

H. S. BOYS HAVE TOO MUCH MONEY—M'KEE

Should Not Have Coin to Spend For Theaters or to Take Trip to Lincoln Ball Games.

"You all know that the average high school boy has too much money," said Paul H. McKee, state boys' work secretary of the Young Men's Christian association of Nebraska, in his talk before the Superintendents' and Principals' section of the Nebraska State Teachers' association at the Hotel Rome yesterday.

"The average high school boy here in Omaha, and in many other parts of the state, has money enough in his pocket to go to the theater any time he wants to go, or to go to Lincoln to attend a football game. That is not good for that boy. He has not felt the pinch of sacrifice which he should feel at this time, and which all of us have to feel while the country is engaged in war. The boys must have a share in the present crisis. They must be given a part in the war work campaign."

He advocated that the boys be taught production, sacrifice and living.

Must Find Useful Work.

Under the head of production, he held that the boys must be helped to find useful employment, productive employment of one kind or another during their spare time and during vacations. "A mistaken notion has gone forth that we advocate taking the boys out of school and putting them into productive work on the farms. That is wrong," he said. "We have advocated nothing of the kind. It is hard enough to get boys into high school at all. We do not advocate taking them out. They will need all the brains they can develop there for the great reconstruction to come after the war. But what we do advocate is that their spare time and their vacations be turned to production in any one of the numerous lines."

Time for Sacrifice.

Under the head of sacrifice he advocates that the boys be taught that this is a time of sacrifice and that they cannot have everything they want, that they must save some of their money and devote it to useful service, such as the purchase of Liberty bonds, etc., instead of spending it all on shows, football games and other frivolities.

Under the head of living he urged that the boys be taught right living and right ideals during the susceptible age of the high school years, and especially that these ideals be held up before them in these times when the father or older brother in many cases has gone to war and left the boy without any real steady masculine restraint at home.

President J. A. Woodward of Lincoln, head of the Superintendents' and Principals' association, presided.

Patriotic Mass Meeting Planned for Auditorium

A big patriotic mass meeting is being planned for November 19 at the Auditorium. All patriotic societies will participate, as well as the various organizations of foreign-born citizens of every nationality. The Seventh regiment will attend in formation, and it is expected that detachments of soldiers from Fort Omaha and Fort Crook will be at the meeting. There will be music and short speeches by our best known orators.

The committee of organization has called a conference for Thursday morning at the court house, Memorial hall, at which time arrangements for the mass meeting will be completed. It is expected that representations from at least 40 societies, associations, clubs, etc., will participate in this conference, the plan being to make the event of the 19th the greatest expression of patriotic sentiment since the outbreak of the war.

Congregationalists Delay Construction of New Church

First Congregational church of Omaha has abandoned for the time the proposed new church at Forty-ninth and Dodge streets. Tentative plans had been drawn and a considerable sum subscribed toward the new church.

The first meeting of the Nebraska State Teachers' association was held at Brownville October 16, 1887. Robert W. Furnas was president. Teachers attending this convention and who attended the Brownville meeting 50 years ago are requested to notify the registrar at headquarters, Rome hotel.

Brillhart Has Scheme to Beat Kaiser's U-Boats

Jesse T. Brillhart, employed by the Metropolitan Water board, has applied for patents on a "barage screen or camouflage," which he declares will obscure vessels at sea, making them immune from German U-boats. The invention relates to a defensive screen for sea-going vessels and has for its object to provide a means for obscuring the view of vessels at sea, the element causing obscuration and having the same appearance as the water.

The invention consists of the novel construction, combination and arrangement of parts that would cover an entire vessel. Brillhart resides at 1332 South Twenty-first street.

Dwellers At Colonial Flee From Fire Which Does Little Damage

Fire this morning starting near the elevator shaft created much excitement at the Colonial apartments, Thirty-eighth and Farnam streets, but did little real damage.

At 10 a. m. a dining room girl screamed "Fire!" Miss Hazel Gilbert, telephone operator at the apartments, immediately turned in the alarm to the fire department. Then she threw open every telephone circuit in the building in an effort to arouse every tenant. She was carried fainting from the smoke-filled hall of the building. Mrs. L. A. Burgess, mother of Ward Burgess of the Burgess-Nash company, was ill in an upstairs apartment, and was carried to safety by Lillian Wilkinson, 2633 Patrick avenue, colored maid.

Society women descending shaking ladders, garments flung hastily from upstairs windows and the din and clang of the fire departments added to the excitement and thrilled the spectators.

Mrs. H. Y. Cook, who manages the Colonial, descended to safety with a pair of canary birds. The feathered pets were taken to a nearby garage.

Mrs. Carrier, who dwells on the fourth floor, found the doors on the fire escape on that floor locked when she attempted to escape. She was aided to safety by her sister.

Mesdames M. V. Porter, J. E. Davidson and J. E. Ludlow also made the trip down shaking ladders.

The fire started in the sub-cellar near an elevator shaft.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundown," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and refreshing the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.—Adv.
