THE MERIT OF VIRGINIA HOG REMEDY TO BE DEMONSTRATED TO GOVERNMENT

COMPETITIVE TEST PLANNED UNDER SUPERVISION OF EXPERTS, AT WHICH TIME SUPERIORITIES OF ANTI-CHOLERIC WILL BE CLEARLY DEMONSTRATED, CLAIM VIRGINIANS

MINOR TESTS NOT CONCLUSIVE AND PERMISSION REFUSED REPRESENTATIVES TO PARTICIPATE IN THEM.

"TOO MANY OWE LIVELIHOOD TO SERUM" THEY SAY

We are soon to make an exhaustive, thorough and conclusive demonstration of the merits of Anti-Choleric Hog Remedy under the supervision of experts of the Department of Agriculture at Washington," says P. B. Gravely, who is at present in Nebraska introducing this remarkable Virginian Hog Remedy, "and if the test is staged as suggested and all methods and remedies participate, including serum, the results will conclusively prove which is the surest, best and most economical method of cholera prevention and cure," continued Mr.

"Many tests, perhaps prejudiced, are constantly being made and personally I would like to participate in them all. The following wire received in answer to my request for permission to assist gentlemen of Ames, Ia., however, tells the viewpoint of our home office: "Cannot grant permission. Test would not be conclusive. Real tests strations conducted now are only to convince skepties as we know Anti-Choleric to be everything claimed. "We have interested officials, Department Agriculture, Washington, and opportunity for real test in competition with all other methods will

by parties in no way interested in serum welcomed, though demon-demonstrate its superiorities. "Minor tests of subordinates, local or state, carry too little weight nationally, so do not lend assistance or donate time or remedy for such purposes. Government bulletins issued from Washington will keep all hog raisers informed. Meantime continue introductory work. Hog raisers are our final jury. We cannot ward off all attacks from parties making or interested in serum. There are too many who owe their livelihood

ANTI-CHOLERIC STOCK REMEDY CORP."

We are striving for national distribution so that by quantity production the cost of Anti-Choleric may be lowered for our own Virginia Hog raisers. Needless expense in tests and expenditures are discouraged, because our folks down in Virginia use lots of Anti-Choleric, not only to prevent cholera, but to stimulate growth and appetite, and as a blood remedy. Sick hogs are treated with it and used regularly this way about twice a week, the price, even at one hundred doses for a dollar, costs a dollar per year per hog and we want to cut that down.

We never anticipated the deep-rooted prejudice we have discovered here in Nebraska, nor the antagonistic attitude of many who supposedly are striving as we are for better stock raising conditions. To convince all, the home office has planned on one grand test, which will forever set at rest the fears of skeptics. In war times such plans are necessarily slow, but the above telegram shows we are going about this "proof business in the usual big way,

We have arranged for the sale of Anti-Choleric Hog Remedy in at least one drug store in nearly every town in Nebraska and the glowing reports of results convinces us our efforts are winning out and if the reader will secure a hundred-dose dollar package, he, too, will be convinced of its value as a preventative, tonic, blood remedy, appetizer and stimulant to growth for hogs. If your store hasn't Anti-Choleric he can get some for you from the official Nebraska distributor for this territory, Beaton Drug Co., Omaha, Neb. Ask him to order a dozen hundred-dose packages or more today.
