Mrs. Learned Exhibits Art Works. Mrs. Myron L. Learned, song writer and author of the nature nasque, "The Spirit of Walden Nood," which was produced for the Red Cross society in June, assumes a new role-that of an art exhibitor when she sponsors the local showing of Walter Hale's water colors, original drawings, etchings and war lithographs October 9 to 18 at the Darling galleries. The proceeds of the exhibit go to the war relief gauze fund and Mrs. Learned has arranged for tea to be served each afternoon at 4

Others are just as certain that one of two other popular young women is the choice for queen. One is slight and dark, the other is fair.

Heard at Depot as Drafted Men Go to Camp Funston

The delegation from the First district has its own base ball battery along. "Jim" Spellman and "Pete" McGuire expect to play ball and show the Funstonites a thing or two. Spellman formerly played for Milwaukee, in the American association and McGuire played with the Rourkes. Both looked fine and fit and were enjoying the prospect of the stay in Fort Funston.

Frank Arndt, the "millionaire kid" Omaha, went along with the rest of the men from the First district. Arndt not long ago inherited a fortune. Now Welcome Winter

W HO wouldn't be glad to bear the wintry blast when warmth and charm can be so perfectly combined as they are in this coat of French serge banded with Hudson seal? The only divergence from the straight lines on which advocates of slenderizing still insist is the jaunty flare of cuffs and collars and the easy fullness given by the broad box-plaiting of cloth and fur in the skirt section of the coat. The jaunty hat which tops the outfit must have fallen in love with a fox cap, for the little visor of black velvet banded with cut steel flowers pokes out from under the vermillion top with a completly military air.

Private Secretary Will Accompany Military Governor With Commission of Captain.

Colonel Keith Neville yesterday announced the appointment of his private secretary, Lee Metcalf, as regimental adjutant of the "Lucky Seventh." This appointment carries with it the commission of captain of the headquarters company.

He announced that active recruiting for this regiment would continue until all companies were up to the authorized strength. The privilege of recruiting the band will be given to Omaha and several musicians of note have expressed a desire to organize this company. It is planned to start the class of 1916, will sail for France recruiting immediately.

The appointment of Metcalf does not come as a surprise to those closely in touch with the governor's military aspirations. When he was mentioned Six hundred men on the way to national training camps passed through Omaha at noon. These men of the selective draft are on their way to Camp Funston from out in at that time to wait and that they would both go together.

Soliloquy of Modern Eve

Our women on the battlefield would mean ruin to the American home

By ADELAIDE KENNERLY.

In Russia there is a command of death. Women have gone forth to battle under conditions which are hardly bearable for men.

Exciting, isn't it, to see women dressed in uniform, shouldering guns and marching forth to kill? Grand thing to talk about; good thing for those narrow-brains who have always felt that if women wanted political or economic rights they should go to war. Senator Elihu Root returned to America with praise on his lips for Russian women; for their courage, for their valor, for their dauntlessness. He says it is a cheering sight. He believes now just a little bit in womanhoo! for purposes other than to propagate the race and to cook the toast and coffeethat is, Russian women. He pre-dicts that in a short while the wo-men of our United States will be joining the recruits and marching away under the Stars and Stripes to foreign shores.

I wonder what such people as Mr. Root think our foe is: Perhaps they see only Germany. If this is the range of their vision, God forgive them, for they are blind. Germans guns are but a small part of the foe that women will face on the battlefield. Keen as we feel about the German enemy, Germany isn't half as dangerous to our nation's welfare as would be the entrance of women into the great conflict. Where would our country be with the women in the field? Even though a few women might survive the hardships, where would our future generations come from? Take the women from the homes and there are no homes. Take the women from our country and we have no country. A spot of land means nothing. A country in name only is a mockery.

America is dear to us so long as it is peopled with those we love.

Advice to Lovelorn By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Quite Proper.

Dear Miss Fairfax: While at college I became acquainted with a young man whom I consider a good friend. He is in United States service and is to have a short furlough. He passes through my home town and wishes to stop off to see me. My parents have never met him, but he is of a very well known and respectable family. So under these conditions would it be quite correct for my parents to ask him to remain at our home until the next morning? "GRATEFUL."

It would be quite proper for this young parents. I wonder why my boys and girls do not recognize the fact that what I say to A applies to B and C? It is never improper for young men and women to visit in each other's homes when the invitation Home Sunday Afternoon comes from the parents of the host or hostess.

Do You Love Him?

October 7.

After the service the home will be open for inspection. During the afternoons and evenings of the following Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday there will be receptions to which everybody is invited.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am 18 and a stenographer. My employer is a young man about 28, whom I have grown to love. He expects to be divorced in a few weeks. He calls at my home, but I have refused to be seen on the street with him until he is divorced.

The division of the following and I right? Do you think he will care for me if we marry? He has one little child, and I will be expected to take it as my own.

BLUES.

At least you are on the safe side of gossip when you refuse to be seen publicly with the people of Douglas county, was your employer, who is not yet free, You are built by those who are interested in a bit young to marry and accept the responsibility of bringing up another woman's child. The serious question is this: Are you really in love with the man, or are you planning to marry him because of a worldly feeling that you are "making a good match"? If you are sure of yourself, the fact that he has been divorced and has a child need not at all affect your happiness.

and its future generations, it sinks the dagger into its own heart.

A nation that sends forth its women to war is a degenerating nation. It sends them not merely to face death as the men do, but a fate far worse-capture by the enemy. Russian women know this and they have wisely tucked small vials of cyanide of potassium in their
