MUCH FEEDING OF STOCK THIS YEAR

With Price of Husking High and Corn Soft, Commission Men Expect Good Run.

There will be more feeding than usual in Nebraska this year, according to the stockmen who visit the stockyards. So much of the corn is soft and the price of husking so high, that many farmers believe the most practical solution to the problem is to buy cattle, or hogs or sheep, and turn them into the corn fields. Soft corn, which would bring very little on the market, makes good feed and this plan eliminates the expense of hiring cornhuskers.

Farmers Buy Feeders. The last three weeks have seen an influx of farm stock yards, who come to buy live stock, take home to husk their corn. This plan will result in an increase in live stock that will be of great value.

Farmers report that corn husking has been stopped in many places because the corn is still so soft. Many farmers have found that corn which they have cribbed has started to spoil and they are busy now taking it out of the cribs and spreading it out to dry.

Police Urge Theaters Be Watchful for Bombs South Side police Tuesday warned all theater managers to use every possible precaution against destruction of their buildings or any attempt at violence. They were especially admonished to be on the watch for patrons who sought to enter their places with suspicious-looking packages. The recent bomb-plots to destroy theaters in Chicago have instigated these new precautions.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," said Sergeant George Allen, as he urged the theater owners to be watchful.

He immediately reported his loss to the police. Sick Man Picked Up by Police Dies; No Address W. H. KEEP LOOKING YOUNG It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets The secret of keeping young is to feel young — to do this you must watch your liver and bowels — there's no need of having a sallow complexion — dark rings under your eyes — pimples — a bilious look in your face — dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

South Side, Melting Pot of Middle West, Push Together to Down Kaiser

It's a raw, red life on the South Side and the game is played in the rough. Life is intense and passions are near the skin. South Side is a melting pot. People of every breed and creed, from every nation in the world, have gathered here that they might fight fairly in the battle of life.

The world war flame makes the melting pot boil. Every heart on the South Side beats in sympathy with the troops who are marching against the foe to democracy. Bohemians, Russians, Poles, Serbs, Croats, Slovenians, Lithuanians and Americans all push together to overthrow kaiserism. There is a thrill in the sight of these people of many nations working together for a common aim.

One is impressed with the oneness of our allied cause as he visits the foreigners on the South Side and sees them working in the cause of freedom. If one visits the Bohemian Women's Service league he will find busy women knitting sweaters for the Sammies, they may pass on to a patriotic meeting among the Poles or Lithuanians, or they may find the Serbs busy with war relief work.

The various colonies of the South Side have adopted these slogans: "Stars and Stripes for freedom for all oppressed nations." "We are for free Poland, and the United States all the time." "The Slavic nations must be free." "The Stars and Stripes will save Bohemia."

"God save Serbia through the United States." South Side is pregnant with possibilities. Americanize the thousands of intense aliens here, and who can foretell the result? What Michael Angelo lie dormant in some of the black-eyed Italian children here? A keen eye can easily discern Madonnas among the sweet-faced girls at play in the streets or on the doorsteps.

The Polish children here love music and many of them play well. As Ignace Paderewski, the famous pianist, told his little countrymen, when he visited them in South Side last year.

"It may be that some day one of you will be my teacher." There are a dozen little colonies in South Side. Each looks like a handful of "the old country" dropped here intact. "Little Bohemia," in Brown Park district, is perhaps the most widely known. The Bohemian language is spoken almost entirely there. It is an interesting place—the town-hold of Bohemia in Omaha—the women wear their bright shawls and fancy aprons and the men smoke their long pipes in a silence which is almost dogged.

Each colony in the South Side circles around its church and parish. The church mothers her people and the parish priest is the true leader of his people.

The war has brought the people of the South Side into close sympathy and understanding. War is the flame which has melted all differences and left the South Side united and loyal, faithful to the highest ideals of freedom and liberty.

MUSIC Berrymans Two-Piano Recital. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Berrymans decided that "two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one," might be extended in their case to the piano as well, and consequently gave a two-piano recital last evening at Schmolter & Mueller's Music rooms. Both Mr. and Mrs. Berrymans are well known in local musical circles. Mrs. Berrymans, when she was Miss Alice Virginia Davis, and Mr. Berrymans having been heard frequently in individual piano recitals. A brief talk by Mr. or Mrs. Berrymans prefaced each number and gave the auditors information about the composer, the composition or both. The especially good ensemble in the tricky fugue variation of the "Variations on a Beethoven Theme," by Saint Saens, the delicacy and atmosphere in the Ravel suite (which, by the way was different and fascinating modern music) and the dash and spirit of the "Military March," by Saint Saens remained especially with the writer.

Two brilliant and colorful numbers by Chabrier closed the program, which brought as an encore, "Morning," by Chaminade. Two-piano recitals have been rare in the past, but with the discovery of their possibilities, and of a rapidly growing literature for two instruments, they will undoubtedly be in greater favor in the future, as experience proves that they can be interesting.
