New York, Oct. 10.—Cheered on by thousands of loyal rosters, the New York Nationals turned desperately upon the Chicago Americans in the third game of the world's series here this afternoon and shutout their inter-league rivals 2 to 0. It was an entirely different appearing team that faced the White Sox at the Polo grounds. For the first time since the present struggle for titular base ball honors began, the Giants won both victory and the breaks of the game.

PITCHERS' STRUGGLE. As was the case in the first contest in Chicago, the struggle developed into a pitchers' battle, but today it was Eddie Cicotte who was forced to bow before the prowess of the opposing hurler and the sweeping horde of the Giants. Pitted against Rube Benton, the star of the White Sox hurling corps found a rival as skillful as he in delivery, as crafty in generalship and who refused to allow Cicotte's team mates a run to ease the strain.

LAWMAKERS OF STATE DUPED BY FRAU SCHWIMMER

Expose of Methods of Woman Who Spoke to Legislature in Behalf of Peace Made by Writer in New York.

Lincoln, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Members of the 1915 legislature and many others will remember an address delivered to a joint session of the legislature by Mme. Rosika Schwimmer in behalf of peace. At the time of the event some of the members objected to the time being taken up by her while others fell into the scheme heartily. The records show that Senator Quinby of Douglas made the motion in the senate for a joint session on February 24, while Taylor of Custer in the house moved to leave the matter to the committee on resolutions which ruled in favor of the speech.

Today State Auditor Smith obtained a copy of the New York Herald which contains an interesting copyrighted article by Herman Bernstein that asserts Mme. Schwimmer was acting as one of Count von Bernstorff's secret agents to educate the people of the United States against war with Germany. The incident also shows how easy it is to get a Nebraska legislature to listen to most anybody who wants to talk. The article reads in part as follows: "One of the chief offenders, according to the charges made by witnesses now in Russia, was Colonel Vladimir Nekrasoff, a member of the Russian commission, who returned to Russia some time ago. Nekrasoff lived at the Belleville hotel here and occupied two other apartments in New York. One of the witnesses testified that one of these apartments was kept in the name of Rosika Schwimmer, where Colonel Nekrasoff and Count von Bernstorff, then German ambassador to the United States, met several times.

Pull Corks of Two Suspicious Bottles Right in Open Court

Nebraska is supposed to be a "dry" state. Yet the following scene was witnessed by a reporter, right in the federal court room Wednesday morning. Assistant United States Attorney Saxton produced two bottles of gin. He brought them out right in sight of twelve good men and true who were acting as jurors, and right in sight of Federal Judge Woodrugh. Mr. Saxton tried to pull the corks of the bottles. He couldn't get them out. "Wait! Let Anton get a cork screw," said Judge Woodrugh. So Anton Gross, the bailiff, hurried out of the room and soon returned with a corkscrew. He declined to state from whom he got it. "Pop! Pop!" Two separate and distinct pops rang out as Anton skillfully
