LABOR COMMISSION FOR WAR PROBLEMS

American Federation Deliberates on Emergency Supply Council to Act Until Fighting Force Demobilized.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 16.—While committees were still working long hours on the 165 resolutions submitted for consideration at the 37th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, the delegates had another day of oratory in which speakers from two nations allied with the United States counseled international co-operation of labor in the nation's war plans.

The resolution on a labor supply commission was introduced by Vice President James A. Duncan. "We suggest," one section reads, "that for the purpose of carrying out the agreement in an effective manner an emergency labor supply commission connected with the Department of Labor independent of the United States Civil Service commission, composed of three or five members, on which commission union labor shall predominate, be appointed, with authority to decide questions arising and to appoint deputies where and when, in their judgment it becomes necessary, the understanding being that as far as practicable the detail work shall be done by the union. Said emergency labor supply commission shall exist until the labor problems caused by the war are readjusted after the war is over and the fighting force demobilized."
