

WOMAN'S SECTION OF THE BEE

CONDUCTED BY ADELAIDE KENNERLY, EDITOR AND ELLA FLEISHMAN, ASS'T EDITOR

Society

By MELLIFICIA—Nov. 9.

Omaha women show their individuality in many different ways. One, in particular that I have noticed is the partiality which several prominent social leaders have for a certain flower. Very often when asked what the centerpiece for their luncheon or dinner table will be they reply: "Oh, my favorite flower, of course, I never use any other."

One or two of them, always use the same flower in their corsage bouquets. Mrs. Ward Burgess is seldom seen in the afternoon or evening without a lovely corsage of Mrs. Ward roses. Mrs. Charles Kountze shows her fondness for the delicate pinks and blues of the sweetpea by frequently wearing a fragrant cluster pinned to her furs as she attends to the many matters which make up her busy day. Mrs. Halleck Rose, prominent club woman, also shows her fondness for the old gold shade of the Mrs. Ward roses.

Miss Allen Hostess.

Miss Mable Allen was hostess at a shower and tea at her home in honor of Miss Ruth Slabaugh, who will be a November bride. The shower was probably one of the most unique that has yet been given for this bride-to-be, as the guests were requested to bring cosmetics of all kinds. Twenty guests were present.

White-Luncheon.

An announcement of interest to Omaha friends is that of the marriage of Mrs. Nina Lumm to Mr. Wallace Humphrey White at Patterson, N. J., on November 1. Mrs. White, who is the daughter of Mrs. Dwight Lumbard, formerly of Fremont, will be remembered as an artist of some note, she having had a studio here for some time. Mr. and Mrs. White will make their future home in Washington, D. C.

Y. M. H. A. Dancing Party.

Young Men's Hebrew association and the Young Women's Hebrew association will entertain at a dancing party Sunday evening, November 11, at the club rooms in the Paxton block, Sixteenth and Farnam streets.

Y. W. C. A. Athletic Club.

The Athletic club of the Young Women's Christian association will hold its regular monthly meeting Saturday evening. This meeting is of unusual interest, as reports will be given by Miss Clara M. Brewster, Miss Martha Helms and Miss Nina Williams, delegates from the Athletic club, who have been attending the war workers' council in Des Moines this week. The delegates visited Camp Dodge, the hostess houses, and inspected all forms of war relief work being done at the cantonment.

Comus Club.

Mrs. William Carrabine entertained the Comus club Wednesday afternoon and prizes were won by Mrs. Charles M. Barrie, Mrs. William Carrabine, Mrs. George Morris and Mrs. T. O. Jennings. Mrs. Carrabine had as her guests for the afternoon, her sister, Mrs. W. D. Ferrend of Central City, Neb., and two little daughters, Jennie Alice and Rhoda Grace; also Mrs. Harry Wrenn. A wheatless luncheon was served. Mrs. J. S. Dimmick will entertain the club in two weeks.

Balloon Men Entertain.

The men of Company C, Second Balloon squadron, stationed at Fort Omaha, entertained at a dance at the Rome Hotel Wednesday evening. The affair was in honor of several Omaha young ladies who have entertained the soldiers during the last few months.

Announcement of Better Films.

At 10 a. m. Saturday Conquest pictures will be shown at both the Strand and the Muse. These are all first class pictures of thrilling stories interesting to school boys and girls. The one at the Strand will have on the program a Bobbie Connelly comedy and Pathe News. "The Knights of the Square Table" at the Muse is a wonderful Boy Scout picture. The Boy Scouts will be present. There will be a good comedy and another interesting bill. The Besse at 1 o'clock will show Marguerite Clark in "Mollie Make Believe." Of course this will be very popular. Also a Bobbie Connelly comedy. The Friday night programs are, at the Lothrop, Marie Osborne in "Tears and Smiles" and a good comedy; at the Hamilton, Mary Pickford in "The Poor Little Rich Girl;" at the Suburban, Dustin Farnum in "Durand of the Bad Lands" and a Triangle comedy; the Apollo, William

When Milady Goes Shopping

He has no trouble.
Lives in a world of bliss, because he SAYS he does not believe women have any faults.

By ADELAIDE KENNERLY.

"I have no troubles. I don't know what trouble is. This store has been so successful during the past two years that I could not, if I would, complain of"—and then he began to talk cash register receipts of which I know very little, and I didn't listen anyway. Just couldn't help thinking how lovely it was of him to live in a troubleless world where everything sailed smoothly.

"Honest—I mean," and I tried to persuade him that he was mistaken, that he lived in the same kind of a criss-cross world that all the rest of us lived in. But his emphatic reply was this:

"Yes, honest, I mean, too." No use to argue with him for he would have his way. And he isn't a "bean" or anything of that kind. He was not afraid of what the women might say of him. He is just one of those out-spoken men who takes more pleasure in rapping one over the head with a heavy remark than in smoothing down the rough fur.

"In the matter of credits," he continued, "I have found women honest, almost without exception. 'Delivery?' I haven't found women unreasonable. In fact they have been awfully decent about it.

"I do feel, though, that women are not particular enough about reading our advertisements. They are not keen for the bargains we are offering at stated intervals. Our advertising department takes great pains in writing our display ads. We include not only prices, but descriptions, quality, style and models. If women were as careful to read these ads as we should be, they would be the profiteers by many a dollar."

In this particular store, I learn, styles are always the latest and best. It carries complete stocks of various kinds of merchandise.

From the best informed buyers in Omaha I learn that:

Colors for autumn and winter are somber and include raven, dark blue, caramel brown, marmot and corinth blue, taupe, mustard and cinnamon. The suits in these colors are beautifully made and high class. There are blouses to match these colors, but it is wise to wear the suit when matching a blouse, as the different shades fight worse than Irish neighbors.

Gowns for evening wear are brighter, one called Americaine being particularly pleasing. Turquoise blue and shell pink seem to be in favor if one is to judge from the wonderful assortment of new gowns arriving for the charity ball.

Remember, women of good judgment and good taste, we are appreciated by one merchant, at least, who says that, (considering the number of women shoppers compared to the men), we are quite desirable as customers. We have a reputation to live up to from now on—a big job.

honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, those present being: Mrs. R. A. Evans, Englewood, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Grimmel, and Misses Margaretha Grimmel, Ruth Grimmel, Gladys Goodman.

Campfire Girls.

The meeting of the Campfire Girls' training class has been postponed on account of the teachers' convention to Friday, November 16.

Miss Nelson's Tea.

Miss Sybil Nelson will entertain at a tea at her home in honor of Miss Ruth Slabaugh Friday, November 16.

Soldier Weds.

Letha Fairbanks of Blair, Neb., and Loyd H. Ackerman of Deming, N. M., were married by Rev. Charles W. Savidge at his study Thursday afternoon.

Ackerman is a soldier from Deming, N. M.

Le Mars Club.

The Le Mars club will give a dancing party at Keep's academy this evening.

Luncheon Parties.

Mrs. Charles Wright entertained 14 guests at luncheon at the Blackstone today.

Miss Ingabard Smith of Council Bluffs had 10 guests and Mrs. E. H. Howland entertained eight.

Mr. J. J. Monell will have 12 guests at dinner this evening.

Another French Orphan Adopted By Omaha Society

Another French orphan has been adopted in Omaha, this time by the young women of Trinity Cathedral guild. Mme. A. M. Borglum of the Society of the Fatherless Children of France will arrange the negotiations. Miss Lucy Updike is president and Miss Dorothy Hall secretary of the guild.

Motherhood First Thought Among the British People

The London Telegraph Trades Union congress, meeting the first week of September at Blackpool, was a most important one. Much of its attention was devoted to the new problems arising from the entrance of women into new industrial fields. The advance program at hand shows that they were not only to debate whether motherhood is to be supported by the state, but that the Bookbinders' union would ask the congress to declare that the introduction of female labor on government work formerly performed by men is a violation of the House of Commons fair wages resolution, if the wages paid are less than the recognized trades union standard.

The brassworkers and metal mechanics planned to move that no relaxation of trades union rules shall admit women to unsuitable occupations like those involving carrying or turning over heavy weights, or by heavy foot pressure, hot and dusty trades where lime, fine sand and emery, etc., are used, or where heavy machinery produces abnormal fatigue, or on machines where when men were used there was a large number of accidents. This resolution was in the interest, they say, of the future of motherhood and the present health of the nation. The departmental committee of the representatives of trades unions, including women doctors and factory inspectors who have had experience with women's work in order that the entry of women into any trade shall not be used to the detriment of the health and well-being of the community, or to lower the standard of wages for the male worker.

CLOCK TO TOLL OFF BIG Y. M. C. A. FUND

Denison Tells of the Work the Association is Doing for Soldiers in the Various Army Camps.

The big clock to be suspended from the Young Men's Christian association Monday morning must toll off subscriptions at the rate of $16,666 per day if the war fund campaign of the local association is to be a success. The allotment for Omaha is $100,000.

A meeting of 100 Omaha business men was held at the Commercial club Friday noon for purposes of organization for the big drive. The chairman of the ten committees and their members will be made public Sunday.

E. F. Denison, secretary, addressed a meeting of the Women's club of the Scottish Rites at the Blackstone Friday afternoon. He outlined to the women the work allotted to them and what the money will be used for. Immediately after addressing the Women's club Denison spoke before a missionary society at the home of Mrs. C. H. Aull, 1926 South Twenty-third street.

Beardsley Coming. Monday noon another business men's meeting will be held at the local association, which will be addressed by H. M. Beardsley, ex-mayor of Kansas City and a prominent association worker.

A young men's meeting and a meeting of church men will be held at the association tonight. Secretary Denison addressing both for a short talk. One week has been set as the time limit for raising the war fund. Subscriptions are already being received by Secretary Denison, who believes the campaign will be a success. Women's organizations on the South Side and the newly annexed suburbs of Omaha are prepared for the drive.

War Rations for Travelers None Too Tempting

It is altogether probable that many who have traveled every winter in the past will not do so this season, under pressure from the high costs of living, the economize-and-help-win-the-war cry, and the patriotic urge that prompts to buy Liberty bonds, says Kathleen Hills in Leslie's. On the other hand, there are always those with plenty of money and time who will travel no matter what happens. And perhaps in these days they are wise, for there are many things that most of us are trying to forget—many of us have parted with loved ones who may never come back; some at least will want to forget the nerves that the excitements of these days have reminded them so forcibly they possess. Travel as a balm for wounds has been found to satisfy and soothe and soothe forgetfulness.

Lots of things in this winter's journey may be changed, but war or no war, America's wonders still remain as attractive as ever. No war, no matter how cataclysmic, can rob the Grand Canyon of its power to thrill the spectator; there would be no military value in besieging the Apache Trail country, and making democracy see the Germans from themselves could not be settled in Yosemite Valley. No, the old America-first places are just as attractive as ever, or more so by reason of their remoteness from war's alarms. But getting to them may not be as comfortable as heretofore.

The railroads are too busy with more serious affairs than catering to the mere seeker after pleasure.

High Cost of Living Is Ousted by Riverview Home

The youngsters at the Riverview Detention Home raised 50 bushels of potatoes this year in their garden, near the home, and reared 250 chickens, 30 geese and 25 ducks to supply their table during the winter.

The girls at the home put up 200 quarts of jams and jellies for the winter, under the supervision of Mrs. Sexton in charge of the home, and Miss Francis Morris, cook. The girls also preserved 50 quarts of sweet corn, 25 quarts of peas and 25 quarts of beans.

The garden produced 150 bushels of field corn to feed the chickens, 25 bushels of tomatoes, several bushels of carrots, 10 bushels of parsnips and 15 bushels of winter onions. The home is well stocked for the winter from its own garden and chicken yard.

Start Drive for Aged Clergy Fund Sunday

A year ago the Methodists of Nebraska started a campaign for a $500,000 endowment fund for the care of retired ministers of that church. The last year has been spent in educational work. Last May the dates for the general drive to secure the subscriptions for this fund was fixed for November 11 to December 9. The forces throughout the state are now organized to complete this program and next Sunday will mark the opening of this great drive. In 500 churches of the state prominent ministers and business men will present the subject and make the canvass for these funds.

Phi Chi Fraternity Holds Its Annual Election

The Phi Chi Medical fraternity of Creighton university held their annual election of officers Tuesday evening. The following were elected: J. B. Williams, president; senior; James Munsey, president junior; Maurice Howard, secretary; Patrick McDonough, treasurer; Earl Connolly, judge advocate; Edward Mulholland, sentinel.

The members of the fraternity will give a dancing party in honor of the pledges at the Blackstone hotel, Thursday, November 15. They have planned to give succeeding dances every month thereafter.

Will Kaiser's Italian Success Bring Victory to the Allies?

"The collapse of the Italian Eastern front is disheartening to the Allies," says the Indianapolis News, "not because it points to sure defeat, but because it postpones their victory."

In all sections of the country, we find the press discussing this staggering and unexpected blow in a tone not of pessimism, but of increased hopefulness and grim determination. The Chicago Tribune remarks that "the Stars and Stripes are in the trenches to-day, and they are going forward there, not back, forward till the enemy's power is beaten down, and he is ready for peace for all time," while the Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph remarks that "Germany is making a fight to a finish and America must deliver the knockout blow." A full-page map graphically explains the military operations.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for November 10th, the leading article discusses from every angle the recent retreat of the Italian army and its probable effect in bringing ultimate victory to the Allies.

This number of "The Digest" is particularly interesting, as a glance at the following headings, describing additional articles, will prove:
