Respond, Soldiers, Very Promptly! R. S. V. P .- those four mystic initials seem to stand for so many things, "Remember to Send Valuable Presents," "Refreshments Served Very Promptly" and all the rest of it, out in these strenuous days before Thanksgiving they take on a new and more important meaning. They mean, to us Busy Bees. I wish I could tell you how many imes we have heard over the phone this morning:

"Respond, Soldiers, Very Promptly!"

"I have heard nothing from the sol-diers that I invited for Thanksgiving linner. Are they coming?"

And to these queries we can only say, "We are sure you will get a response today."

The hospitable housewives of Omaha are in a quandary as to whether they should order a 12-pound turkey or a goose! If the Sammies are to be guests the national bird will be served, despite H. C. L., but very often if there are to be no honor guests the family will content themselves with an humble goose or chicken. And how much dressing shall they make and shall they make see the dilemma? A mere man probably doesn't realize the gravity of the situation and the boys in khaki are liable to be so absorbed in balloons and machine guns and the other knick-knacks of war that they will forget their dinner until about five minutes of one

one pumpkin pie or three? Can't you

If any of the soldier boys happen to wander into the woman's section and read my little plea, I trust they will call their hostess and tell her to order that 12-pound turkey. And please hurry, the S. Q. S. sign is out!

Communion Cloth.

The communion cloth in France which has always been considered the finest of lingerie fabrics, because for centuries it has been woven for the church vestments, will be introduced again in America. In the far south, especially in those countries that border on the Mexican gulf, which were formerly French and Spanish possessions, this type of fine muslin was as much used as in France. It will be used this year all over the country in fine blouses in white, gray and biscuit.

Let's Do it This Way. The kitchen needs but a few things. The gas stove is a part of the house and belongs to the gas company or to the landlord. Usually there is a sink and small table attached, under which there are laundry tubs (we are speaking of strictly modern apartments) for laundering the small pieces of soiled linens. The china closet and food cupboard are as much a part of the house as the bathroom or the dumb-waiter, so they are taken for granted.
