GEN. WOOD TELLS OMAHANS OF NEED TO SUPPORT ARMY

General Leonard Wood Delivers Speeches in City and Succeeds in Rousing Intense Interest

in Patriotic Theme.

"Is that too much?" asked Mr. Manley.

"Oh, no; it's not too much for the general, but you know he can stand twice as much as any aide he ever had," replied the cuptain.

Major General Wood is known for his ability to undergo all sorts of hard work without showing signs of fatigue.

The party arrived behind schedule in Omaha. It was not the general's fault, because he was not the engineer. He is an epitome of promptness and nothing chafes him more than being late. He can outwalk most of his juniors in the service. From the time he stepped from his car at the railroad station this morning until he departs at 11 o'clock tonight there will not be a dull hour for General Wood.

Has Son in Army.

"I wonder how old General Wood is?" asked one of the Omaha party. "How old did you ask? Don't let the general hear you ask such a question, because he is a young man. He is only 57 years of age and he always declares he is a young man."

His youngest son is 19 years of age and recently won a captaincy, passing one of the highest examinations in a group of 300. The son, however, is too young to take the commission. Major N. C. Shiverick, one of the general's aides, is an Omaha boy. His father was the late C. S. Shiverick, well known here as proprietor of a furniture store and pioneer resident.

Mayor Shiverick was known as "Billy" in his boyhood days here. "I would be pleased to see the forts," remarked General Wood when he was shown to his private break-fast room at the Fontenelle hotel.

Must Face Enemy Now.

"If we hope to have any friends to clasp by the hand after the war we must bare our breasts to the common enemy now," said General Leonard Wood in his address to the Commercial club at the noon luncheon. The dining room was packed and
