

U. P. OFFICIALS FIND PROSPERITY IN WEST

Traffic Director Says Pacific Northwest Country Had Good Crops and Satisfactory Prices.

Union Pacific men of the traffic and advertising departments from the territory west of the Missouri river who attended a meeting in Portland, Ore., have returned, accompanied by B. L. Winchell, director of traffic, who was in the Pacific coast country at the time.

Have Community Warehouses.

In the sound country of the Pacific coast region farmers, communities, individuals and firms have developed an idea for the storage of grains and produce in cases where facilities are not available for moving out. In many places in thickly settled portions of the country community storehouses have been constructed, some under and some above ground. Into these farmers put their potatoes, vegetables and apples, keeping them cool and in good condition until such time as cars are available for making shipments.

In the cities and in many of the small towns storage facilities have been provided by firms and individuals and in this way the surplus is taken care of until it can be sent on to market.

Big Sales Congress May Meet in Omaha

If the plans of many prominent Omaha business men carry more than 6,000 delegates to the World's Salesmanship congress will meet in Omaha next June for a five-day convention. Omaha, according to prominent members of the congress, ranks high as a possible site for the third annual session of the great organization.

Since its inception in July, 1916, the World's Salesmanship congress has held both its sessions in Detroit. President Wilson traveled from Washington to Detroit to endorse the movement and to deliver the inaugural address. The first session was attended by over 4,000 sales executives and business men from every state in the country. The second session, held last June, was attended by more than 4,500 delegates from the 45 salesmanship clubs established by the congress in leading cities. The opening address was delivered by Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation.

The Salesmanship club of Omaha is the local branch of the congress. Prominent among its executives are the following: Joseph Barker, R. E. Harris, G. H. Booth, W. R. Butler, H. G. Hoel, Charles Koethen, Robert D. Connell, John Cogan and T. B. Coleman.

Franklin Contest Wins Big Money for Leaders

Over 200 Franklin men throughout the country are taking part for the two weeks beginning November 26 in the extensive competitive publicity effort having a purse of $2,600 at stake. The winner of this event, the show-the-car contest, will be the dealer or salesman who gives a scenic ride in the Franklin car to the greatest number of important passengers.

The purse will be shared in by the 20 men with the highest scores, the individual prizes ranging from $500 to $50. The man with the 13th highest score can consider himself lucky, as this position bears a special prize of $150.

A unique feature of this contest is that it reverses the obligation attached to the usual demonstration, inasmuch as the passenger, instead of being a "prospect" is simply a participant in what the Franklin company regards as the equivalent of a nation-wide sampling campaign.

Telephone Company to Fly Big Military Service Flag

A large military service flag, bearing in blue stars the figures "6863," has been ordered by the Nebraska Telephone company and will be hung in front of the main entrance to the telephone building at Eighteenth and Douglas streets.

The figures "6863" represent the number of employees from the Bell system who are in military service. It is planned to change the numbers on the flag from time to time as more employees join the colors.

Every state in the union is represented on the banner, as well as every branch of the service. The army signal corps claimed a large percentage of the telephone men, their training especially fitting them for government service.

Sixty-three men from the Omaha office are represented on the service banner. The company has lost one man in six out of its maintenance and construction forces.

"Orders is Orders" Says New Recruit in Matrimony

Miss Merle Hookstra, of the faculty of the High School of Commerce, took a humorous view of the situation, when she tendered her resignation to the Board of Education.

"I am under orders to report to Camp Logan, Tex., and you know that military orders are imperative," she wrote.

"I am going as Mrs. H. F. Doyle. My husband is master signal electrician," she added by way of explanation.

Persistent Advertising Is the Road to Success.

Brunner Jewelry company, whose vault in the Brandeis building was blown open and $3,400 worth of watches and jewelry stolen one Sunday afternoon some months ago, has received a confirmation from state supreme court of its judgment against the Fidelity and Casualty Insurance company for $4,200.

own. However, the general shrinkage as compared with the same date of one year ago is 2,165,000 bushels in the aggregate. According to the figures of the inspection department of the Omaha grain exchange, in bushels, the grain in storage now and one year ago is:

Oats	717,000	1,359,000

Totals	1,327,000	2,485,000

Commissioners Vote Extra $1,000 for Smallpox Hospital was given as the reason for this emergency measure.

Widening of Twentieth Street Before Council

The city planning commission will meet property owners in the city council chamber at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to consider the project of widening Twentieth street from Leavenworth to Dodge street.

It is proposed to widen this street to 80 feet on the west side from Leavenworth to Farnam streets and on the east side from Farnam to Dodge streets. Methods of assessing the cost will be discussed at this meeting.

Some one would like to rent just the kind of room you have vacant. Tell them about it in the next issue of The Bee.

COUNTY FOOD MEN HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Retailer's Committee of Food Administration is to Meet Here on Friday.

County food administrators from all the counties in the state are to be in Omaha Wednesday of this week for a school of instruction, when the work and policies of the Nebraska food administration will be outlined to them by State Food Administrator Wattles. They will be instructed, among other things, to hold mass meetings in their respective counties when the food conservation program will be outlined to the people, and when other patriotic talks will be made. They are also to extend the food pledge card campaign further.

Friday of this week the newly appointed retailer's committee of the state food administration is to meet in Omaha in the forenoon. The wholesaler's committee is to meet in the afternoon, and in the evening the two committees will meet jointly and probably appoint their joint price fixing committee. The price-fixing committee will act with State Food Administrator Wattles in an advisory capacity, recommending the prices to the federal food administration, where the final steps are taken in price-fixing.

Railroads Report Daily to Chicago Food Administrator

Omaha railroad officials have been advised that under the terms of a new agreement all roads entering Chicago make reports daily through their traffic departments to the local food administrator there. These reports show the date of arrival of every carload of food and vegetables that has been delayed three days or longer, either awaiting unloading or re-shipment.

Whenever foodstuffs or vegetables are found to be damaged by frost or otherwise, or being unduly held, the consignments are assembled and inspected. All that is unfit for human consumption is hauled away and dumped. All stuff fit for human use is turned over to the various charities of the city.

Like A Boy at 50 Bubbling Over With Vitality - Taking Iron Did It

Doctor says Nuxated Iron is greatest of all strength builders - Often increases the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous folks 100 per cent in two weeks' time.

BOSTON, MASS.—Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of 20 and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact a young man he really was notwithstanding his age. The secret he said was taking iron—nuxated iron had filled him with renewed life. At 30 he was in bad health; at 46 he was careworn and nearly all in. Now at 50 after taking Nuxated Iron a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with buoyancy of youth. As I have said a hundred times over, iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak or run-down, instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages I am convinced that in this way they could ward off disease, prevent it becoming organic in thousands of cases and thereby the lives of thousands might be saved who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, kidney, liver, heart trouble and other dangerous maladies. The real and true cause which started their disease was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prizefighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the arena, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.—E. Sauer, M.D.

Temperance and Prohibition

In this time of war, when every national energy is directed to thoughts of national protection, it is inevitable that the country should be confronted with the problem of Intemperance. It is more insistently necessary than ever before to recognize that it is a paramount public duty to preserve the highest qualities of American manhood unimpaired by any form of Intemperance.

In the anxious, almost hysterical desire to do something first, and to consider later its wisdom, there was much clamor for National Prohibition.

Russia, aforesaid the Land of Vodka and of Misery, and then the Land of Prohibition by Ukase, was cited as the Exemplar of man's readiness to become abstinent by Fiat.

Russia today, in her riot of License and Anarchy, is the Exemplar of the swing of the human pendulum to violent extremes.

Life, as Men in their ignorance seek to make it, is a pendulum, swinging forever to extremes. Life, as Wisdom knows it, avoids all excesses. Life's pendulum cannot hold fast at either extreme.

Prohibition is the pendulum's extreme swing from Intemperance. In steady equilibrium stands TEMPERANCE, moderating the extremes of both madesses.

Prohibition makes abstainers only of those who WILL to abstain, and more eager drunkards of those who WILL to be drunken.

True Temperance makes no abstainers by coercion and encourages no drunkards. "No nation is drunken where wine is cheap," wrote Thomas Jefferson out of his wisdom and knowledge, "and none sober where the dearness of wine substitutes ardent spirits as the common beverage."

Thus he enunciated a Universal Principle. Whether we say wine or beer—with less than one-third the alcoholic content of wine—the Principle is the same and is known to the Experience of the Ages.

This Principle is now firmly fixed in our Federal laws—and will produce a more truly NATIONAL TEMPERANCE than the coercion of Prohibition.
