

HARTY WILL CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY HERE

ARCHBISHOP CAME TO OMAHA YEAR AGO AS HEAD OF CHURCH

Rapidly Pushing Educational Interests and Raising Large Sum for Completion of New Cathedral to be Masterpiece of Architecture; Great Work Accomplished in Philippines.

Today marks the first anniversary of Archbishop Harty's arrival in Omaha.

Just a year ago he reached the Gate City, coming from the Philippine islands, where he had for more than 12 years governed the see of Manila with its Catholic population of more than 1,500,000.

His administration in the Philippines fell in troubled times, due to the grave problems that resulted from the transfer of the islands from the sovereignty of Spain to that of the United States. His labors in the Philippines, not merely in matters pertaining directly to religion, but also to those that concerned their social and financial activities, met with success.

Gives Co-Operation Credit.

When Archbishop Harty was approached by a reporter for The Bee in relation to his first year in the diocese of Omaha, he stated that whatever had been done was largely due to the co-operation of priests and people with him in the work which he had mapped out.

Speaking of the men and women of the diocese of Omaha, the archbishop said the word to describe them is "magnanimous;" it was easy for him with such priests and such people to accomplish things for religion, the growth of the diocese and the civic development of Omaha.

The influence of Archbishop Harty in the Philippines is crystallized in the following editorial, published in a daily paper of Manila, in part as follows:

Years in Philippines.

"Regretfully the day has come when Archbishop Harty is to leave these beautiful Philippine shores. Our beloved and most esteemed Archbishop Harty, after having spent the long period of 13 years among us, will embark tomorrow for America, perhaps never to return.

"We do not doubt that his paternal heart will be sad on saying farewell to our Philippine people. One suffers on leaving what one loves. And our archbishop, whom we can never forget, must needs love with his whole heart the Philippine people, because he has defended them, he has established them—they are in a sense the fruit of his zeal, his labor, his life. Let our well beloved archbishop know that his beneficent name remains graven in glorious letters on the soul of the Philippine people. Neither time nor distance will be able to cover it with the dust of forgetfulness. Of this we can assure him loyally from this instant."

New Centers of Religion.

The parish, or a group of people under a spiritual head, is the unit of ecclesiastical administration. Its center is the church, with its school and social influences, that always cluster about both. It is dynamic of religion. Since Archbishop Harty arrived there have been eight new parishes established in Omaha, 11 established outside the city, cornerstones laid for three new churches, four churches dedicated and four new rectories and schools built.

New Projects.

Property has been purchased in Fairacres with the view of erecting on it an artistic church in a beautiful style of architecture.

In the interests of education the Bishop O'Connor hall, once the residence of President Clark, formerly of the Union Pacific, has been remodeled and furnished as a home for out of town students who wish to pursue high school, college, or university courses. It is situated on the corner of Cass and Twenty-fifth streets. It will accommodate 60 students. In the rear there is an airy and well heated building which is used principally for indoor games. The director is the Very Rev. J. Hettwer. A community of Benedictine sisters take care of the domestic department.

Archbishop Harty has recently leased the Byron Reed residence on the corner of Twenty-fifth and Dodge. There is accommodation for 40 boys. This school is intended for the protection and education of such as are without proper care and hence are in danger of being led into evil ways.

The Cathedral.

The construction of the cathedral was well under way when Archbishop Harty took over the responsibility of finishing it and of paying off the debt on it. For this purpose he has added considerable sums to the money previously contributed. Priests and people have responded with generosity.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "foggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

Red Cross to Open Public Shop in Downtown Section

"We find we have got to have a downtown shop, a workshop where the patriotic women of Omaha can come in and give us an hour or so of their time making bandages, supplies, etc., for the Red Cross," remarked Gould Dietz, local chairman. "I am scouring Omaha for a suitable place and will open it just as soon as we can. Thousands of Omaha women cannot spare much time from their homes, but when shopping downtown we want them to come into the public shop and give us an hour or so on this gravely important work."

MEN OF 'UNLUCKY SEVENTH' ARE IN STATE OF 'BLUES'

Officers Put on Confident Front and Aver Things Will Come Out O. K. in the Long Run.

Who will be the next five desperate daredevils to fill up the gaps in Companies E, F and G, the Omaha units of Governor Neville's regiment, the "Unlucky Seventh"?

Just five more men are needed, and then the companies will be filled to their quotas. After that a waiting list will be established—but just how long they would have to wait was not stated. It is authentically stated at headquarters that but five men from Omaha units asked for discharges in time to enable them to enlist in the regular army.

The guards are still buoyed up with hope that "the every effort which is being made to have the Seventh regiment recognized and drafted into federal service" will bear fruit and that within a short time the War department at Washington will obtain cognizance of the real injustice that has been meted out to the "Unlucky Seventh" by rescinding certain orders and calling the regiment to the defense of the colors.

Answer Foolish Questions.

The officers are cheerful and confident, and with an inexhaustible supply of patience they are calmly answering foolish questions and advising the guards to "bide a wee."

While it is clearly evident from their actions that the guards are discouraged and disappointed, they are bearing it bravely and with great fortitude.

"Aw, what's the use of being knoekers?" asserted one guard. "We'll get a chance after while—everybody knows that. Every cloud has a silver lining, they tell me, and all we fellows have to do is to turn the cloud inside out."

Salvation Army Again Will Give Dinner to Worthy Poor

The Salvation Army is busily preparing for its Christmas dinner. As usual this organization will do its share in distributing the generous bounty of the public of Omaha. Captain J. A. Mace, officer in charge, expects to give several hundred baskets to the worthy poor.

Every case will be carefully investigated and only the worthy poor will be considered. The poor children also will be remembered. The pathetic cases, Mrs. P. was left destitute by her husband with three small children. To provide for them she sold all her furniture, believing that would tide her over until she could find some work, but her money gave out and she was without coal and food.

The captain heard of the story and supplied not only her needs in providing food and fuel, but bought her some furniture and now the woman is able to make a little for the children.

A South Side doctor reported a case where a woman, a widow, was dying, with several children on her hands. Baskets were sent to her at once.

The need this year is just as great as ever and Captain Mace is sure that the public will help.

Ice Harvest of State Is Now in Full Swing

Ice cutting goes merrily on, with all the companies engaged in the business working as many men as they can find. At Valentine the Northwestern has started cutting 12-inch ice to fill the ice houses along its line.

At North Platte and Gothenburg, where the Pacific Express company harvests the most of its ice for the Union Pacific lines through Nebraska and for its own use in icing refrigerator cars, cutting will not begin until late next week unless the weather should continue very cold. At these two points it is reported that the ice is seven inches thick.

To take care of the business on its western lines the Burlington is cutting ice off a lake at Curtis and at some points in Wyoming. Cutting at Ashland is not likely to start until next week.

The Pretext for National Prohibition

The plea for National Prohibition is made on the ground that the Prohibition States could not protect themselves against liquor shipments from "Wet" States.

This plausible reason no longer exists. The Webb-Kenyon Law, together with the Reed Amendment (generally known as the "Bone-Dry" Law), forbid any railroad or express company to transport liquor into States whose laws prohibit it, and make it a crime for anyone to bring liquor into any Prohibition State.

If a State wants to be "Bone-Dry," it can become so by adopting State Prohibition, with the assurance that the Federal Government will see to it that no liquor is shipped in.

The amended Webb-Kenyon Law was passed in recognition of the right of each State to adopt its own policy on liquor legislation free from outside interference. For the same reason those States which do not want Prohibition must have the same right of protection for their policy FREE FROM OUTSIDE INTERFERENCE.

It would be most unfair to coerce by Prohibition those States that long ago discovered Prohibition to be a fallacy and a failure.
