Washington, Nov. 4.—Beginning tomorrow and continuing through the week, there will be in active swing all over the United States a drive for a fund of $3,750,000 to be raised by the War Camp Community service. Thousands of ministers will preach on the importance to the morale as well as the fighting spirit of the army, of proper community service for the men in uniform. This will open the campaign; then, during the week, through local committees organized everywhere, cities and towns will raise the quota assigned to them of the total amount.

Prices for Hogs Not To Go Below $15, Is Promise of Cotton

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Members of the National Association of Live Stock Exchanges met here today with Joseph P. Cotton, head of the meat division of the national food administration. The subject discussed was the stabilization of production and prices of live stock in connection with Mr. Cotton's ultimate purpose of fixing meat prices for the country.

Mr. Cotton said in a statement that the first step to be taken by the food administration was to stop the sudden break in prices paid for hogs at the central markets and add:

"These prices must become stable, so that the farmer knows where he stands and will feel justified in increasing hogs for next winter. The prices so far as we can affect them will not go below a minimum of about $15 per 100 for the average of the packers' droves on the Chicago market until further notice."

Bellevue College Notes. British Cannon Overcome German Pillbox Defense

Germany was so far gone they couldn't holler 'Kamerad.' Were Deemed Impregnable. The German high command instituted the pill-boxes for two reasons. First, the terrific barrage fire which the British guns of all calibers sent over before an attack rendered even the deepest and most carefully constructed front line trenches untenable.

It was this same jelly-like mud, however, which solved the fate of the German pill-box, even as it was responsible for its institution. Because, in most places, the mud was so soft, and because, in many places, water was only about two and a half feet under the surface, foundations for these concrete structures could only be sunk to a depth of about two feet.

When the "pillbox" was first discovered in the German line of defense east of Ypres I had an interview with a military authority, who informed me that they would be tremendously difficult to overcome. He was frankly pessimistic over the prospects of having to advance through this new form of defensive warfare.

Accurate Gunnery Wins. "You will remember that at the time the 'pillboxes' first made their appearance," he said, "I told you that they represented a very serious obstacle to our advance in Flanders. This seemed so at the time because only a direct hit from a big gun could put them out of business."

Operating, or assisting at the operation of, a machine gun in one of these concrete structures is no secure. German prisoners report that there is the greatest difficulty in finding men to occupy them. In many cases men are literally driven into the "pillboxes" and kept inside by another machine gun trained on the only entrance and exit, which is in the rear.

FOLKS SAID HE WAS LAZY

They Were Wrong He Was Sick

He didn't want to work, it's true—but he was lazy.

Try as he might, he couldn't seem to get under way with the vim and snap of other days. His work was no longer interesting and each day dragged as if it would never end. His appetite was off—nothing tasted real good any more and every meal was followed by more or less distress. Rheumatism and backache were regular visitors, too, and caused considerable suffering. Night found him with a sick headache and a sour stomach.

Folks said he was lazy—but they were wrong. He was constipated. His body was absorbing the poisons, that should have been removed every day; his system was slowly poisoning itself and headed toward a number of serious disorders.

Physicians have treated thousands of cases like this by prescribing old-fashioned salts. These self-same salts have now been combined with certain fruit acids and placed on sale in drug stores under the name of Salinos (Laxative salts).

Salinos is easy to take. Unlike ordinary salts, it actually tastes good, dissolves readily, even in cold water, and gives to it a pleasant flavor.

Gratifying results may be noticed from the first glass you take. A few days' use invariably shows a greatly improved condition. The blood is purer, digestion is better and the general tone of the body rapidly becomes normal. Try this simple, safe preparation and stop suffering. Get a package today from your druggist and try a little in a full glass of cold water tomorrow morning before breakfast. You'll feel better within an hour.

When Itching Stops

There is one safe, dependable treatment that relieves itching torture and skin irritation almost instantly and that cleanses and soothes the skin.

Ask any druggist for a 35c or $1 bottle of zemo and apply it as directed. Soon you will find that irritations, pimples, blackheads, eczema, blotches, ringworm and similar skin troubles will disappear.

A little zemo, the penetrating, satisfying liquid, is all that is needed, for it banishes most skin eruptions and makes the skin soft, smooth and healthy.
