

FIRST MUNY DANCE OPEN TO PUBLIC

City Employees to Serve On Entertainment Committee;
Small Admission Fee For Men.

The first municipal dance at the Auditorium next Monday night will be open to everybody in Omaha, from 18 to 80 years of age.

"It will not be a club affair in any sense of the word, but will be open to all who appreciate having a pleasant time in the right way," explained Mrs. Rose M. Ohaus, superintendent of the Board of Public Welfare.

Mayor Danlman on Thursday morning will recommend to the city council that the Omaha Bohemian orchestra furnish the music, according to a bid which has been received.

Employees of the city hall will serve on a sociability committee and will see that the lonesome James meet the lonesome Toms and Dicks and Harrys. A small admission fee will be charged to the men who attend. Refreshments will be served free to all.

First of Series.

"We expect to have a series of many dances and entertainments at the Auditorium this winter and hope that this first dance will be a success. Our hope is that we may work in some community singing and other features later in the season," stated Mrs. Ohaus.

Mayor and Mrs. Dahlman will attend and probably will dance a few numbers. City Commissioner Hummel hopes to do a little stepping to the music and Commissioner Kugel says he will be there with his "hair in a braid" and his moutache waxed.

John Mathiesen, the octogenarian of the city hall, is practicing the one-step and believes he will show some of the young folks what nimbleness means. He hopes there will be no shadow dances.

Regulate What the Farmer Sells, But Not What He Buys

The American Exchange National Bank of New York has issued a pamphlet containing expressions of opinion on governmental price regulation from every state in the union. The canvass shows that a majority of the reports indicated a sentiment in favor of price regulation for the period of the war. Governmental action was opposed by 33 per cent of the writers.

Nebraska sentiment is indicated by the statement that "the farmer and the stockmen think it is not a fair proposition that the prices of all they raise be subject to regulation, while the price of everything they have to buy is not so regulated."

Lucy M. Talmage is the Omaha representative of the New York bank.

Wentz Extradited; Taken To Portland For Trial

Edwin T. Wentz, Aurora, Neb., charged with defrauding an Oregon lumber company of a sum amounting to several thousand dollars by using an alleged fraudulent option on timber lands, left for Portland today in charge of C. V. Barrett.

Wentz was first arraigned in police court and his bail fixed at $2,000. His attorneys carried the case to a higher court and finally to the supreme court in an effort to quash the charges. Failing in this they appealed to the governor to refuse extradition papers. Governor Neville honored the papers Monday and Wentz will face trial in Portland on indictments returned by the grand jury recently in session there.

Alleged Kidnaping Case Is Dismissed By County

The alleged kidnaping against Sebastiano Vigillita, 1920 South Eleventh street, and the Caniglia family of the same address was dismissed yesterday in police court on motion of the county attorney.

Vigillita was accused by Mrs. Barry Cehler, 1926 South Eleventh street, of abducting her 16-year-old daughter Ellen, now Mrs. Vigillita.

The Canigias were arrested and charged with complicity in the affair.

The arrests were caused by Mrs. Cehler following a flight to Papillion, Neb., and a marriage ceremony performed there by Justice of the Peace Wheat. The evidence was not considered sufficient for a trial.

Slacker, Guilty of Shooting, Is Sentenced to Prison

George Antonowich, draft slacker, who faced a jury in criminal court rather than answer his country's call, was sentenced to from one to 12 years in the penitentiary by Judge Redick. Antonowich was convicted on a charge of shooting with intent to kill.

After shooting Joseph Krizmanic, in a gang fight on the South Side, Antonowich fled. Nothing was heard from him for more than a year. Then he returned to Omaha and gave himself up to police. Federal authorities who trailed Antonowich here explained that the South Side man registered in Pittsburgh, Pa., and fled when his number was called.

Police Arrest Two Alleged Leaders of Gang of Thieves

Bernard Hooker, 23 years old, a bellboy at the Loyal hotel, Sixteenth and Davenport streets, was arrested early Wednesday charged with automobile thefts, and C. L. Barlow, alleged leader of a gang of automobile thieves said to have been operating in Omaha, was arrested at 411 Sixth avenue, Council Bluffs, as the result of a confession said by the police to have been made by Hooker.

Two stolen automobiles have been recovered. They are the machines belonging to J. A. Stein, 3506 Harney street, stolen September 30, and M. R. Armstrong, 244 South Twenty-sixth street, stolen September 19. The automobiles were cached in Council Bluffs.

Patrolmen Peter Jolly and Harry Buford made the arrests. The police believe that in Barlow they have cornered the "brains" of the automobile thieves, but think there are others implicated besides Barlow and Hooker.

Help Potato Crop By Boosting Home Grown Apples

George Munro, federal food regulator, believes that the Nebraska potato transportation problem would in part be solved if dealers would promote sales of Nebraska and Iowa apples in place of the expensive varieties which are hauled from points as far as 3,000 miles.

"In eastern Nebraska and western Iowa we have had an excellent apple crop. This is a great apple district. This fruit is selling for 75 cents per bushel at the orchards," said Mr. Munro. "I can not see the justice of boosting the sale of apples shipped thousands of miles from the west and sold here from $2.25 to $3.50 a bushel, when the potato growers of our state are begging for refrigerator cars in which to send their crop."

Mr. Munro believes it is the patriotic duty of Omaha wholesalers and retailers to take cognizance of this situation by promoting the sale of home-grown apples before they push the varieties shipped 3,000 miles to this market.

Burkenroad Gets Another Stripe; Is Sergeant Now

Mrs. M. Burkenroad, 2060 North Nineteenth street, received a letter Wednesday from Captain C. E. Garrison, Company B, Third Hundred and Forty-first machine gun battalion, informing her of the promotion of her son, Leslie L. Burkenroad, to the rank of sergeant.

Leslie Burkenroad was former Omaha basketball champion. He left for Fort Funston with the second contingent of drafted men, September 19. He was soon promoted to the rank of corporal, and his designation as sergeant was earned by his efficiency, according to the statement of Captain Garrison.
