Farm Help for Next Summer.
One of the immediate problems of the war is food and even now the president and all his assistants are urging that farmers make even greater efforts than before to produce more for the world to eat.

Why Working Men Support the War
Prof. John R. Commons, University of Wisconsin.
Never before has democracy for wage-earners made so great progress as it has in the nine months that we have been at war.

These and many other trade union officials were placed there by the trade unions themselves, because these war boards have become the big employers of labor, or because they control the wages that private employers pay.

Effect of the Adamson Law.
The first report of the commission named to study the effect of the Adamson law on railroad operation, just made, verifies some of the predictions made at the time the law was passed.

When a Blizzard Blasts the Battlefront
Phillip Gibbs in London Chronicle.
There is a blizzard of snow on the Western front, and the melting ice of yesterday (January 7) has hardened again and is covered deep.

Nebraska Farmers and the Food Campaign.
Farmers of Nebraska have responded to the request for more hogs by agreeing to raise 30 instead of 20 per cent greater number.

A British "Oil Boom"
Polluted well water of long standing at the market town of Ramsey, near Peterborough, England, prompted one well owner to dig for the cause.

Regulation of Dance Halls.
Omaha, Feb. 2.—To the Editor of The Bee: From all I can learn there seems to be a wide misunderstanding of the objects sought by the proposed abolition of the public dance halls.

Politics and the War.
Omaha, Jan. 28.—To the Editor of The Bee: Why is it, that United States Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska must play politics with critical situations in our government?

Peppery Points.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Bolsheviks are having their first practical experience of making political dreams fit humanity.

With State Editors.
"Hurray for Hoover!" Shouts the alliterative Blue Valley Blade. The cause? Omission of chicken and buck-wheat cakes and "lasses from the east-land regulations.

Lines to a Laugh.
"The traveler frankly begged the man he found by the wayside to summon all his flagging energies."

The Bee's Letter Box.
Thanks From Commission.
Washington, Jan. 26.—To the Editor of The Bee: The United States Civil Service commission desires to assist its appreciation of the assistance it is receiving from your paper and from newspapers generally in the work of recruiting the civil service under war conditions.

Capital and Labor.
Omaha, Feb. 1.—To the Editor of The Bee: Among nearly all classes of laborers there is a great demand for higher wages. This statement is familiar to all.

Whether you did or did not rely on the ground-hog, you may feel pretty safe in prognosticating six weeks more of winter, for the glad spring-time does not officially begin until March 21.

Labor at the Council Table.
That labor as such is to have a considerable voice in the council to which will be referred the readjustment of international relations of the world after the war is generally admitted now.

John Lawrence Sullivan, unique in the annals of the sporting world, has answered the call of the destroyer at last, leaving a record that will long be conned with interest by followers of his peculiar style of play.

One weak spot in the Berlin tale of a plot to foment revolution among the Germans is the allegation that Senator Stone was its instigator.

It is not at all likely that standards raised by the war will be scaled down anywhere and it is quite reasonable to expect that actual improvement will follow.

On that ground war has called a truce because of the snow, except for bursts of artillery fire on both sides as a demonstration of the mighty power of destruction which is

There is not much war in progress except in the air, where on both sides planes are trying to get photographs of the enemy's lines, because, though the snow hides some things, it tells many secrets where it has melted above the dog-outs, and where tracks of feet go up to certain places, and where guns have been hidden by artful camouflage.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Bolsheviks are having their first practical experience of making political dreams fit humanity.

Washington Post: If Bill Hohenzollern is gambling on the failure of the United States, somebody is putting him up against a shell game.

One afternoon, a man was traveling through a country district when he observed a son of the Emerald Isle carting water from a river to a nearby village.

Who owns this property? he asked.
"Who, I do," the woman answered.
The official got her name and put it down in his book.
