

OMAHAN INJURED IN TROOP TRAIN WRECK SUNDAY

Emil J. Hansen Suffers From Bruised Head and is Taken to Camp Grant.

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 3.—The 37 soldiers of the Eighty-sixth division of the national army and the five civilians who suffered minor injuries when a special troop train on the Illinois Central was derailed last night near Granger, Ill., were reported in no danger today.

About 800 soldiers were returning to Camp Grant after a two-day holiday in Chicago when the accident occurred, one car being overturned.

The entire camp was thrown into excitement at midnight when exaggerated news of the accident reached headquarters.

After various versions of the cause of the accident had become current the reports simmered down to virtually two causes, a broken coupling and a split switch.

Officials of the railroad announced that the wreck was caused by a broken brake rod, which, dragging beneath the tank of the engine, struck the point of a switch and opened it, deflecting the coaches from the main track.

Among the injured who were taken to Camp Grant were:

EMIL J. HANSEN, head bruised; 1621 Oak street, Omaha, Neb.

JOHN E. HAYWARD of Salt Lake City, Utah, whose back was injured.

WARREN MILLER, back hurt; Southwest Temple street, Salt Lake City, Utah.

BIG 'Y. W.' DRIVE WILL START THIS WEEK

Association Launches Campaign for $35,000 in Omaha at Commercial Club.

"The Young Women's Christian association did not volunteer, but was drafted to do this work," declared Miss Ada Starkweather, national war work secretary of the association, speaking at the Commercial club Monday noon at a luncheon which inaugurated the association's drive for $35,000 in Omaha as its part of a national fund of $4,000,000 for war work.

"Government representatives not only of our own nation, but of nearly all the allied nations came to us and asked or rather demanded that we undertake to do this work for women."

Among the things she mentioned for which the fund is to be used are huts where the nurses in France and other countries can go and find rest and refinement after their long tours on duty; "canteens" for girl workers in newly created war work factories; "hostess houses" for the use of women visitors at the various cantonments in the United States.

Government Co-Operation.

"We don't want you to give to the Young Women's Christian association fund unless you believe in it," said Miss Starkweather. "But when you understand the objects, you cannot help believing in them. In every instance we have been asked by the government to do the work we are doing. Commandants of the cantonments have asked for the hostess houses. The military authorities have asked for the nurses' huts. In many places these activities are already in operation and with the greatest success."

"Mrs. Henry P. Davison of New York, our treasurer and wife of President Davison of the Red Cross, built the first hostess house at her own expense as a sort of experiment. Now we have them in nearly every cantonment."

J. A. Sunderland presided. The Omaha campaign begins Wednesday. A large number of teams have been appointed to do the soliciting. Mrs. J. P. Lord announced that the committees will make their first reports Thursday noon at the Young Women's Christian association.

"We expect to raise the whole $35,000 this week," she said.

The local executive committee consists of Mrs. J. P. Lord, Mrs. J. T. Stewart, 2d; Mrs. J. F. Carpenter, Mrs. J. M. Akin and Clarke Powell and Miss Dora Alexander.

Street Car Lines to be Extended on South Side

The city council committee of the whole agreed to grant to the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company a permit to construct an extension from Twenty-fourth and O streets to Nineteenth and W streets. Citizens of the Mandan park district asked that the extension be made to Fifteenth and Y streets.

The traction company will build an extension from Thirty-sixth and Q streets south on Thirty-sixth street to Y street if the property owners will widen that thoroughfare.

TWENTY LINES UNDER FEDERAL FOOD LICENSE

Department of Justice Will Prosecute Those Who Violate Rules of Administration Effective Dec. 1.

More than 20 lines of business, involving the handling of foodstuffs, should be under license at this time. Any of them not under a license since December 1 are in line for punishment if their cases are reported.

One of the important new departments of the food administration in Nebraska is the license department. A man to be at the head of this department will be appointed shortly. The federal food administration is urging now that anyone having knowledge of a dealer who is operating without a license, where that neglect seems to be anything more than an oversight, should report to Washington at once, so that the case may be referred to the Department of Justice for prosecution.

Report Two Places.

These are the people who should be licensed since December 1, and who will consequently have to make reports regularly to the state food administration and to the federal food administration at Washington:

Wholesale and retail dealers, commission men, brokers, auctioneers, wholesale and retail dealers in perishables, commission men, brokers and auctioneers in perishables, jobbers, suppliers of hotels, rough rice dealers, bean dealers, cold storage operators, cheese manufacturers, car-load lot potato shippers, manufacturers of dried fruits, milk dealers, dealers in peas and pea seeds, bread bakers.

All these will be compelled to make monthly reports, the details of which will be made known to them in due time.

Report to Washington.

Another line of industries will have to furnish monthly reports to the Washington office alone, but none to the state food administrator. This is because this particular class of industries handles an interstate business largely.

Those who will make the report to the federal food administration are: Corn millers, oats millers, rye and barley millers, rice millers, beet sugar manufacturers, cane sugar manufacturers, cane sugar refiners, corn products manufacturers and syrup mixers, cotton seed crushers, other oil crushers, cotton seed merchants, other oil and cake merchants, packers of salmon and sardines, manufacturers of condensed milk, etc., packers of vegetables.
