

NEW SCIENCE TO GET WINTER EGGS FEATURE OF SHOW

Careful Breeding of Thoroughbred Winter Layers Secret of Success, Says President Munsen.

Eggs may be as plentiful in the winter as in the summer when a newly-discovered principle of scientific breeding, as shown in the educational exhibit of the Omaha poultry show, is applied by poultry raisers generally.

"This principle is simply to select eggs for hatching from the best winter layers and to continue to do this," said President Munsen of the show. "I have 26 hens at my place which laid 45 dozen eggs last February. In other words each hen produced nearly $1 worth of eggs in that single month. I developed those hens from five generations of my best winter layers. Every generation went the preceding generation 'one better.' I am still continuing the process with no end of winter egg-laying capacity in sight."

Generations Carefully Raised.
A pen of White Orpington birds illustrating this principle is shown at the poultry show. There are three generations in it. One hen, in the third generation, laid 23 eggs last February, the coldest month of the year. She averaged nearly an egg a day.

It is valuable information of this kind that this year's Omaha Poultry show, "the first educational poultry show in the world," is disseminating.

Mittendorfs Hen Not Here.
The celebrated Mittendorfs hen which, though 6 years of age, laid 327 eggs last year, is still delayed by a legal attachment and will not be here. To take her place, the management has added two pens of rare poultry, one pen of Sicilian Buttercups, a speckled bird and good layer; also a pen of White Langshans, a very large species of bird. There is also a pen of English Pheasants, birds of wonderfully beautiful plumage.

Attendance Makes Record.
The attendance on Thanksgiving day was the largest in the history of the show, a little over 1,000 paid admissions being registered. It is expected that Saturday will be a big day. Professors Ufford and Peters will lecture Saturday, specially to poultry breeders.

The health of the birds is good. Only two of them have been taken out. They were suffering from slight colds.

Awards will be announced Saturday. A. G. Peters of the bureau of husbandry, United States Department of Agriculture, will explain to poultry breeders Saturday afternoon along what lines they can assist in the government food conservation program.

Nurse Sues for Big Estate That Is Left by Aged Couple

Alleging that Henry Ehrenfort and his wife, Mary, an aged couple who lived 40 years in Omaha, promised her their entire estate if she would act as a nurse and daughter to them until they died, Alysce G. Sharp has filed suit against Ferdinand Haarman, administrator, demanding that the Ehrenfort property be turned over to her.

Miss Sharp says that the old couple persuaded her to come and live with them in July, 1911. Besides promising her their property when they died, they gave her $4 a week for spending money, she says. Mrs. Ehrenfort fell ill soon after the arrangement was made and had to be fed like a child. Miss Sharp says she also did the washing, the ironing and cooking, and kept house for the old people. Mrs. Ehrenfort died December 19, 1915, and Mr. Ehrenfort March 19, 1916. She cared for the latter from the time of his wife's death until his own.

The old people made joint wills in 1908, each leaving all property to the other. The wills were never altered in favor of Miss Sharp, as she alleged they promised.

Rev. Lyn Kelly Arrives in Omaha to Spend Few Weeks

Rev. Lyn G. J. Kelly came from Red Oak yesterday to visit Attorney A. L. Sutton and spend a few weeks in Omaha.

"I intend to have a complete rest before I begin a lecture tour," said the little minister, who recently went through two trials and was acquitted of the Villisca murder charge.

C. I. Miller, secretary of the Kelly Defense league, accompanied Rev. Mr. Kelly and will remain with him "until he gets on his feet physically and financially," as Mr. Miller expressed it.

The minister, who put Red Oak on the map, states he is writing a book on his experiences during incarceration and trial. He will feature the Logan midnight scene which was referred to in detail at the Red Oak trials.

"The defense association at Red Oak will not give up its work to fasten the ax murders upon the guilty parties," added Mr. Miller.

Pi Beta Pi Fraternity Entertains for Pledges

Joy reigned supreme among the 90 couples who attended the Phi Beta Pi fraternity dance held at the Blackstone hotel Thursday night. Amid the twinkling lights and gay decorations of the ballroom, the pleasure-seeking dancers shuffled feet to saxophone and banjo melodies. Smiles met smiles and good cheer was everywhere evident.

The affair was given in honor of the pledges of the Phi Beta Pi medical fraternity of Creighton college, who will soon "ride the goat." All the members of the Creighton foot ball team were present and received a worthy welcome after having fought hard for their victory over the Colorado eleven.

Three Sets of Twin Brothers Enlist in Uncle Sam's Navy

WILLIAM P. AND MICHAEL FLINN.

ALFRED N. AND J. VERNON COCHRAN.

Six men from Carroll, Neb., enlisted in Uncle Sam's navy. Every one passed the physical examination; and they were all sworn into the service. An average of one in three can pass the physical requirements.

Among the new recruits, there were three sets of brothers; Alfred N. and J. Vernon Cochran, Riverton, Ia., enlisted in the radio service; Michael and William P. Finn, Carroll, Neb., enlisted as apprentice seamen; Will and Frank Bryson, Hawarden, Ia., enlisted one as apprentice seaman and the other as fireman. The boys said: "We feel as though we were going to get the kaiser's goat! There were no regrets, no serious faces, and no sadly drooping eyes. Smiles, instead—real, true Yankee smiles!"

Germans Attack Braye, Storming French Positions

Berlin, Nov. 30.—Storming troops of the German crown prince yesterday made a successful attack against the French positions north of Braye and captured a number of prisoners, the war office announced today.

"In aerial engagements and by fire from the ground our opponents have lost 30 airplanes and two captive balloons," the statement adds.

NEW GERMAN CREDIT BEFORE REICHSTAG

Socialists Seize Occasion to Talk Peace on Lines of Russian Proposal.

Amsterdam, Nov. 30.—The war credit of 15,000,000 marks asked for by Chancellor von Hertling passed its first and second readings in the Reichstag yesterday. The third reading has been set for Saturday.

In the debate following the chancellor's speech Herr Trimborn, on behalf of the Centrum, condemned both a peace of aggression and a peace of renunciation. He demanded a peace by conciliation, guaranteeing Germany's integrity, the security of its frontiers and its complete independence, especially economic. He said the chancellor has the Centrum's full confidence.

Herr Scheidemann, for the socialists, said his party considered the new government an advance, owing to the manner of its formation. The socialists would support a parliamentary government, but would oppose it where there were differences of opinion that could not be bridged.

Peoples of the warring countries must conclude peace with each other, the socialist leader added. The German people did not want the Polish crown for new duchies. Poland, Lithuania and other territories might determine their future as they liked. He declared that German labor joyfully welcomed and supported the first peace step of the Russian revolution and ardently awaited the day when the workers of France and Great Britain would meet them along the same lines. The development which had become irresistible in Russia would also penetrate, he hoped, to other countries. Russia was not defeated in this war, only those were defeated who desired to fight to the bitter end.

Deputy Fischbeck, a progressive, said he rejoiced at the chancellor's words regarding the Russian offer of a peaceful rapprochement and declared that the chancellor's policy was calculated to pave the way for reciprocal confidence.

The Russian offer must be given full importance, Herr Haase, independent socialist, declared, but a separate peace with Russia is not enough. He added, "We want a general peace without annexation east or west."
