spirit of conservation, climbing over the south fence early in the day. One of them landed inside, but the other two were led by the sergeant to the gate where they paid their nickels and went in to join their more fortunate comrade.

The Kilties band arrived in the city early yesterday and soon the streets were reverberating to the melodious whine of the bagpipes. This band comes here for the twofold purpose of adding to the gaiety of carnival week and of helping out the British recruiting mission. The members have been in France for months, where their indifference to shell and shot earned for them the title, "the laddies from hell," bestowed by the Germans on the men in short kilts. The band will be here for a week, the guests of the Ak-Sar-Ben management.

ACCEPTS CHALLENGE.

He told the congress that his regime had saved Russia in its darkest hours.

The government also indicated its policy of a firm continuation of the war when General Verkhovsky, minister of war, pledged the convention to a final victory over Germany if discipline in the army was restored. The general's reference to the return of discipline and his announcement that the officers would be named by their superiors instead of elected by the soldiers was applauded only mildly, but his address as a whole evoked more cheers than did the premier's.

Prevented Revolt.

M. Kerensky in his speech referred to the revolt of General Korniloff and declared: "I prevented it. I destroyed it. I was informed from the beginning of its existence."

When the premier declared that the good of Russia necessitated the observance of order and discipline one of the most dramatic heckling incidents which punctuated the address occurred. He had reached a pause in his address when a loud voice in the gallery shouted:

"You are the great mischief worker of the country!"

From a bedlam of hisses and applause voices from the floor challenged the heckler to rise. A common soldier in the back gallery arose and with arms folded across his brown blouse stood calmly facing a torrent of abuses from the supporters of Kerensky. This was only one of the unusual scenes.

The convention was an unusual sight, the somber colors of the clothes of peasants, workmen and private soldiers predominating. Here and there were the brighter colors of the uniforms of officers. The galleries were jammed with a variegated crowd of spectators who considered it their right to interrupt the proceedings with questions.

There was an air of tense excitement as a result of rumors that the agitator, Lenin, was in Petrograd and would attend the convention. This died down, however, when he failed to appear.

The applause which greeted Premier Kerensky indicated that he had a small minority with him. The socialists supporting him contend that he had a majority of the convention. The government ministers had a meeting late tonight to discuss the effect of his appearance, but none of the ministers would talk.

Crisis Today.

A crisis probably will come today, when the work of preliminary organization has been completed and the radical left presents its extremist program. The Bolsheviks and the conservatives alike will make an effort
