(By Associated Press.) A French Port, Qct. 21 .---- Survivors of the United States transport Antilles, which was sunk by a German submarine last week, were landed here today. Some of the men have been lodged in local hotels and a few have left for Paris.

The torpedo struck the ship at a quarter to 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. Many were killed in their berths. The explosion killed the engineers, oilers and mechanics and those of the crew who were in bunks below

All the survivors praise the captain of the Antilles and the members of the gun crew who stuck to their posts until the waves closed over the ship. When the Antilles sank, 40 or 50 nen were at the stern. Most of them leaped 50 feet or more into the sea as the stern rose to a perpendicular position. The sea was running high at the time, making it difficult to save vivors, clinging to debris, were in the water an hour.
