

OMAHA CENTRAL HIGH IN FIRST POSITION

Game With Lincoln to Decide State Title; St. Joe Central High Close Rival for Valley Honors.

Omaha Central High has the only grid team that has not been beaten in the Missouri valley race. St. Joseph Central High is a close second, having been beaten only once and only one point.

Lincoln's Captain Important Man. Lincoln seems to have organized its team around Moore, the captain. A powerful runner and a good kicker, his presence in the line is an absolute essential.

Prospect seems bright for the local eleven, but Lincoln is reported as being able to match the boys from the school on the hill in every particular.

cause of the unfavorable impression that would be made abroad if the current attempt failed to succeed.

"I desire to say," concluded the centrist leader, "that not only are the majority leaders and Chancellor von Hertling in complete working harmony in foreign and domestic issues, but that the pact has the full sanction of the emperor, who has given Count von Hertling a free hand."

The clerical party now has the chancellor and the progressives, in all probability, will be awarded the post of vice chancellor and one other important secretaryship, while the national-liberals will be represented in the vice presidency of the Prussian cabinet.

Socialists Promise Support. Copenhagen, Nov. 6.—An address Sunday at Elbing, West Prussia, Philipp Scheidemann, the German socialist leader, said his party would support the new German government if it kept its promises, including those for equal rights in Prussia, abolition of political censorship and concessions to labor.

Policy in the Far East Settled By Lansing and Ishii

torial propinquity creates special relations between countries, and, consequently, the government of the United States recognizes that Japan has special interests in China, particularly in the part to which her possessions are contiguous.

"The territorial sovereignty of China nevertheless remains unimpaired and the government of the United States has every confidence in the repeated assurances of the imperial Japanese government that, while geographical position gives Japan such special interests, they have no desire to discriminate against the trade of other nations or to disregard the commercial rights heretofore granted by China in treaties with other powers.

"The governments of the United States and Japan deny that they have any purpose to infringe in any way the independence or territorial integrity of China, and they declare, furthermore, that they always adhere to the principle of the so-called 'open door' or equal opportunity for commerce and industry in China.

"Moreover, they naturally declare that they are opposed to the acquisition by any government of any special rights or privileges that would affect the independence or territorial integrity of China or that would deny to the subjects or citizens of any country the full enjoyment of equal opportu-ity in the commerce and industry of China.

"I shall be glad to have your excellency confirm this understanding of the agreement reached by us.

"Accept, excellency, the renewed assurance of my highest consideration.

(Signed) "ROBERT LANSING
His Excellency,
"Viscount Kikujiro Ishii,
"Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of Japan, on Special Mission."

Understanding Reached.
"Washington, Nov. 2, 1917.
"Sir:

"I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of today, communicating to me your understanding of the agreement reached by us in our recent conversations touching the question of mutual interest to our governments relating to the Republic of China.

"I am happy to be able to confirm to you, under authorization of my government, the understanding in question set forth in the following terms:

(Here the special ambassador repeats the language of the agreement as given in Secretary Lansing's note.)

(Signed) K. ISHII,
"Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of Japan on Special Mission."

"Honorable Robert Lansing,
"Secretary of State."
In this statement accompanying the announcement Secretary Lansing said:
"Viscount Ishii and the other Japanese commissioners who are now on their way back to their country have performed a service to the United States as well as to Japan which is of the highest value.

"There had unquestionably been growing up between the peoples of the two countries a feeling of suspicion as to the motives inducing the activities of the other in the far east, a feeling which, if unchecked, promised to develop a serious situation. Rumors and reports of improper intentions were increasing and were more and more believed. Legitimate commercial and industrial enterprises without ulterior motive were presumed to have political significance, with the result that opposition to those enterprises were aroused in the other country."

Germans Spread Lies.
"The attitude of constraint and doubt thus created was fostered and encouraged by the campaign of falsehood which for a long time has been adroitly and secretly carried on by Germans, whose government as part of its foreign policy desired especially to so alienate this country and Japan that it would be at the chosen time no difficult task to cause a rupture of their good relations.

"Unfortunately there were people in both countries, many of whom were entirely honest in their beliefs, who accepted every false rumor as true, and aiding the German propaganda by declaring that their own government should prepare for the conflict, which they asserted was inevitable, that the interest of the two nations in the far east were hostile, and that every activity of the other country in the Pacific had a sinister purpose.

"Fortunately this distrust was not so general in either the United States or Japan as to affect the friendly relations of the two governments, but there is no doubt that the feeling of suspicion was increasing and the untrue reports were receiving more and more credence in spite of the earnest efforts which were made on both sides of the Pacific to counteract a movement which would jeopardize the ancient friendship of the two nations.

Commission Brings Results.
"The visit of Viscount Ishii and his colleagues has accomplished a great change of opinion in this country. By frankly denouncing the evil influences which have been at work by openly proclaiming that the policy of Japan is not one of aggression and by declaring that there is no intention to take advantage commercially or industrially of the special relations to China created by geographical position the representatives of Japan have cleared the diplomatic atmosphere of the suspicions which have been so carefully spread by our enemies and by misguided or overzealous people in both countries. In a few days the propaganda of years has been undone and both nations are now able to see how near they came to being led into the trap which had been skillfully set for them.

"Throughout the conferences which have taken place Viscount Ishii has shown a sincerity and candor which dispelled every doubt as to his purpose and brought the two governments into an attitude of confidence toward each other which made it possible to discuss every question with frankness and cordiality.

"Approaching the subjects in such a spirit and with the honest desire to remove every possible cause of controversy, the negotiations were marked by a sincerity and good will which from the first insured their success.

Agreement Made Possible.
"The principal result of the negotiations was the mutual understanding which was reached as to the principles governing the policies of the two governments in relation to China. This understanding is formally set forth in the notes exchanged and now made public. The statements in the notes require no explanation.

"They not only contain a reaffirmation of the 'open-door' policy, but introduce a principle of non-interference with the sovereignty and territorial integrity of China, which, generally applied, is essential to perpetual international peace as clearly declared by President Wilson, and which is the very foundation also of Pan-Americanism as interpreted by his government.

"The removal of doubts and suspicions and the mutual declaration of the new doctrine as to the far east would be enough to make the visit of the Japanese commission to the United States historic and memorable, but it accomplished a further purpose, which is of special interest to the world at this time, in expressing Japan's earnest desire to co-operate with this country in waging war against the German government.

Both Countries Sincere.
"The discussions, which covered the military, naval and economic activities to be employed with due regard to relative resources and ability showed the same spirit of sincerity and candor which characterized the negotiations resulting in the exchange of notes.

"At the present time it is inexpedient to make public the details of these conversations, but it may be said that this government has been gratified by the assertions of Viscount Ishii and his colleagues that their government desired to do their part in the suppression of Prussian militarism and were eager to co-operate in every practical way to that end.

"It might be added, however, that complete and satisfactory understanding upon the matter of naval co-operation in the Pacific for the purpose of attacking the common enemy against Germany and her allies have been reached between the representative of the imperial Japanese navy, who is attached to the special mission of Japan, and the representative of the United States navy.

Ishii Accomplishes Much.
"It is only just to say that the success which has attended the intercourse of the Japanese commission with American officials and with private persons as well, is due in large measure to the personality of Viscount Ishii, the head of the mission. The natural reserve and hesitation, which are not unusual in negotiations of a delicate nature, disappeared under the influence of his open friendliness, while his frankness won the confidence and good will of all. It is doubtful if a representative of a different temper could in so short a time have done as much as Viscount Ishii to place on a better and firmer basis the relations between the United States and Japan.

"Through him the American people have gained a new and higher conception of the reality of Japan's friendship for the United States, which will be mutually beneficial in the future.

"Viscount Ishii will be remembered in this country as a statesman of high attainments, as a diplomat with a true vision of international affairs and as a genuine and outspoken friend of America."

No American principle has been sacrificed in this agreement, in the opinion of the officials, as the United States government itself in the cases of Mexico, Cuba and other American republics and in the Monroe doctrine itself, has been foremost in the assertion of the doctrine of special privileges by reason of the geographic and economic relations.

Japanese Railways Perfected.
Japanese railway concessions in Manchuria also are regarded as proper objects of special Japanese interest, not to detail largely privately owned Japanese business enterprises in China proper. The vital importance to Japan of the maintenance in China of a strong government capable of affording protection against foreign violence and against the insidious efforts of hostile foreign intrigue for such Japanese interests is freely admitted by American officials, hence the willingness to consummate this agreement.

Though only hinted at in Secretary Lansing's statement, it is known that the Germans had calculated to weaken the American campaign against Germany in Europe by obliging the Washington government to take at home a large section of the United States army and to maintain in Pacific waters a numerous American naval fleet to guard against an invasion from Japan.

Now it is believed that the United States not only can deal with its prosecution of the war with a freer hand, but that Japan will be able greatly to augment the efforts she has been making to sweep the Pacific and Indian oceans clear of German raiders; to aid the allied navies in the Mediterranean and possibly even to employ Japanese troops in the campaign against Germany.

issued statements claiming victory. The fusion party predicted that Mayor John Furroy Mitchell would be re-elected by a plurality of at least 50,000; Tammany hall claimed that County Judge John F. Hylan, democrat, would be elected by 70,000 plurality; the republican nominee, William M. Bennett, the republican nominee, who defeated Mayor Mitchell at the primaries, asserted he would get 275,000 votes and Morris Hillquit, the wealthy candidate of the socialist party, was certain that he would poll 230,000 votes.

Mayor Mitchell, in his final word to the voters, said:
"Today we prove our right to keep the American flag over city hall. Hylan shall not tear it down. Hillquit shall not stain it with surrender."

Judge Hylan reiterated his charges that Mayor Mitchell's backers tried to "steal" the primary and charged that "they are planning to make another attempt in the election booths." Morris Hillquit, who announced that he would not buy Liberty bonds, claimed that the issues were a "humanized city government, the preservation of a democratic institution and an early, rational and durable world peace."

Ex-Senator Bennett said the voters had been aroused by a "culminating of the long series of fraudulent and criminal acts by the Mitchell men."

The police department has applied for hundreds of warrants for false and irregular registration and they have been issued to guard against fraud at the polls.

While the main interest in the election was centered in the mayoralty, the question of granting suffrage to women by amendment to the state constitution attracted unusual attention. The suffragists have made a vigorous state-wide campaign for their cause and are confident of victory. Four women, all socialists, are candidates for seats in the lower house at Albany.

Disorder developed on the east side during the forenoon. A woman urged men in line not to vote and was arrested. Other women interfered and the police reserves were summoned. Three other women were arrested, one charged with assaulting a policeman.

In front of several east side polls a number of women wearing sashes with the caption: "Have mercy on your wife and family. Vote the straight socialist ticket," button-holed the men and asked them to vote for Hillquit. Some of the women carried babies. The police removed them beyond the zones in which the law forbids electioneering.

Pennsylvania.
Philadelphia, Nov. 6.—Pennsylvania has no general election today, but local tickets are being voted for in almost every locality. Interested centers in the contest for county offices in Philadelphia, where the town meeting party, which grew out of a protest by citizens against a political murder in the Fifth ward on primary election day, is making a serious fight against the regular republican ticket for register of wills, city treasurer and receiver of taxes.

New Jersey.
Trenton, N. J., Nov. 6.—Local option is the chief issue in New Jersey's election today. It has not been made a party question, republican and democratic nominees taking a stand for or against it in various localities in accordance with their own and their supporters' views.

Ballots are being cast for eight state senators, the full house of sixty members of the general assembly and, in addition, many counties and towns are holding elections for local officials.

Maryland.
Baltimore, Md., Nov. 6.—Maryland is voting for state comptroller, full house of delegates today. Local officers also are being selected in all of the counties. Weather conditions are ideal.

Massachusetts.
Boston, Mass., Nov. 6.—Perfect weather prevailed for the state election today. Massachusetts voters, besides casting their ballots for governor and other state officers and members of the legislature, had before them three amendments to be submitted to the constitutional convention.

Governor Samuel W. McCall, nominated by the republicans for a third term, is opposed by Frederick W. Mansfield, democrat. There are also prohibition, socialist and socialist-labor tickets in the field. Matthew Hale, a well known progressive, is the nominee of both democrats and prohibitionists for lieutenant governor.

Indianapolis.
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Interest in the municipal election in Indianapolis today has been heightened by the candidacy for mayor of "Lew" Shank, one-time mayor of the city and former vaudeville performer, who, defeated in the republican primary last March, became the candidate of a home rule party. Other mayoralty candidates are Charles W. Jewett, republican, and Dick Miller, democrat. Each of the three parties has nominated a practically complete ticket.
