Mrs. Porter Askew Has Big Job
Answering Queries at Red Cross

Mrs. Porter Askew

Mrs. Porter Askew is the woman who came into local prominence by answering questions. Strange, yes, but true. Mrs. Askew answers all the questions at headquarters for the Red Cross Christmas week drive, where she is in charge of the information booth.

Mrs. Askew's throat gave out after two days of "informationing," but like a true soldier, she was back at her post after a short absence, answering more questions than ever.

We almost forgot to mention that Mrs. Askew also answers every telephone call which comes into campaign headquarters. Then she transfers each call to the party for whom it is intended; that is, if it isn't just "info" they want.

Some job!

Mrs. Porter Askew

HOTEL FONTENELLE
"Where Christmas Reigns Supreme"

A New Novel by the Nebraska
Writer, Mrs. Anna C. Newbigging
"A Cry of the Soul"

A ROMANCE OF 1862.

An open air story of primitive conditions and stout hearts, and, primarily of a royal battle between love and faith.

The story opens in New York in 1861, though the Civil War has little to do with it, for it follows the fortunes of a train of Mormon convert emigrants crossing the continent to Utah by ox team and on horseback, and flood, fire, pestilence, wild beasts and Indians left scant leisure for politics on a cross-country trip those days.

It is a tale to make the blood race, and he who "loves a lover" or an adventure will find both here, and much to his liking.

Published by Sherman, French & Co., Boston, Mass.; the letter press is high-class, on good paper, and handsomely bound in cloth. Price, $1.50.
