SOCIETY

By MELLIFICIA—Jan. 22
Gay Monday Night.

Society night at the Orpheum never loses its popularity and every week finds society folk, maids and matrons, officers and civilians, in profusion, occupying the boxes and the front rows. Foursomes seemed to be the rule this week and there were numberless cozy parties of well-known people. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kountze and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barker occupied one box; Mr. and Mrs. Will Schnoor, Miss Gertrude Metz and Mr. Robert Garrett made another box party; Miss Eugenie Whitmore, her father, Mr. H. P. Whitmore, and a couple of khaki-clad, silver-barred men were in the Whitmore box. Line parties seem to be very popular always. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Metz and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Higgins made a party; Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Kinsler entertained a foursome, as did also Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baldrige. Mr. Harry S. Byrne was host for a party of four young people and there were husband and wife parties in profusion. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wanley, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Millard, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Baldrige and Judge and Mrs. Benjamin S. Baker are nearly always in the audience on Monday nights.

Following the Orpheum there is always the attraction of the super-dance at the Fontenelle and no one thinks of going home without a bit of supper and a dance or two at the hotel. Since large social affairs are now taboo owing to the pressure of war work, the theaters form the only relaxation the workers have, as the days are full of overflowing with surgical dressings and thrift stamps.

Captain and Mrs. Rector at Home.
Captain and Mrs. Voyle D. Rector will be the guests of Captain Rector's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Rector, today and Wednesday. Captain Rector, who has been stationed at Camp Dixon, N. Y., has been transferred to Fort Sill, Okl., and he and Mrs. Rector will be able to stop over but two days in the city. Mr. and Mrs. Rector will entertain informally at a reception this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon in their honor.

Mrs. Rector, who was formerly Miss Lillian Chapin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Chapin of Lincoln, was married to Captain Rector in September just after he had received his commission at Madison Barracks, N. Y. Captain Rector is well known in Omaha. He is a graduate of the Central High school and Dartmouth college, where he made an enviable record in athletics. The young officer, who is with the field artillery, goes to Fort Sill for special training in field artillery firing.

Dinner for Miss McCabe.
This evening at the Blackstone Mrs. W. J. Hynes, president of the Visiting Nurses' association, is giving a dinner in honor of Miss Florence McCabe, who is the new superintendent of the Visiting Nurses' association. Mrs. Hynes has asked the 12 nurses of the association to meet her this evening, and also the chairman, Mrs. G. L. Bradley, Mrs. Victor Rosewater, Mrs. Luther Kountze, Mrs. Herbert Rogers, Mrs. W. E. Rhoades, Mrs. W. R. Adams and Miss Clara Thomas.

Notice.
The Boy Scouts have found it impossible to call for all the books collected in the private homes for the use of the soldiers at the forts. Miss Edith Tobitt of the public library will have these collected if those who wish to give volumes from their libraries will call her by phone at the library. Miss Tobitt asks that the books be brought to the library, if possible, but if not, she will have the donation called for.

Hibben-Nicks Engagement.
Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brader announce the engagement of their daughter, St. Charles E. Brader Nicks, to Mr. Roy M. Hibben of this city. No date has been set for the wedding. Miss Nicks, who is a graduate of the nurse's training class at the Nicholas Sem hospital, has been with the Visiting Nurse organization for the last six months.

Mrs. Burgess Snowbound.
Mrs. Ward Burgess, who left for New York a week ago, has been snowbound with other eastern travelers and it is doubtful just when she will be able to return. Mrs. Burgess will be hostess for the meeting of the Original Cooking club if she returns Wednesday.

Canadian Club.
The Canadian club entertained at luncheon Monday in honor of Sergeant Walter Joy of the Princess Pat regulars. The affair was given in the green room of the Loyal hotel, and covers were laid for 25 guests.

PERSONALS
Mrs. Ross B. Towle is confined to her home with an attack of measles. Mrs. Malcolm Mitchell, who has been staying at the Blackstone while Lieutenant Mitchell was at the Fort Omaha balloon school, has gone to her home in St. Louis as Lieutenant Mitchell left for the east with the Third squadron.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoxie Clark left Monday for St. Louis, where they will spend a few days before returning to their home in New York. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Borden, at Clark's, Neb. Mrs. Borden was formerly Miss Bertha Abrahamson of this city.

A daughter was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hopewell at Birchmont hospital.

Rice with Creamed Halibut.
An easy and attractive way of serving leftover halibut is to cream the fish and use it for stuffing a mound of rice. The rice should be steamed with salt and water for 45 minutes in a double boiler.

Annual Favorite

THE perennial froulour comes back to us each year, and is welcomed as gladly as the first narcissus or jonquils which push their way through the good brown earth, bursting with the joy of spring. Many of the new models combine this old favorite with georgette crepe. White dots on a navy ground are particularly effective made up with blue georgette. The simplicity of this frock insures its success. The jumper and tunic of froulour carry a narrow ruffle of georgette on pockets and hem. This fabric also furnished belt, sleeves and underskirt, while the dots are repeated on cuffs and collar border, which is turned up on white taffeta. Hats of froulour, faced with plain crepe, are a revival of last year's vogue. "Nothing to wear" is not found in the lexicon of the lady possessing such a frock!

Attention! State Red Cross Workers!
There is no absorbent cotton to be procured in Omaha. Omaha's quota of 5,000 large cotton pads cannot be filled. Material for 1,000 pads has been made up, but there is no cotton for the remaining 4,000 of this city's January quota. Mrs. O. C. Redick, chairman of supplies, therefore appeals to all Red Cross auxiliaries in the state to gather up all the cotton they have and make large cotton pads before February 1, including them in their January quota.

White Elephant Sale Is Attracting Attention Throughout State
Each day brings new life and bright hopes to the tireless women who are working for the White Elephant sale to be given in the Auditorium January 30-31. A letter has been received from a woman out in the state who is desirous of outfitting two families; one family a mother and three kiddies, and the other a mother and two little ones. Because it would be almost impossible to guess at the size of the children, the woman has asked for garments of good material which will make over for the little ones.

New members are being added daily to the various committees. The flower booth, with Mrs. George A. Joslyn as chairman, is growing in favor among the young matrons and maids. The committee has about been completed. Those already working are:

- Messdames—J. J. Sullivan, Richard Carrier, A. F. Jones, C. W. Russell, John Ringwalt, John McDonald, Fred Stott, Archie Lewis, Allen McDonald, Edwin Hart Jenks, George C. Smith, Miles McCayden, C. W. Dietz, C. W. Dietz, Misses—Virginia Offutt, Margaret Zamm, Helen Smith, Dorothy Smith, Misses—Anno Russell, Helen Sorrenson, Mona Cowell, Mary Richardson.

Worth While Tips
Kenosha, Wis., has women street car conductors. Women are to be employed as "rush hour" conductors on the street railways in St. Louis. In the largest English explosive factory there are 15,000 hands, and of these 11,000 are women. Miss Abby Pittman Morrison of Chicago is an "electrician, first class," in the United States navy. General Sir Nevil Macready reports there are 9,600 women employed in the different camps of the British army, and adds that he has nothing but good reports of them. The collection of hair among the women of Munich, organized by the German Navy league, has realized over 300 pounds. The hair is used for driving belts in U-boat machinery. Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, who goes as a government emissary to Switzerland shortly to direct a campaign to interpret American war ideals there, is a southern woman by birth and lived in New Orleans up to the time of her marriage.

Soliloquy of Modern Eve

We have been striving for thrills, but striving in the wrong direction. This war may turn us to the right path.

By ADELAIDE KENNERLY.
COMPLAINING always! You may have been clamoring for war before it was declared—you may have shouted that our president was writing too many notes to suit you but now that we are beginning to feel the pinch, are you willing to curtail? One woman of our acquaintance is, so she says. She admits that a large wardrobe is a creator of grief and hopes that we will be brought back to the "one dress for every day and one for Sunday" period. Our lavish manner of entertaining, our amusements and our luxuries are bound to be interfered with from now on. How About It? Will we meet it with a determination to be cheerful? Or will we go about kicking the government because there is an extra penny tax on our picture shows? Life had grown too many frills for the good of humanity. There was too much false and not enough true. We were living under a camouflage of glitter. There were too many social obligations—they ceased to be pleasures. There was too much eating and not enough sleeping. There was too much wealth and not enough health. We were too close to sin and too far from God. Thrills. Simple pleasures are the only genuine pleasures, after all. Let us all come back together to a life without so many frills and a few more thrills. To a life worth while where we are not too busy to assist the weary and care for the sick. It is there we shall find that which we have been striving for but striving in the wrong direction—the thrills.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.
Unsettled.
Beatrice Fairfax, Omaha, Neb.: Have been keeping company with a very nice young lady for some time, but one thing puzzles me. She is a perfect lady in every respect and I think the world of her, but whenever the opportunity presents itself she seems rather over-fascinated, and shows it by a rapid-fire of hugs and kisses. While I naturally do not object very seriously, it sort of surprises me, and would like to know what to think of it. Is her conduct what it should be? Should I criticize her actions or meet her half way? MODEST. Really, Modest, you are too deep for me, so I have enlisted the services of our staff. You may find a suitable reply among them. From the Society Editor—Ha, ha. Meet half way, by all means. Cub Reporter—Give me your chance. The Staff Cynic—You have evidently been "raised" too carefully, modest. We cannot attempt to advise you. It depends on the girl. Speaking for myself, we are free to admit that we would not "criticize her actions," but would certainly raise ourself to the "rapid fire of hugs and kisses," and the raptures the better. Think of the girl. Think how bad it would make her feel if you criticize her actions. We men must consider the feelings of the gentler sex. Probably you are so devilishly handsome that the poor girl just can't resist your charms. Why not try to camouflage your beauty. Next time you go to see her, don't shave. Wear your second best shoes and suit and a frayed necktie. But think twice, your "modest" fellow, before you do this. "Often affectionate" attractive girls are sent into the world to make life endurable for us poor, plain men. How you must hate yourself!

Managing Editor—How can one answer such a preposterous question without experience. City Editor—G'wan! Don't be a piker. Did you ever try beating her to it? Police Reporter—Why, hop to, and don't waste any time criticizing. Sporting Editor—Look out, kid! She's trying to vamp you! And a printer says, "poor nut!" while a stenographer believes that, although you are a good man, you take this rapid fire of hugs and kisses too seriously, so we give you these various opinions that you may sift them and draw your own conclusions.

Dear Miss Fairfax: A man is attentive to a girl whose sister is to be married. Is it right for this girl to be her sister's bridesmaid unless her friend, the brother of the bridegroom, is picked as best man? This has caused a quarrel between two sweethearts and we wait your patient reply. Naturally the girl of whom you speak will be her sister's wedding attendant. Equally natural the bridegroom chooses his own brother as best man. There is absolutely no reason why the man who cares for the bride's sister should expect to be in the wedding party. Out of courtesy to his sweetheart, he would be invited to be one of the guests at the wedding, and he has absolutely no right to expect more or be hurt because both bride and groom choose their nearest and dearest as attendants. Don't Be Envious. Dear Miss Fairfax: I am 17 and chum with another girl of the same age. She is very pretty and clever. When we are out together and meet young men, naturally they all take to her. Of course, I can see the reason for this, as while I am considered clever, I am not pretty. When I am alone or with other girls the young men likewise flock around me, but when I am in this particular girl's company she is the center of all attention. Of course, the young men are not to be blamed, for in her they find a clever girl, plus beauty—a rare combination. I do not begrudge my friend her popularity. There is one of two things for me to do, to wit: Either to go along as I have

String Beans.
The great Nebraska crop in the home vegetable garden last summer was string beans, with the result that most of us have large quantities of beans, either canned or dried or salted, to use in our winter menus. Somehow beans do not lend themselves as well to combinations as peas do, but there are a good many ways of using the vegetable besides the usual plain-with-butter-style or creamed.

Try varying the flavor of plain string beans by using meat drippings, particularly bacon, instead of butter. Cut a thick slice of bacon into small pieces, fry the bacon, then heat the beans in the bacon fat. Add a few drops of onion juice. Serve with the bits of bacon.

Beans can be used in meat stews. A somewhat different combination in a stew is string beans, tomatoes and rice with beef or mutton.

Julienné Soup.
1/2 c. each cooked 1 qt. soup stock.
carrots and turnips, 1/2 c. each cooked cut in thin strips peas and string one and one-half beans.
1 T. flour.
Mince parsley.
Heat milk for 10 minutes with onion and celery, strain into bean liquid. Cream fat and flour together, stir into soup. Season with salt and pepper and add cut string beans. Add minced parsley just before serving.

String Beans With Savory Sauce.
1 1/2 c. beans. 1 T. vinegar.
1/2 c. liquid from 1/2 T. vinegar.
1 T. sugar.
1/2 T. fat. Salt and pepper.
Melt the fat, add flour and stir till flour is well browned. Add bean liquid and stir to boiling. Add vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper. A stronger flavored sauce may be made by adding more sugar and vinegar to taste. This is a favorite European method of serving string beans.

Combinations.
Creamed potatoes and string beans. String beans and carrots. Salads—String beans, chives and radishes. String beans and beets. Bird's Nest Salad—Arrange string beans on a bed of lettuce to form a nest. Make small balls of cream cheese and nuts to represent the eggs. Serve with French dressing or any desired dressing. Suggested flavorings with string beans: Meat juice or gravy. Chopped parsley. Onion juice. Lemon juice. Bits of red or green pepper browned in fat. Tomato.

War-Time Recipes
War-Time Chicken Stew.
Dress, singe, cut up and wash carefully one, three or four-pound fowl. Place in one quart of boiling salted water, using about one teaspoon salt. Reduce heat and let simmer for an hour or more. A piece of bay leaf may be put into the water before the chicken is added. Add three carrots, three white turnips and then potatoes cut in eighths lengthwise. Cook until all the vegetables are perfectly tender. Thicken the stock with one-third cup of flour moistened to a paste with a little cold water. Cook until thick. Add two cups scalded milk and season to taste with salt and pepper.

Farina Balls.
Cook farina one-fourth cup in one cup milk in double boiler for one hour. Add one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, a few drops of onion juice and the well-beaten yolk of one egg. Mix well and cool. When cold shape into balls. Dip in egg and bread crumbs and fry in deep fat.

Hermits.
Cream one cup lard, work in one and a half cups sugar, add raisins, three well-beaten eggs and three cups flour mixed and sifted with one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon nutmeg and one teaspoon soda. Turn onto slightly floured board, roll very thin, cut in rounds and bake in a slow oven.

One Egg Chocolate Cake.
Cream one-half cup of butter, add a half cup sugar gradually and one well-beaten egg. Mix and sift one and a half cups of flour and two and a half teaspoons baking powder, adding alternately with a half cup of milk to the first mixture. Bake 30 minutes in shallow cake pan and spread layers with chocolate frosting.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2. and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you would hardly have in them all the curative power that lies in this simple "home-made" cough syrup which takes only a few minutes to prepare.

Get from any drugist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (90 cts. worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 65 cents and gives you a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and sugar syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membrane that lines the throat, chest and bronchial tubes, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, be sure to ask your drugist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
