New York. Jan. 21.—A lack of heat and light did not prevent the coffee market from developing a big bull movement today and prices made new high records for the present upturn. Both trade interests and commission housese were large buyers, due to the continued strength of the Brazilian. present upturn. Both trade interests and commission housese were large buyers, due to the continued strength of the Brazilian freight situation. The market opened 3 to 6 points higher and advanced steadily throughout the session, March selling from 3.36c to 8.62 and May from 8.64c to 8.86. The market closed at 1 o'clock, as it will for the next sets at 1 o'clock, as it will selling from 1.50 to s.36c to 8.62 and May from 8.64c to 8.86. The market closed at 1 o'clock, as it will for the next nine Mondays, with prices 25 to 29 points net higher and at practically best levels of the day. It was believed that conversion of vessels from the Brazilian trade to other government needs more urgent will cause a marked decrease in the movement from that country. Freights were quoted at £5.90 per bar, compared with 31.50 last week and there were some rumors incirculation that as much as £2.25 was being asked. January contracts closed $8.35. March $8.52; May $8.85. July $9.02; September $9.22; December $9.44.

Trage were no fresh cost and freight that they would be higher.

Spot coffee was firm but nominally unchanged; Rio 7's $%c; Santos 6's 10%c.

Rio exchange on London was quoted 1.32 D lower. Brazilian receipts 63,000 bags.

 Sheep—Sheep and lamb receipts were fairly liberal today. Not much relief in the way of shipping facilities, particularly for fresh siuff, made opening trade rather for fresh stuff, made opening trade rather dull. Nothing of consequence was done in the fat lamb division, and prices looked a little unsteady. Fairly active trade featured the movement in aged sheep and killer flesh, a fair grade of ewes selling around $11,40@11.50. Values looked about steady with last week. Quality of the offerings on the whole was rather plain. Few feeders were here, and demand was not overly strong. Prospects were for a nominally steady market.

New York, Jan. 21.—The most obvious large and Frozen Coal in Pockets Hinder Lighterage, But Arrivals at Tidewater Terminals Are in Larger Quantities associated. Each Day; Fewer Vessels Waiting.

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Jan. 21.—Although they were handicapped by weather conditions even worse than have prevailed for the last fortnight, railroads in the eastern territory were battling steadily today to untangle the congestion which made necessay the drastic embarge on the use of fuel. Reports received at the office of A. H. Smith, assistant director general of railroads, told of the desperate efforts that are being made to move trains Rock, Ark.; Dudley Inghram, radio. in spite of great obstacles.

ICE IN HARBOR. fic and has hampered unloading and open during the day thew were diclearing of main lines, yards, tracks, and terminals. Work of taking loaded coal barges to steamships waiting for fuel here was slow and difficult owing to ice jams in the harbor, stiffened by a high wind and a temperature of five degrees above zero. Fully sixty per cent of the fleet of tug boats has been laid up for repairs because of damages from ice. At the coal pockets frozen coal again caused great delay in loading and unloading. RUSH COAL TO DOCKS.

For the 24 hours ending at six a. m today, it was announced that 1,402 cars of anthracite and bituminous coal had been dumped at tidewater terminals, compared with 1,464 the day before. At tidewater yards were 2,019 cars of anthracite and 1,469 of bituminous. The day previous there hours of tidewater were 1,041 cars of anthracite and 236 of bituminous. There were 321 vessels waiting for previous 24 hour period.

Coal to New England. Coal handled for New England showed an increase in the last 24 hours. The fuel administration's coal embargo gradually relieves the shortage in New York and its suburbs, the city looked forward cheerfully to its first "heatless Monday." Clearer understanding of what the government desires has brightened the outlook and patriotic business men tonight were ready to observe the regulations.
