

U. S. WARSHIP SENT TO BOTTOM BY GERMAN SUB

Thirty-Seven Taken Off One Life Raft; Meager Details Reveal Little Information of Sinking.

1,150 tons and a length of 310 feet over all. It was completed in 1916 at the plant of the New York Shipbuilding company, Camden, N. J. It burned oil, was driven by turbine engines and had a speed of 29.57 knots an hour.

Lost in Night Attack.
The attack, which was at 8 o'clock at night, was delivered by torpedo. In the rolling, icy seas of the North Atlantic winter weather the submarine probably had plenty of opportunity to pick her time for the shot. The submarine probably came upon the destroyer while she was on a night engagement. No details were contained in today's report, but it has been the case here before that when a submarine gets a hit on a destroyer it is more due to a chance meeting and good opportunity than fighting on the part of the submarine.

The last of life would indicate that the torpedo, with its deadly charge of high explosive, made a fair hit plump on the destroyer's thin hull and that the submarine hunter probably was blown fairly in two. That went down quickly is evidenced by the fact that nothing is said of survivors, getting off a lifeboat. Those saved got off on rafts which probably floated off the sinking ship as it plunged down in the icy darkness.

Navy officers and officials took pride in the fact that the Jacob Jones and its crew had written new honors into navy records before the vessel fell victim to an enemy torpedo.

Saves British Cruiser.
In October the Jones went gallantly to the rescue of the British converted cruiser Orama, accompanied by another American destroyer, when the former P. and O. liner was torpedoed. They attacked and put the submarine out of commission and then when the cruiser began to settle, transferred all on board to their own decks without accident.

The Jones carried 305 British seamen to safety.

A letter from the commander of the Orama to the senior American officer of the two destroyers gave high praise to the courage and skill of the Americans.

Fears are expressed that a former Omaha man, Lieutenant Stanton Kalk, went down with the United States destroyer Jacob Jones that was supposed to have been torpedoed somewhere in the Atlantic Thursday.

Lieutenant Kalk was a member of the crew of the Jacob Jones when last heard from by Omaha friends. That was a few weeks ago. He was an ensign on the vessel. His entrance into the navy was through a Nebraska appointment to the naval school at Annapolis.

The lieutenant was a grandson of the late General T. H. Stanton, who for years resided in Omaha, making his home here after his retirement from the army.

Mrs. Kalk, mother of Lieutenant Kalk is now in the city, visiting at the home of T. F. Kennedy, 127 North Forty-second street.

All Other Remedies Failed. PERUNA Made Me Well

Mrs. Maggie Durbin, No. 209 Victory St., Little Rock Ark., writes: "I was troubled for five years with a chronic disease. I tried everything I heard of, but nothing did me any good. Some doctors said my trouble was catarrh of the bowels, and some said consumption of the bowels. One doctor said he could cure me. I took his medicine two months, but it did me no good. A friend of mine advised me to try Peruna, and I did so. After I had taken two bottles I found it was helping me, so I continued its use, and it has cured me sound and well. I can recommend Peruna to anyone, and if any one wants to know what Peruna did for me if they will write to me I will answer promptly."

I Can Recommend Peruna to Everyone, As it Cured Me.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.
