

TALENT MOBILIZED FOR SOLDIER SHOWS

Thousands of Entertainers and Equipment of Traveling Chautauquas to Aid Army Y. M. C. A.

The entire organization and equipment of the traveling chautauquas of the country are to furnish entertainment for the soldier boys who are on the way to the trenches.

The Young Men's Christian association has been furnishing frequent and popular entertainment, but there is a demand for what the men term "high-brow stuff"—such as they were accustomed to at home, and the "Y" has arranged to supply it.

To effect it the chautauqua and lyceum movement of the whole country has been mobilized by the National War Work council of the Young Men's Christian association, and tents and other paraphernalia are on the grounds or on the way to cantonments. The Lyceum and Chautauque Managers' association has provided a small army of lecturers, singers and entertainers, the largest single entertainment project ever attempted in this country.

Dime for Dollar Show.

This will not supplant the other forms of entertainment which the Young Men's Christian association has been providing in the various camps, but will supplement the previous work. Everything furnished heretofore has been free and in large part has been produced by home talent—men in the camps. The new features, to be known as "Red Triangle programs," will have the finest talent to be procured and the men will be allowed to share in the expense by paying a nominal admission of 10 cents. Ordinarily these entertainments cost from 50 cents to $1.

Dr. Paul M. Pearson of Swarthmore college, director of the Chautauqua Association of Pennsylvania, has been named as director of the "Red Triangle programs." He will have at his disposal 400 chautauqua tents, seating 2,000 each, with folding chairs, lights and other accessories, and several thousand entertainers.

So far as is possible the entertainments will be held in big auditoriums at the cantonments. Where these are not finished and at National Guard camps and other large camps the tents will be set up and three times a week the men will hear a lecture on "France," "Trench Warfare," "The Mind of Germany" or other enlightening topics by one qualified to talk or perhaps it will be "The Chimes of Normandy," "The Mikado," "The Old Homestead" or other favorites by good companies.

Soldiers Want the Best.

The decision to put on this sort of entertainment was reached after it had been determined that the men wanted to have in the camp the same sort of entertainments as they had been accustomed to attend. The soldiers are just from home, where there were lecture courses, chautauquas, theaters, movies and the like. They will not be satisfied with less than the best. The fee will make it possible, without profit to the Young Men's Christian association, to give a class of entertainments otherwise impossible.

In this way the Young Men's Christian association is seeking to add to the pleasures of the men learning the business of war. There are all sorts of other things (athletics, sports, games, "sings," educational, social and religious meetings, the reading and writing facilities, movies, dramatics and other stunts) to employ idle hands and minds during idle hours, for it is not all drill in camp. It takes a lot of money and men to do all this, but that it is worth while is evident from the expressions of the men themselves. This came from a man "somewhere in France" to his stepfather in New York City:

"They teach us French here, the teacher being a Young Men's Christian association man who three months ago was in Turkey. This Young Men's Christian association camp is O. K. We have stationery, magazines, games, etc., not to overlook phonograph records, church services and the before-mentioned French lessons."

Norfolk Merchant Ordered Interned at Fort Crook

Paul Leutke, a prominent merchant and capitalist of Norfolk, was ordered interned at Fort Crook by order received here from Attorney General Gregory. He was arrested several weeks ago and has been in the Douglas county jail. He is reported to have talked freely in favor of Germany and against the United States. He is the first alien enemy to be interned at Fort Crook. Heretofore alien enemies arrested in Nebraska have been taken to Fort Douglas, Utah.

Junk Dealer Fined For Buying Stolen Property

Fifty dollars and cost for buying stolen property was assessed Henry Weisblatt, junk dealer, in police court. "I hope heavy fines will cause a cessation in the buying of stolen property by junk dealers," said Judge Madden. "If these petty larceny thieves had no place to sell the stuff they would not steal it." The stolen property was a quantity of copper wire belonging to the Union Pacific railroad and was taken by Lon Bone, colored, who received a fine of $25 and costs for the offense.

TROUBLE AHEAD FOR MAIL CLERKS

Letters Carrying Only Two Cents Postage After November 2 Will Not Be Forwarded Until Paid in Full.

Just two weeks of 2-cent postage remain, and Omaha postoffice officials fear confusion and delay of first class mail will result when the new postage rate of 3 cents goes into effect, Friday, November 2.

According to the postal regulations, letters mailed on and after November 2 with only 2 cents postage cannot be forwarded to their destination. They must be held until the full rate has been paid. The greater part of first class letters are mailed without the address of the sender on the envelope. Such letters will have to be opened and, if the address of the sender is not on the inside, they must be sent to the dead letter office.

"It will not be possible to forward letters having the old amount of postage on them," said Assistant Postmaster Woodard. "The regulations require that mail must have one full first class rate of postage prepaid before it can be forwarded."

Cannot Be Forwarded.

If a letter weighs over one ounce and has only 3 cents postage on it, it will be forwarded and postage due collected from the person receiving it. But letters having only 2 cents postage prepaid cannot be forwarded. They will be held until the sender can be notified. If the sender is not known they must go to the dead letter office.

Big signs will be placed in the postoffice corridors, placards at the stamp windows will call attention to the increased postage rate. The officials are preparing to do all they can to notify the public. But there is always a large proportion of forgetful or careless people and it is expected that hundreds of letters will be held at the local postoffice every day because of failure to prepay the postage according to the new rate of 3 cents an ounce.
