

CORNHUSKERS TWIST TIGERS' TAIL, 52 TO 0.

MISSOURI HOPELESSLY OUTCLASSED BY HEAVY NEBRASKA GRIDDERS

Schulte's Featherweights Buried Under Avalanche of Touchdowns; Schellenberg, Cook and McMahon Show Old-Time Form and Smother Invaders With Long End Runs and Smashing Line Drives.

By FRED S. HUNTER.

Lincoln, Nov. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—Doc Stewart's 1917 Cornhusker machine crashed its way to an easy victory over the University of Missouri eleven here today. The score was 52 to 0.

The victory took the Cornhuskers one step toward the gridiron championship of the Missouri Valley conference. Only Kansas remains. The Husker attempts to snare the Jayhawk in his own den next Saturday. If successful, Nebraska once more resumes leadership in the conference.

TIGERS FIGHT TO END.

The Cornhuskers outweighed, out-balanced and outplayed the Tigers, but not for one minute did they out-game them. It was Nebraska's game when the referee's first whistle started hostilities, but Schulte's featherweights made themselves known in every play. They battled against tremendous odds, but they battled; they never cried for quarter, and, battered, beaten and bruised as they were, they were still there at the finish.

One of the greatest displays of gameness ever witnessed on Nebraska field Missouri made in the final quarter. Hopelessly licked, they put their shoulders to the wall and fought. And Nebraska failed to mark up a single score in this period. Every one of the Huskers' 52 points were made in the first three quarters.

Not only did they fight the Huskers to a standstill in this final quarter, but they had a distinct edge on Stewart's men. At one time toward the end of the third quarter the Tigers were on the six-yard line and threatening to score.

Lack of weight was a great handicap to the Tigers. Schulte's paperweights were outbalanced fully 20 pounds to the many by the huge Huskers.

Long Runs Feature.

Long runs by Elmer Schellenberg and Johnny Cook were the principal factors in the Cornhusker victory. These sterling ground gainers reeled off run after run. Tiger tacklers seemed at loss, were totally unable to fathom their peculiar style of running and dazedly watched Schellie and Johnny whizz by.

Cook took off the longest run of the game. It was an 81-yard sprint through a broken field. The eBatrice had gathered in a long punt on his own 50-yard line and with the assistance of nifty interference swept his way through the entire line.

Schellie Starts Early.

Schellenberg got the game away to a flying start in the first quarter, with a 50-yard scamper down the field, which put the ball on the Tigers' 15-yard line and Hal McMahon finished the deed with a 15-yard dash over the goal line. This touchdown was the beginning of the end for Missouri. Away to a good start, Nebraska's courage and confidence was at its highest pitch and Stewart's men just swept all before them until the last quarter, when the Tigers made their wonderful fight.

Nebraska looked like a rejuvenated team. This may have been due to the utter weakness of Missouri, hopelessly light and inexperienced.

Aside from the fact that Nebraska won the game was a disappointment from the spectators' standpoint. The game was slow and dragged all of the time. Nebraska played the same straight foot ball with no variations at all and the usual lack of decision in getting off plays was manifest throughout.

Munn's Long Kick.

Nebraska won the toss and chose to defend the east goal. Munn's first kickoff went outside and his second attempt sailed straight and true over the crossbar of the goal posts. The ball was brought out to the 20-yard line and given to Missouri. The Tigers made to ineffectual attempts to pummel Nebraska's line, but gave it up when that stone wall refused to budge and punted. Cook ran Slusher's punt to Missouri's 45-yard line. Schellenberg was good for eight yards to start the ball rolling and Dobson ploughed through for first downs. Nebraska was given a five-yard penalty here and lost the ball when two forward passes were incomplete following two short line plunges. Stevens, Missouri's midget quarterback, made eight yards just to show the Huskers it could be done, but this offensive display was limited. Missouri kicked the next play. Slusher's boot went to the Huskers' 23-yard line. After two short gains by Schellie and McMahon, Dobson punted.

Try Aerial Game.

The Tigers changed tactics here and resorted to the forward pass. A long pass was thrown wildly. It sailed straight at Cook. He intercepted it and was downed on Nebraska's 35-yard line. After making first downs, Nebraska fumbled and Rider recovered the ball. Again Missouri tried the forward pass and this time Dobson intercepted the throw. On the very first play Schellenberg romped 50 yards down field, scattering Tigers here and there en route. He was finally pulled down by Collins on his own 15-yard line. McMahon took it over on a wide end run on the next play. The punt was wild so Nebraska did not get a chance to kick goal. Nebraska, 6; Missouri, 0.

Munn's kickoff went to Missouri's 30-yard line. Slusher immediately punted. Cook, probably inspired by Schellenberg's example, caught the punt and raced 81 yards through a broken field for a touchdown. It was a very nifty run. It scored a touchdown and removed one Missouri athlete. Mr. Ewing, who was cut down in the rush, Munn kicked the first. Nebraska, 13; Missouri, 0.

This ended the scoring in the first quarter. Nebraska worked the ball to the 20-yard line during the last of

WOLVERINES SHATTER WEAK CORNELL LINE

Michigan Rolls Up 42-to-0 Score, With Weston as Super Ground Gainer for Ann Arbor.

(By Associated Press.)

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 10.—Michigan's powerful foot ball machine, with Quarterback Weston as its super-ground gainer, rolled up a 42 to 0 score on Cornell here today.

Michigan simply shattered the weak defense of the green Cornell eleven. Except for a few flashes of successful open play Cornell was almost as helpless on offense as it was when the Wolverine hid the ball.

Quarterback Weston, the smallest field general Michigan has ever had, played a game that will live long in Michigan history.

Sparks was an able teammate for Weston until he was injured early in the game. Nethercott was the only Cornell man who could gain much ground against Michigan. The lineup:

and Douglas streets. They were aided several times by the police during the last two years and the leaders released on promise to stop street talking and other undesirable activities.

Police on the Lookout.

Chief of Police Dunn stated that he has arranged to receive the Industrial Workers of the World if they appear in Omaha Monday. Federal authorities likewise are working quietly, but will not discuss their plans. Chief Eberstein of the local federal bureau of investigation yesterday afternoon admitted that he had heard of the situation, but declined comment on the matter. He would not divulge the plans of the federal officers.

Our department will be ready to get the situation as it arises. We know the habits of the Industrial Workers of the World and if they appear here, as it is reported they intend to do, we will be on the job. I do not anticipate trouble," said Chief Dunn.

The information conveyed to the police indicates that the Industrial Workers of the World are hitting the city for Omaha and expect to arrive here on Monday, having been driven out of other cities. Extra police will be maintained on the streets of the city, where these usually assemble in groups before they proceed to a general rendezvous.

Are Unwelcome Guests.

The police department has been instructed to redouble their efforts to prevent idlers who can not give an account of themselves. The authorities say they are determined that Omaha shall not be stigmatized by the brand of undesirable characters that have been driven out of Minneapolis, Kansas City and other cities.

Omaha Uni Getting Chesty

Local Flippers Want to Play Universities of Nebraska and Drake in Floor Frays.

Omaha university's basket ball quintet wants to play the University of Nebraska and Drake.

Omaha uni is rated as a secondary college, but Manager William Campen of the floor squad has big city ideas and works on the theory that the local institution will always be secondary unless it goes out of its class.

Campen has written to a score of secondary colleges for games, and is finding that basket ball prospects are not brilliant at many schools. Many reply that their squads have been so crippled that they will be unable to organize this year.

Omaha uni is optimistic over its floor prospects. With an early start, Coach Burdick hopes to turn out the best five of flippers in the history of the school.

With 20 men out for practice every day and with at least two good teams among these recruits, the coach sees victory for the future.

As another sign of good luck the Scarlet and Black varsity quintet won its first game. They met the local recruiting officers' five and won by a score of 7 to 5.

The latest addition to the qualified list is Ernest Clark who the period so as to be within striking distance when the second quarter opened. Schellenberg made the difference in two plays. Munn again kicked goal. Nebraska, 20; Missouri, 0.

Dobson Scores.
McMahon, Schellenberg and Dobson collaborated in the next touchdown. They marched down the field and Dobby took it over on an end run. Dobson tried to kick goal this time and puffed it. Nebraska, 32; Missouri, 0.

The Huskers made one more score in the second quarter. Schellenberg made a nice little run of 38 yards and then made nine more. McMahon juggled the ball 15 yards in a couple of attempts, while Schellie rested, after which Elmer scored the touchdown. Dobson's aim was better this time and he kicked goal. Nebraska, 39; Missouri, 0.

Another Field Day.
The third quarter was another field day for Nebraska. On the kickoff Schellenberg stepped off 55 yards, carrying the ball to Missouri's 15-yard line. Eight more and then over was Schellie's record. Kellogg took up the goal kicking and missed. Nebraska, 45; Missouri, 0.

Missouri's kickoff went to Hubka on Nebraska's 35-yard line. McMahon raced 25 yards around end. Nebraska drew a 15-yard penalty so Kellogg punted to Missouri's five-yard line. Missouri tried to punt out of danger, but Cook refused to have it. He ran the punt back to Missouri's 15-yard line. A few line plunges by Schellenberg, et al, and then McMahon bounced over the line. Cook kicked goal. Nebraska, 52; Missouri, 0.

Tigers Threaten.
That ended the scoring. From that minute on the Tigers fought like wildcats. They battled Nebraska to a fare-you-well; they ever tried running the ball themselves and toward the latter part of this period advanced the ball to Nebraska's six-yard line.

Kellogg punted clear to Missouri's goal line. Taking the ball on the 20-yard mark, Missouri started Nebraska follows by starting a march up field. Cross, substitute, started things with a 15-yard run. Stevens made a couple of nifty charges and Cross made eight more. Nebraska got so excited it broke a few rules and it cost the Huskers 15 yards. Marshall hit the line for eight yards and the Huskers got another 15-yard penalty. This put the ball on the Huskers' six-yard line with four downs to go. Three times Missouri hit the line, but failed. Nebraska's stonewall refused to give. The Tigers tried a forward pass as a last resort and Steven's pass was true. But the Tiger waiting over the goal line dropped the pigskin and the Tigers' only chance was gone.
