Authorities Tighten Nets Around German Colonies

Nebraska's German colonies and settlements are beginning to feel the iron hand of the law. George F. Kenower, publisher of the Wisner Chronicle, one of the oldest country weeklies in the state, has been summoned to Lincoln to appear before the state council of defense. Mr. Kenower is said to have made disloyal remarks on various occasions and, in addition, to have refused to give free publicity to the Red Cross or any allied organizations.

THREE DEATHS FROM DIPHTHERIA IN WEEK

Health Commissioner Connell Makes Statement as to the Use of Antitoxin for Patients.

Three deaths from diphtheria within a week have prompted Health Commissioner Connell to make this announcement to physicians:

"Not less than 10,000 units of antitoxin should be used for the initial dose in any case and in most cases 20,000 units should be used. There is no more danger in 20,000 units than in 500 units. There will be no mistake in applying a large dose, but there may be in a small dose. If there is not a decided improvement in pulse action within eight hours, the dose should be repeated even if the initial dose was 20,000 units."

The ages of the three diphtheria victims reported during the last week were 9, 13 and 23 years.

In the case of a woman 23 years of age, residing on Twenty-fifth avenue, between Poppleton and Woolworth avenues, the first physician attending her treated for quinsy and ended the patient ride down town in a street car to his office. Another physician was called and at once pronounced that the patient had diphtheria in an advanced stage. The woman choked to death.

The name of the first physician in this case is the subject of considerable criticism in the neighborhood.

FARMERS DIVIDE WITH NEIGHBORS

E. R. Goodman of North Platte Says They Divvy Up On Some of Hoardings.

Farmers of Lincoln county are dividing with their neighbors certain stores of staple necessities which they had accumulated before the anti-hoarding rule of the food administration went into effect, according to E. R. Goodman of North Platte, county food administrator for that county.

Mr. Goodman has just paid a visit to the state food administrator in Omaha. He says the people of his county are showing a great willingness to co-operate in the food conservation movement and in the work of enforcing the rules of the food administration.

Where farmers had laid in large stocks of sugar and flour before the anti-hoarding rule went into effect, he says, they are now willing to divide these groceries with neighbors who are having a hard time to get enough at the stores.
