Members of Eighth B Class of Park School Make Speeches; Saratoga Pupils Invest Savings.

Members of Julia Newcomb's eighth B class at Park school are delivering short talks on food conservation at their own and other schools. The names of these youthful conservationists, with their topics, follow:

Van Wyck Benner, "Why the Conservation and Additional Production of Food is Necessary in the United States."

Jessie Craig, "Devastated Belgium and Poland."

Helen Ritchie, "Necessary Trade with Neutrals."

William Welpton, "Shortage of Food with Allies."

Herrick Young, "Food Supply for Uncle Sam's Own Boys."

Margaret Brown, "Demands for Our Own Home Consumption."

Virginia Duffield, "Substitutes for What is Sent Away."

Laura Clark, "Which Foods Must Be Sacrificed for Shipping?"

Goldine DeBord, "What May Be Done with Morsels Saved from the Tables?"

Virginia Osterberg, "Observance of Wheatless and Meatless Days."

Phil Redgwick, "Gardens and Care of Fruit-bearing Bushes and Trees."

Marion Hain, "What Congress Has Done to Encourage Conservation."

Thomas McCarl, "What Our Allies Are Doing to Conserve."

Reed Tool, "How Nebraska Has Organized to Conserve."

Marjorie Roberts, "Nebraska Boys and Girls in Line with Pledge to Conserve."

Dwight Toudisa, "Conservation of Food Means More Liberty Loans."

Earl Kuncie, "Fuel Conservation is Important."

Harold Sedgwick, "Reaction of Necessity for Giving and Saving."

The eighth grade of the Saratoga school has not only subscribed for a Liberty bond, but has it all paid for.

For the last week the children have been saving pennies, running errands and selling popcorn to bring in the money. Great interest has been taken in the matter by the district. One father sent in $13 as a contribution from his child and another telephoned he would make up any deficit.

Under direction of Miss Chambers, kindergarten instructor, children of the Saratoga school have brought in 26 pounds of tinfoil, gathered from candy, gum and cigarette wrappings that had been thrown away. These will be sold to smelters for as high as 50 cents a pound and the proceeds given to the Red Cross.

Spiesberger Employees and Firm Have "Tacky" Party

A "tacky party" was given by members and employees of the firm of M. Spiesberger & Sons company at Druid hall Thursday night. "Jake" Spiesberger appeared in whiskers, a "low bridge" derby hat, green stockings, and smoked a large pipe. Charles Henke was strictly "au fait" in a dress suit made of burlap. Ross Clark was a hold-up man.

Mrs. J. Spiesberger wore a peasant costume with hand painted stockings. Ed Treller wore his high hat all evening. Mayer Spiesberger in a green shirt, voluminous trousers and black beard was a sight.

N. A. Spiesberger (himself) was floor manager. Charles Spence, who has worked for the firm forty years, was there. Willie Elias, dressed as a village constable, took first prize for the funniest man's costume and Mrs. Rudy Wolf and Mrs. Hamilton divided the prize for the funniest woman's costume. "Jake" Spiesberger announced that the latter prize was a $2,000 Liberty bond. It looked more like a $2 bill.

Pumpkin pies, cider, doughnuts and sandwiches were served.

Patriotism Prevails In Women's Meetings

A patriotic current runs through every resolution passed by the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs at the closing session of the big convention at the Fontenelle this morning. The women pledged their support to the president, the State Council of Defense, the United States food administration, the war work council of the national Young Women's Christian association, welfare work among soldiers and the extension of patriotic studies in the public schools.

The women expressed themselves strongly in favor of the maintenance of the nine-hour day for women and endorsed efforts to maintain the partial suffrage law on the statute books.

"We will not accept or assist in securing for another any civil service position for the work of which the applicant does not have personal fitness or special training," the women resolved.

Mrs. May D. Field of Lincoln and Miss Fanny De Bow of Coleridge headed the resolutions committee.

Greek Charged With Threat Against Wife Discharged

Arraigned on a charge of threatening the life of his wife, George Kazeros, 1703 Dodge street, a Greek interpreter, was discharged in police court this morning. His wife, Leila Kazeros, is suing him for divorce. She is a barber at 716 North Sixteenth street.

Kazeros testified that his wife and her family were attempting a "frameup" on him. He said his wife had called him to come to her home and asked him to bring a gun with him because she was alone and was afraid. He said he brought no gun with him, but when he arrived at the house the police were called and asked to arrest him on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Food Thieves Held To District Court; Bonds Set At $750

The three youthful grocery store burglars, Gus George, William McKenna, and William Bixler, arrested Monday following a surprise attack while the grocery store of Tom Johnson, Twentieth and Lake streets, was being robbed, were arraigned Friday morning in police court on a burglary charge and waiting preliminary examination were bound over to the district court in bonds of $750 each.

The boys, each of whom is under 21, confessed to participating in a number of automobile thefts, grocery robberies, holdups and tire stealings. George, first of the trio arrested, gave information which led to the arrest of McKenna and Bixler, both of whom had escaped when patrolmen caught the gang looting the Johnson store.

The three young men were recently released from the state reformatory at Kearney, and had been in the city only since the latter part of August, at which time the systematic depredations on grocery stores and meat markets began.

They are confined in separate cells at the city jail and yesterday asked a trusty to carry notes from one cell to the other. The trusty agreed to carry the notes, but instead of delivering them placed them in the hands of Acting Chief of Detectives J. Dunn.

In these notes they are alleged to have cautioned each other to "sit tight" and make no more confessions. Police, however, are collecting evidence against them and say they will have no trouble in connecting them with many of the provision robberies.

REFORMATION TO BE OBSERVED HERE

Lutherans of Synodical Conference to Celebrate Four Hundredth Anniversary at Auditorium Sunday.

Many Lutherans of Greater Omaha will celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of the Protestant Reformation Sunday at a meeting in the Auditorium at which prominent speakers will be present.

The churches arranging this celebration are those belonging to the synodical conference of the Lutheran church, with 800,000 communicant members in the United States.

Other Lutheran churches of Omaha held their celebration early last summer because of the fact that certain speakers could be obtained only at that time. The present celebration will be nearer to the exact date when Martin Luther nailed his famous 95 theses to the door of the castle church in Wittenburg, October 31, 1517.

While the celebration Sunday is arranged by the Lutheran churches of the synodical conference, it will be attended by Lutherans of other conferences and synods and by people of other churches.

The meeting will begin at 2:30 p. m. Representative Lutheran leaders will speak, including Prof. W. H. Dau and Prof. Francis Pieper, both of Concordia seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

Congregational and chorus singing will be a feature of the service. A large attendance is expected.

Keating Convicted On Charge of Stealing Auto

Frank Keating was convicted on a charge of grand larceny by a jury in criminal court. He was accused of stealing an automobile owned by Clark W. Carnaby. Keating's alleged partner, William Walters, will be tried next week.

Walters, according to police, hid in a hay loft on the day he was arrested. When officers entered the barn Walters covered himself with hay and "barked like a dog." When a policeman remarked that he was "going to kill the vicious animal" Walters uncovered himself and surrendered.

Finds Bridegroom O. K.; Gives Consent; Couple Now Wedded

When Charles O. Green, 21 years old, and Lucinda Gilbert, 17 years old, applied to "Cupid" Stubbendorf, clerk of the court, for a marriage license he showed them the following telegram from Miss Gilbert's father, L. C. Gilbert of Topeka:

"21 my daughter and Green want a license, you look Green over. If he is O. K. in your estimation, issue the license. If not, hold the girl until I can get to Omaha."

The court attaché looked the young man over.

"You're a pretty bright-looking young man," he said. "I guess you'll suit your father-in-law."

They were married in county court chambers by Municipal Judge Holmes.

Green and his bride will live at 1812 Dodge street.

A Free War Cook Book

For every woman reader of The Omaha Bee

The food that America saves will go far toward winning the war and saving civilization.

And the women of America control nine-tenths of the consumption of its food.

Therefore, there is a solemn responsibility resting on every American home today.

The woman who plans the meals and buys the food for the mouths that must be fed each day, when she makes those selections scientifically and economically, not only serves her country, but saves for her family.

The War Cook Book for American Women, compiled from official sources by Frederic J. Haskin, and issued by the United States Food Administration, is just from the press and ready for free distribution.

It is a digest of the Hoover doctrine of saving by proper selection and prevention of waste.

Its thirty pages are packed with new recipes, original formulas and suggestions showing every woman how to do her part in the great American campaign to put the Golden Rule above the Iron Law.

Write at once for your copy. Do not delay. Ask for the War Cook Book, enclose a two-cent stamp for return postage, and address
