NEXT DRAFT WILL COME FROM MEN OF LARGE CITIES

General Crowder Taking Young Men Whose Places Can Be Filled by Women.

Drafting of the first class men only as proposed to congress by Provost General Crowder would mean that the bulk of the army would be made up of men from the larger cities.

These men, it is argued by exemption officials, can easily be spared. and at the same time the young married men of the rural districts would be allowed to remain at home and do mans. It was suggested that the intheir part in tilling the soil and help- formation could be best secured at ing to grow the enormous amounts of foodstuffs that will be needed by the United States to not only feed its own forces, but the forces of the associate even suggest that it may mean wholenations as well.

Taking men from the city rather though this is not considered likely. than from the rural districts in order to fill the state's quota is thought to be a new movement on the part of the War department to take only those men whose places can be filled by women without seriously interfering with the organization and discipline of the city firms.

It is pointed out that every time a drafted his place must be filled by an than the rate of 6.4 for 1916. older man, who does not possess the pep that is so essential to present day farming methods.

Commissioners Satisfied With New Police Station Site

City commissioners are well satisfied with the site for the new central police station at the northwest corner of Fifteenth and Davenport streets. Reports of dissatisfaction reached the city hall, but no serious objection has been expressed. Superintendent Kugel of the police department be-lieves the price of $23,650 was reasonalle, and he also believes that if the agent of the city in this deal would have revealed his real purpose the price probably would have been much higher.

Sit Saturday Morning FORT SOLDIERS CONSERVE FOOD TO HELP SAMMIES

Army Post Men Will Consume More Non-Exportable Articles and Aid Fighters in Europe.

Food conservation is to be extended to Fort Omaha and Fort Crook. Details rémain yet to be worked out, but the general plan is that the soldiers at the posts will consume more of the non-exportable foods, and thus help to conserve beef, pork, white flour and other exportable staples to be sent to their comrades in the trenches.

Co-operation of the soldiers in the plans of the federal food administration was assured when Colonel H. B. Hersey, in command at Fort Omaha, and Colonel Douglas Settle, in command at Fort Crook, met with 'G. W. Wattles, food administrator for Ne-

The soldiers will be given an opportunity to sign, voluntarily, food pledge cards which will be distributed among them. Colonel Hersey and Colonel Settle will appoint boards of officers for conservation work at the posts. The duty of these boards will be to outline plans for the conservation work, and see that these plans are carried out.

Will Follow Suggestions.

As far as possible the suggestions of the food administration in regard to conservation and substitution of foods will be followed. Whatever modifications are necessary to meet the requirements of the camps will be

Later representatives of the home economics department of the food administration for Nebraska will visit the camps and outline methods by which the foods at the camps can be adapted to the administration suggestions without crippling the mess.
