

FEDERAL FOOD SPEAKERS WILL TOUR THE STATE

Bring First-Hand Information of Actual Conditions in Warring Countries and Training Methods.

Bringing first hand information of actual food conditions in the warring countries, federal food speakers will be in Nebraska the week of February 25 to March 2. This information has come to Gurdon W. Wattles, federal food administrator for Nebraska, from Washington.

The tour of the state will open with meetings in Omaha and Lincoln, after which the teams will tour the state, one working from Omaha in the northern part of the state and the other from Lincoln through the southern part of the state.

The itineraries of the speakers will be under the direction of Mr. Wattles, who will cover the state as thoroughly as possible.

John B. Lord, one of the men sent across, has written as follows:

"We have read of the women of France; the women of England are just as remarkable, and their sacrificing spirit to aid their country is just as superb.

"We inspected one of the training camps where women get intensive farm training in eight weeks. The girls come from all walks of life and from all occupations. They learn to do dairying, ploughing with sturdy little tractors, seeding, planting, and in fact everything pertaining to farm life.

"After such training they go by order to any part of the country to any farm where a man can be released for military duty.

"The information these men will bring to Nebraska will be intensely interesting," said Mr. Wattles. "They will give us direct information of conditions as they exist. They will make us realize all the more keenly what our duty is after we have heard what the wonderful people, our Allies, are doing."

HANG TRAITORS TO LAMP-POSTS, GOVERNOR SAYS

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 18.—Governor John M. Holcomb, addressing a state war council here today, urged citizens to refrain from criticism of the government and to co-operate in every way possible.

Referring to the government order for a five days' suspension of factory operation, Gov. Holcomb said:

"You have seen the order in the newspapers this morning about closing the factories for five days. It is up to all of us to refrain from criticizing the government and each one of us should remember this and spread the doctrine in our home towns.

"The only way for you to fight this war is to back up your government. The trenches are now 3,000 miles away, but there are plenty of the Prussianized German element right here in this state. If we are to be loyal to our boys over there, we must not let that element show its head here.

"Lampposts have been put to other uses than for inebriates to lean against. I am not going to talk to you against law and order, but we are going to maintain law and order some way and the state is going to be kept right side up."

HERE'S HOW ON ROAST HORSE One Skeptical Person Facetiously Asks Did You Serve Hay at Your Equine Feast? AS THE BEE'S COOK SEES IT

By Irma H. Goss.
Editor Home Economics Department of The Bee.

Well—I've tried it! Horse meat, it isn't so bad either. In fact you'd think you were eating beef if someone didn't tell you what was set before you.

When The Bee asked me to write about horse meat, I said, "What do I know about horse meat? I never saw any."

The city editor said "Will you try some if we get it for you?" I said "Of course I will." And they got it. And I tried it. And I'm still living to tell the tale. So is my family still living.

Word was sent to Tom Bradstreet and Grand Island that The Bee would like some horse meat, so Tom sent down a splendid 12-pound equine roast with his compliments.

I tried it three ways. Some was stewed—just plain stew with vegetables; some was roasted; and some was braised in a casserole with onions. I roasted one piece without any manipulation and one piece I roasted after injecting pieces of fat into it.

There is a new instrument on the market for putting strips of fat into very tough meat to make the meat more tender. The instrument worked splendidly for the prepared roast was more tender than the one roasted as it was.

I like the casserole dish best of all. To make it, I tried out some of the fat in a skillet, browned three onions in the fat, then removed the onions to a casserole.

I sprinkled the piece of horse meat with salt, pepper and flour and browned it on all sides in the same skillet. I put the meat in the casserole on a layer of onions, covered it with the rest of the onions and poured hot water over it till the meat was half covered with water. I baked it in a slow oven two hours.

I've told you what I thought about it. Now I'll tell you what other persons thought.

Inquiring friends and relatives over the telephone: "Are you really eating horse meat? I don't believe it. It can't be true?"

A neighbor girl: "Gosh, don't give me very much." After tasting, "It isn't so bad after all."

A neighbor boy appeared on the scene armed with a hammer and saw. He resolutely attacked all three kinds of the delicacy. Verdict "It's a lot like beef."

A neighbor over the telephone: "No thank you, I can't come over. My life is not insured."

A loyal friend who came all of half a mile to give her opinion: "I like it just as well as buffalo steak that I tasted last week. I could get used to the flavor easily."

A skeptical masculine person: "Did you serve hay with it?"

WOMAN'S SUICIDE STIRS OFFICERS AT COUNTY JAIL

Sheriff Clark Renews Request Made Last Spring for Installation of Padded Cell.

The suicide of Terezie Benes in a cell at the county jail Wednesday morning has aroused the county officials to the necessity of a padded cell in the jail equipment.

A coroner's jury was requested to examine the case Thursday. A verdict of suicide was returned, specifically stating that no blame was attached to the jail officials.

"This case may prove an eye-opener to the county board," said Commissioner O'Connor. "We had the question of a padded cell for the jail up once before. They are not expensive to install."

Sheriff Clark requested the board to install a cell last spring when an insane prisoner tried to kill himself by jumping from a window ledge to the cement floor of his cell.

"I hope this case will hasten its installation," said Sheriff Clark. "A recommendation of the grand jury is on file with the board to the effect that a ward should be furnished for insane patients, but it has never been acted upon."

Clark is now using a room for liquor storage which, he says could very well be divided into two cells fitted with protective padding and screened windows at a small cost.

German Papers Declare Government Condon's Bigamy

(By Associated Press.)
Geneva, Jan. 18.—Several south German newspapers which have been received here raise a cry of alarm over the increase of bigamy in Germany during 1917. They say the many acquittals and the lenient sentences imposed indicate that the authorities are condoning the offense.

cause of shell shock; departure of the wife without leaving an address and infidelity on the part of a wife. Some have gone so far as to declare boldly that plural marriages are good for the nation's future. A corporal told a Munich court that he got married every time he obtained leave from the trenches and he believed he had five wives.

Eleven cases were tried in Berlin, seven in Cologne and five in Munich last December. The deceived women usually are not willing to prosecute.

One-Minute Store Talk

"Thorough Preparation Wins" Said General Pershing.

It's true, not only as applied to battles, but to our every day business life as well.

Months of steady, systematic, grinding preparation enables this store to offset war conditions, and offer clothing values unmatched in America.

JOHN A. SWANSON, Pres.

WM. L. HOLZMAN, Treas.

The "I Will" Man Says:

"My Determination to Save You Men Clothes Money"

Is the reason why, months ago, we provided for mid-winter selling thousands upon thousands of Suits and Overcoats before the enormous advance in prices."

You'll never again see such wonderful clothing values as you're privileged to buy here today. We say "privileged" because if this store had followed the custom, in force elsewhere, of "hand-to-mouth" merchandising, instead of looking ahead and preparing, no such values would be available.

Read These Facts About the Situation:

All the sheep in the world today cannot meet the greatly increased demand for wool. Wool prices have advanced from 18c before the war to over 70c per pound.

Even such a seemingly small item as the silk thread used in every seam of high grade clothing is costing our makers thousands of dollars more a day.

The pure linen canvas used in fine clothing in this country formerly came from Belgium. You can imagine how hard it is to get today.

Labor, too, was never so scarce or high priced as it is now. In fact, all that goes in the making of fine clothing has advanced in price enormously.

Such a condition is unparalleled, but thanks to Greater Nebraska foresight, you men of Omaha and vicinity have one store equipped to deliver the goods. You'll find here—

The most radical reduction sales of former seasons did not offer such an opportunity, because there's no replacing these goods—many of the fabrics we offer are entirely off the market; mills are working on Government contracts to the exclusion of civilian needs.
