OMAHA IS ALL SET FOR BIG ARMY GRID GAME AT CREIGHTON FIELD TODAY

Camp Funston Eleven Arrives Friday Night; Dodge Team Due Here This Morning Via Council Bluffs; Seat Sale Hits on High and Promises Full House When Game Starts.

Omaha is all set for the big army gridiron game to be held at Creighton field this afternoon between elevens representing Camp Funston, Kas., and Camp Dodge, Ia., the two largest cantonments in the United States.

Hostilities between the rival army elevens starts promptly at 2:30. A preliminary game starts at 1 o'clock. The prelim is no mean combat itself. It will be between Fort Omaha and Fort Crook for the army championship of Omaha.

Sale of seats, which started to hit on high yesterday, promises an immense crowd. Additional stands have been erected at Creighton field so that 9,000 persons can be accommodated. There also will be plenty of standing room for the overflow crowd.

Automobiles will not be permitted to enter the grounds, but a large vacant lot directly across the street from the main entrance to the field affords plenty of parking space for motorists.

Funston Arrives.
The Camp Funston eleven arrived in Omaha at 8 o'clock last night on a special train on the Union Pacific. Several hundred camp followers accompanied the team in addition to a 40-piece military band.

The Funston eleven came in two sections. One section came from Funston where the team played Illinois turkey day. The other came from Joplin, Mo., where it played Camp Doniphan on the same day. The two squads will be united to battle against the Dodgers.

The Camp Dodge crew arrives this morning. A special train on the Rock Island is to bring the team and 500 soldiers and the divisional band. The team will stop at Council Bluffs, where it will be entertained by the Chamber of Commerce after which the soldier-athletes will be brought to Omaha by automobile.

Walter Eckersall, former Chicago university star, and All-American quarterback, one of the best known officials in the country, will referee the game. Edson Shaw, captain of the Cornhuskers, will be umpire. Gus Graham of Michigan will be field judge and Tim Corey, captain of the 1916 Cornhuskers and now a captain in the army at Fort Snelling, will be head linesman.

All College Stars.
Some of the best known college and university stars in the country will take part in the game. A number of All-American men have positions on the two teams.

Yale, Harvard, Michigan, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Colorado, Iowa, Ames, Wisconsin, Illinois, Notre Dame, West Point, Carlisle, Texas, Missouri, St. Louis, Washington and Haskell are some of the big schools represented.

Proceeds of the game go toward the gymnasium funds of the two camps. The money will be evenly divided between each camp. All of the money beyond that spent for actual expenses goes to the fund. The Omaha committee which has been making the plans for the game gave their services to this patriotic cause. The officials all are donating their services. Creighton university gave the field without remuneration. So a snug sum should be turned over to the soldier boys.

Gene Melady Gives $10 to Fund for Mrs. John Andrews

Gene Melady is the latest contributor to the fund for Mrs. Johnny Andrews, wife of Johnny Andrews, Omaha amateur ball player who died of tuberculosis last week. Gene's check for $10 has been received by the sporting editor of The Bee. The Omaha Amateur Base Ball association is raising the fund for Mrs. Andrews, who was left destitute by the death of her husband. Contributions may be sent to her through the sporting editor of The Bee.

Call for Bill Hokuff.

Gene Melady is anxious to communicate with Bill Hokuff, Omaha wrestler. He would like to have Hokuff get in touch with him immediately.

Mayor's Proclamation.

To the People of the City of Omaha:
An event of more than passing importance is scheduled to take place in our city Saturday afternoon, and I bespeak for it the patronage of every man, woman and child who can possibly attend. The boys from Camp Funston and Camp Dodge are to engage in the very popular game of foot ball, and the proceeds of this game are to be devoted to a mighty worthy project—the providing of a gymnasium and swimming pool at these camps.

So many demands are made nowadays for worthy causes, that it has become second nature for us to "dib up" and forget it immediately. But these boys have thought it incumbent upon themselves to make returns for whatever is extended them in the way of financial help and to say that every patron of the game today will get his money's worth and then some, is putting it very truly.

Go out to the Creighton campus and root for either side and for both sides and show your Uncle Sammie's boys that you are with them heart and soul. So many of the things that they had to give up when they left their own homes will be made up for if these camps can be equipped with these necessities, that it is up to us to see that they are furnished without any more delay.

I ask especially that the business men attend this game and that they give their employes an opportunity to do so. And when the whistles begin blowing at 9 o'clock this morning, don't bother Central to death to find out what it's all about. Just rush your Saturday work along and if you don't have time to invest in a chrysanthemum, go without it—you can donate what it might cost you to the boys' cause—and do your share toward making this game the splendid success it must be if we are the right kind of Americans.

South High Rims West Point; Score 21 to 0

In a game yesterday at West Point, Coach Patton's scrappy eleven ran away from the West Point team. The game was fast from start to finish, but the packers' goal was only in danger once, that was when a long pass by the West Point team brought them to the five-yard line, but a stone wall on the part of South ruined their only chance for a touchdown.

The first touchdown for South High came when Banner made a wide end run, evading the West Point backs, and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. Voltz kicked goal. The second quarter opened with the ball in the packers' possession in the middle of the field. It was lost on downs and the West Point squad carried it to the 15-yard line where it was lost on downs. South then carried the ball to its own goal by straight line plunges, Emigh going over for the second touchdown. The half ended with Voltz kicked goal. Fred Rantschler Chosen Captain Denver Team

Denver, Colo., Nov. 30.—Fred Rantschler, right end, was chosen captain of the University of Denver foot ball eleven last night. He may not play next year, however, as he is a member of a military hospital unit subject to call.

Exeter Defeats Wilber.

Exeter, Neb., Nov. 29.—(Special.)—Exeter closed a successful season yesterday by defeating the Wilber heavyweights, 54 to 7. Runs by Long, Cortello and Adams, reinforced by stout interference, netted the game. Let Tackle Johns broke through the Wilber line on a fake for a 40-yard gain. Cortello, left half for Exeter, carried the ball for a total of 215 yards. Wilber's only touchdown came on a long pass. Referee Kahn, Wesleyan, gave excellent satisfaction. The business men of the city banqueted the teams after the game.

America Will Not Condemn the Reds; Faint Hope Left

cript of the Lenin-Trotsky peace and armistice proposal.

Acceptance No Surprise.
No surprise is felt in diplomatic circles here at the speedy acceptance by Germany and Austria of the Lenin proposal. It had been assumed that with no intention whatever of accepting the substantial demands of the Bolsheviks, the German and Austrian chancelleries would not miss this great opportunity to eliminate Russia as an offensive military force for the many days, weeks, or even months during which the skilled German diplomats might protract the negotiations for an armistice and peace. In the meantime of course, there may be released for active service the British, French and Italians on the west front hundreds of thousands of Germans, Austrian, Turkish and Bulgarian soldiers maintained on the eastern front.

Must Neutralize Scheme.
It will be for the inter-allied conference in Paris to advise some means of neutralizing this German scheme, possibly by influencing the Bolshevik element itself through an exposition of the duplicity and real aims of the Germans or by recourse to the elements in Russia represented by General Kaledines and other leaders who have refused to acknowledge the control of the Maximilians.

The letter of Lord Landsdowne suggesting a moderation of allied war aims which has aroused such a bitter feeling in England, in the opinion of some of the diplomatic officials here, prove a powerful factor in keeping the Bolsheviks within the entente allied circle by letting them perceive that their own doctrines regarding peace are not lacking in support among entente statesmen.

HUSKERS SHOW UP WELL IN FIRST CLASH WITH EAST

The Missouri Valley foot ball season closed Thursday with nearly all the teams running true to form. Nebraska had already won a clear title to the Valley championship by its defeat of Kansas and Missouri.

The big conference game was the annual Missouri-Kansas classic. Nebraska played its first game with an eastern team with considerable credit, only the failure to kick goal from a touchdown bringing its defeat, 10 to 9, at the hands of the Syracuse eleven.

Missouri showed a little more strength than in any other game of the season, but was outclassed by its ancient rival after the first five minutes of play.

The Oklahoma Aggies, who had not been expected to show much strength, held Oklahoma scoreless. Illinois romped through the Camp Funston line at Fort Riley. Drake took the same sort of beating it had suffered in nearly every game of the season, Ames winning 47 to 0. Washington held St. Louis university to 13 points, but was unable to score itself. The Kansas Aggies won their game from Washburn with ease.

Arkansas took a beating at the hands of Texas, being unable to score while the Texans scored 20 points.

Opera National Game in Italy; San Carlo Singers Bat .300 in the Pinches

Music critics say that grand opera is Italy's national game; that the Italians are not only players, but fans; that they keep score, hits, runs, errors, especially errors; that the small boys fight in the street over the merits of singers and write to the sporting editors asking who leads in the league of singing, who is the best tenor, the best baritone, etc., just as boys write and fight about base ball players in this country.

People in Italy want to know who is the better tenor—Caruso or Salazar, just as people in New York want to know who is the better player—Hap Felsch or Benny Kauf. Averages are kept and every now and then there is an argument about the respective merits of the old and new singers. They "knock" or "boost" singers in Italy as we "knock" or "boost" base ball players in America. Difference of opinion makes base ball and horse racing in America. Jealousy, it seems, difference of opinion as to which man has a better right to the lady or the lady the better right to the man, seems to make grand opera. The Italians take a vast interest in all these things.

Opera companies, like base ball, have managers. Fortune Gallo of the San Carlo Grand Opera company is the John McGraw of the Opera league. He picked up a club a few years ago that had been low down in the race, got himself a few stars like Salazar, Antola, Craft, Royer, De Biasi, and is now winning the championship. His captain is Charles R. Baker. Some day Gallo may play the Metropolitan for the world's operatic championship. Gallo is the "Miracle Man" of the opera. He can take a club that runs last one season and win the championship with it the next. He can even talk a singer out of a week's salary, and any one that can do that gets by.

Salazar is one of the strongest men in the Grand Opera league. He is a regular Hans Wagner in strength and hitting ability. His brother played the part of Ursus, the strong man, who snatches the girl off the horns of the angry bull in "Quo Vadis." Salazar comes from the Basque provinces in Spain, where "pelota ball" is the national game. He is one of the San Carlo "pinch-hitting" tenors. The other is Agostini, who reaches up and hits awfully high ones, causes much "rooting" and scores many "runs." He also takes everything that comes his way. Italians, however, are not the only ones that like opera. The Americans like it, too. The Forty-fourth Street theater, New York City, has been packed with fans recently to hear the San Carlo club-pennant winners, sure, this season.

Dick Colvan Arrives in France To Avenge Death of Family

Dick Colvan has arrived "somewhere in France." Detective J. T. Donahue received a postal from him announcing his safe arrival.

"Dick" is an Armenian who formed many friendships during eight years' residence in Omaha. He was in the employ of the Orchard & Wilhelm company and the Corte-Aldous-Hunt company. When the Turks attacked the town of Diarbekr, Armenia, they killed Colvan's mother, father, three sisters and a brother. When the Omaha man received the news of the fate of his family he was almost overwhelmed with grief. He sought Detective Donahue for consolation and was advised to make the best of what could be helped. "I thought he might do something desperate," remarked Mr. Donahue.

PREMONTERS BACK FROM BATTLE LINE

Fremont, Neb., Nov. 30.—(Special Telegram.)—Firmly convinced that the end of the war is yet a long way off, Congressman Dan V. Stephens and Ross L. Hammond of Fremont returned from their visit to the western battle front.

Congressman Stephens arrived Thanksgiving forenoon and Mr. Hammond followed Friday forenoon, he having remained in New York on business.

The Fremonters covered 1,500 miles of the French and Belgium battlefronts and bring the word to Fremont that the barbarities of the Prussian soldiers have not been painted black enough.

"What you have been told of the terror in France does not exaggerate it. It can't be exaggerated," said Mr. Stephens.

"It is all true, too true. Those who are paying the awful price, the world at large, including the German people, are victims of the brutal system of Prussian militarism."

Congressman Stephens blames the Prussian war leaders for the brutalities practiced by the German soldiers. Mr. Stephens and Mr. Hammond brought back many souvenirs they picked up along the battlefront and in the towns that have been destroyed during the war.

During the trip along the front, the Fremonters were continually within the sound of the roar of battle. Once a shell exploded within 100 yards of their party, but none of the members was injured. Plans for an overflow meeting next Monday night when the war visitors tell of their trip are being made. If the weather is favorable the committee in charge of the reception to the Fremonters look for a crowd that will tax any building in the city and plans has been made for another hall where Mr. Stephens and Mr. Hammond take turns speaking.
