Something Worth Knowing

Do you know that corn yields as well on our land in north Florida as in Neraska and grades as well or better and that velvet beans raised with the corn is equal in value to the corn as a hog and cattle food? That most of the corn is planted after a crop of potatoes, oats, rye, rape or other winter crop? That stock is not subjected to the extremes of heat and cold as in the north? That no one crop country can begin to compete with it as a hog and cattle country? That we are only 50 miles to stock yards and Armour's only 50 miles to stock yards and Armour's and other packing plants? That land is For fuller information inquire of Butcher Cattle Stock Active and 15c Higher; Hog Prices Steady; Feeder Sheep Draggy.

Cattle-Receipts were moderate again to-day, but heavy runs and lower markets at day, but heavy runs and lower markets at some other points, and congested traffic conditions made buyers slow about starting. Quite a few native steers were here, none of them very choice, and hardly any sold up to a late hour. On anything except the weightier cattle opening sales of grass beeves were about steady. Butcher stock was more active than anything else, and prices were fully steady to in spots 10 glischigher. Stocker and feeder trade was in pretty much the same condition as on Monday. Arrivals were not very large, but owing to the continued cold weather there was not much outside demand, and outside of a few good medium weight feeders which looked fully steady trade was slow and weak.

Hogs-Receipts of hogs today were fairly liberal and trade opened rather slow and draggy. Shippers were taking a few of the draggy. Shippers were taking a few of the early hogs at prices about steady. Packer trade was about on the same basis, although the undertone to the trade was inclined to be a little weak. Choice hogs crossed the scales at $17.45, with the bulk going from $17.25 to $17.35. The general trade ruled about steady. Trade in stock pigs was again rather dull. Bidding was around $17.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS. Little Belief from Car Scarcity Gives Bulls

Advantage in Corn Market.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Assertions that but little actual relief from car scarcity had yet been witnessed gave bulls an advantage today in the corn market. Prices closed firm, %6%c net higher, with January $1.21% and May $1.18%61.19%. Oats gained %c to 1%61%c Provisions finished unchanged to 20c lower.

Offerings of corn proved exceedingly small, as the railroads were apparently crippled by the prevailing cold weather. Moreover, opinion seemed general that no great increase of arrivals would take place until better weather conditions afforded material help to railroad efficiency. Under such circumstances the market hardened from the outset and bullish sentiment was further emphasized by correct anticipations Advantage in Corn Market.

further emphasized by correct anticipations that the final government estimate of the crop would show a falling off as compared with the last previous official reports.
Oats like corn received an upward impulse from the unfavorable weather and from the curtailment of receipts. The reduction of the government crop estimate was not expected, but the announcement of the new total came too late to be a market

Provisions advanced with grain, but later underwent a sag on account of realizing by holders. The selling was associated with predictions of some therease in the hog

U. P. Conducts Information School for Its Employes

That employes may know more of the country through which the lines are operated, the Union Pacific is conducting a school for information. Sessions are held each night from 8 to 10 o'clock and in the rooms of Immigration and Colonization Agent Smith. Tonight the state of Utah will be studied and Wednesday night Nebraska will be the topic for discussion.

The attendance at the Union Pacific school of information is about 100. The lecturer is V. S. Peet, who each night shows 100 lantern slides of agricultural and horticultural scenes. The slides were made from protographs.

FAILURE, HOOVER

President of Nebraska Farm. ers' Union Refutes Charge of Hoarding Sugar; Federal Prices Go Upward.

C. H. Gustafson, president of the Nebraska Farmers' union and also president of the mercantile business of the organization, has just returned from Washington. "It has been stated that we have been prevented from getting sugar for the reason that it has been charged that our members have been accused of hoarding. This is not true," said Mr. Gustafson. "Right now we are sending out sugar from our Omaha warehouse and in 100-pound lots to our members and expect to continue doing so. We believe that this is the economic method of handling sugar. Asking people to buy sugar in 10-pound lots is an economic loss and should not be permitted to continue.

"While in Washington, with the presidents of the Farmers' unions of Kansas and Oklahoma, I had conferences with both President Wilson and Food Administrator Hoover. We went over the whole situation with reference to cost and selling prices, as well as the labor situation. Relative to the labor problem, we were assured by President Wilson that a plan is being worked out for the solution of the farm labor question next

Price Fixing a Failure

"Mr. Hoover told me that up to this time the price fixing has been considerable of a failure. He added that until congress gives him more power, he is utterly helpless to bring about the results he desires. He will soon go before congress and ask for additional power in the premises. "In all this talk about price fixing on commodities that enter into the daily consumption of the people of the community, I notice that selling prices have been fixed. I also notice that the fixing has been upward. rather than downward, something that I fancy is not entirely satisfactory to the consumer. While this has been done and the merchant has been told what he may charge for the necessities of life, we have gone along in our own way and without any boasting, or rushing into public print, have fixed prices at which we will sell goods to our members. These prices are much lower than those fixed by the food administration agent, and even at these prices the union is not losing any money in the transaction." Satisfied With Profits.

"As to the charge by some of our merchant friends and some of the food administration agents that we are selling sugar at a loss, just as an advertisement, I want to say that we are satisfied with our profits," said Frank Myers, manager of the mercantile decouraging hoarding and will not sell this material when new. He says after their marriage in May, 1917, he deeded the farm to her with the understanding that he was in fact to remain the owrer and have the use of it. The quarter section, which is located in South Dakota, sold for the amount he is suing for.

Deshler Firm is Fined Under Child Labor Act

The first Nebraska prosecution un-der the national child labor act was brought to a successful issue when Judge T. C. Munger in Lincoln fined the Deshler broom factory, Deshler, Neb., $10 on each of 16 counts alleging violation of the act.

Eight of the counts alleged the employment of children under 14 years of age and the other eight alleged the employment of children between 14 and 16 years of age more than eight hours a day.
