

SOCIETY

Maid to Ak-Sar-Ben Queen--Maybe the Queen Among Them

Florence Rahm

Virginia Offutt

Dorothy Meyers

Marion Coad

Hildegard Todd

Ruth Kusler

Helen Eastman

Hazel Updike

Florence Neville

Esther Wilhelm

◆◆ Eleanor Austin ◆◆ Henrietta McNetter
PHOTOS BY THE HEYN STUDIO

Coronation Ball of Ak-Sar-Ben Biggest Social Event of the Year

SOCIAL events in Omaha date "before and after the ball"—the brilliant coronation of King Ak-Sar-Ben XXIII and his royal consort. "Who are the king and queen?" is the question in every loyal subject's mind, but the secret is deep in the bosoms of Quivera's council, the Ak-Sar-Ben board of governors, and Samson, lord high chamberlain, and none of these will tell.

Princesses of the court have already been named and maids of honor from neighboring kingdoms, beautiful young attendants whose photographs The Bee pictures in this section. The pages to both his majesty and her majesty Samson announces this morning, the crown bearers to be chosen from among the pages.

Everett Buckingham of the ball committee personally extended an invitation to Mrs. Keith Neville, wife of the governor of Nebraska, to attend the coronation event. A box seating eight guests will be placed at the command of the first lady of the state and a party of Lincoln friends who will accompany her. Governor Neville is in Washington on official business. A cousin of the governor, Miss Florence Neville, is one of the princesses of the court.

Already many visitors are flocking to Quivera's capital, Omaha, for the many Ak-Sar-Ben festivities. From east and west, north and south, they come, and a royal welcome is extended to them all.

Ak-Sar-Ben Visitors.
Mrs. B. B. Baker of Berkeley, Cal. is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Pearsall. Mrs. Baker will be one of the out-of-town guests at the wedding of Miss Marion Pearsall and Mr. Emerson Goodrich.

Mrs. Vine Galer of Seattle arrived last week to visit her sisters, the Misses Sharp. This is Mrs. Galer's

(Continued on Page Two, Column One.)