WASHINGTON'S last week before Ash Wednesday draws a curtain upon gay scenes as ushered in by a ball and closed with another, both for charity and both of which were made more brilliant and notable by the presence of the president and Mrs. Wilson and party accompanying them.

On Monday night a great number of Nebraska guests were present, many of them guests in the boxes of distinguished hosts. This ball is one of the jeweled-miniature-old-lace-and-flowered-silk affairs, many of the southern ladies wearing their heirlooms and souvenirs of other days on this annual occasion only.

Miss Hitchcock Present. Miss Ruth Hitchcock, daughter of the senator from Omaha, was among the dancers, as she usually is at the Washington balls. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Penfield, nee Bacon, of Omaha, were guests of Mrs. William Eric Fowler in his box, and at his dinner party preceding the ball, the minister from Salvador and Madame Zaldivar and the latter's sister, Madama Ghika, of Roumania, who usually spends her winters in Paris, but is spending this one here, were among the other guests of Mr. Fowler. Mrs. Penfield was most attractive in a smart gown of white chiffon velvet with a bodice of pearl embroidered net.

Mr. and Mrs. Penfield went to New York on Thursday to have a little change. They will attend the opera and have a little recreation from the constant war-work in which both are interested. Mrs. Penfield is active in the work of establishing a "Little Band-box" in the State department circle of war-workers, in which she is identified. They will have a shop on F street and conduct a sale such as has recently been successful in San Francisco, and similar to the "White Elephant" sale in Omaha, in which her mother, Mrs. Bacon, has been active.

The Peaks Take House. Mr. and Mrs. George Peak, nee Lindsay, of Omaha, have taken the house, 1616 Nineteenth street, for the winter. Mr. Peak is with the Council of National Defense.

Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Twachtman, the latter formerly Miss Charlotte Callahan, of Omaha, who have been in Washington during the season, have leased their apartment in Somerset House and gone to New York, where the former has been ordered. They have let their apartment to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Metz, the latter formerly Miss Norma Mack, daughter of Mr. Norman E. Mack, of Buffalo, one of the big leaders in the democratic party.

Mrs. Day and Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Clarence Day and her mother, Mrs. Smith, of Omaha, have taken an apartment on Eighteenth street for the remainder of the season, as Major Day is in France. He was stationed for several years at Fort Myer, where he and Mrs. Day made a host of friends in the army and official circles. Mrs. Day and her mother find life in Washington very agreeable, as they are being constantly entertained and are in the midst of a circle of old friends.

No Spring Vacation. Dana Hall, Tenacre and Pine Manor at Wellesley, Mass., will omit spring vacations this year and will close June 3 instead of June 12. Omission of the spring vacation was decided to help the government in conserving, to relieve the railroad congestion and save money. The commencement exercises in June will be very simple. The diplomas will be conferred at the end of the Sunday evening services and no invitations for commencement will be sent out.

Dana Hall and Tenacre have a large number of Omaha girls in its student body.

Future Festivities. Miss Elizabeth Davis will entertain at luncheon Tuesday at the Blackstone.

Miss Emily Keller will be hostess for a foursome at the Otis Skinner opening performance Thursday evening. Miss Keller is in Hastings for the wedding of Miss Ruth Beecher and Lieutenant Brian Tuesday.

Kindergarten teachers of the city will give a large luncheon at the Blackstone Saturday.

To Initiate Husbands. Members of Chapter B. S. P. E. O. sisterhood, will initiate their husbands into the mysteries of the B. R. L., the men's organization of the P. E. O., following a dinner to be given at the Blackstone February 18. After the dinner the guests will adjourn to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lulckhart, where the "stunts" will be put on. Mrs. W. A. Wilcox has the affair in charge.

Banquet for Engineers. Nebraska members of the American Society of Engineers hold their monthly business meeting following a dinner at the Blackstone this evening. About 30 will attend. The officers are: George Campen, president; H. A. Holdrege and John A. Bruce, vice presidents; and Homer V. Knouse, secretary-treasurer.

For Grand Island Guests. Mrs. Mosher Colpetzer gave a luncheon at the Fontenelle today in honor of Mrs. F. J. Wolbach and Mrs. S. W. Ashton of Grand Island, who are visiting Mrs. Clyde Roeder.

Mrs. Roeder will give a tea at her home Tuesday for the visitors.

For Chicago Guest. Mrs. W. P. Haney, jr., entertained a party of sixteen at the Orpheum matinee today, complimentary to her mother, Mrs. F. R. Williams of Chicago, who is visiting here. Mrs. Haney is planning a luncheon at the University club for Tuesday to honor her mother.

"A Nineteen Eighteen Model."

THE piercing eye of the fashion analyst shows four fabrics in marching order for the summer. Sport silks which manage, under the skilled surgery of the best designers, to achieve a "different" air; georgette crepe and foulard for more dressy frocks, particularly adapted to the older woman, and gingham for morning wear—for every age from bobbed to gray hair. A white vest, collar and cuffs give the straight coat of rose pongee the "different" air, while the box-pleated skirt of white pongee may further "do its bit" and worn with sweaters and other coats. A rose hat makes us wig-wag "welcome" to the summer girl who will grace this costume. Made up in blue or tobacco brown gabardine with vest and collar of white cloth—what a charming spring frock this would make.

Welsh-American Association. The Welsh-American association will meet Thursday evening, February 4, at 8 o'clock in the auditorium, deaf institute, to resume Red Cross work.

"500" Club. Mrs. W. A. Wilcox will entertain members of the "500" club at her home this evening. Five tables will be placed for the game.

For the Future. Miss Elizabeth Davis will entertain at luncheon at her home Tuesday.

PERSONALS

Lieutenant E. C. Turner, a New York man stationed at Fort Omaha this winter who has made many friends, was called to Washington.

Mrs. Louis J. Kuh of Sioux Falls, S. D., is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Block, 3414 Lafayette avenue. Mr. Block is convalescing from a surgical operation performed at Wise Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Canfield and their two children arrived Saturday from Sheridan, Wyo., to spend the rest of the winter here. They have taken an apartment at the Blackstone. Mrs. E. V. Lewis of New York, Mrs. Canfield's mother, is with them.

Lieutenant J. D. D. Marcellers, a United States cavalry officer, and Mrs. Marcellers, Mrs. Frank Streff of Butte, Mont., and Mr. Harry Hildebrath, jr., of Chicago are among the weekend arrivals at the Blackstone.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Hutchinson are the guests of Mr. Hutchinson's aunt, Mrs. J. A. McDonald, at the Blackstone.

Truffles. The truffle is a cryptogamic plant having no visible means of fructification and is found at all sorts of depths beneath the soil, from two inches to two feet. It possesses neither root, stem nor leaf and varies in color from light brown to black. It is somewhat globular in form, ranges in size from that of a filbert to a large duck's egg and weighs from two ounces to four pounds or more. Its surface is knobby or warty and is covered with a skin which forms a sort of network of serpentine veins. Little is known of its early developments as a vegetable production. In its native state it is found free from attachment to any other body.

Russians on Pilgrimages. Of all the races and religions which send pilgrims to Jerusalem there are none more strange and pathetic than those Russian peasants who come from the depths of their steppes to visit the holy places of their faith. They may be seen winding their way in small groups along the camel tract which crosses the plain of Sharon and the mountains of Ephraim, singing their hunting Slav laments. These are the moujiks of old Russia, neighbors perhaps in some far off village, who set out together on this great pilgrimage, for which they have saved every kopeck all their lives.

An Hour at Fort Crook Gives One a Hint of "A Day of Military Life"

The grounds at Fort Crook resemble a huge college campus the first hour of the morning. Foot ball, racing, even "Pom Pom Pull Away" are played, aside from the regulation "setting up" exercises. Some of the games look very much like "Ring Around the Rosie." All these will be shown at the attraction, "A Day of Military Life," which will be given February 20 at the Auditorium.

Following the morning exercises come company drill and battalion drill. The mysteries of the machine guns will be shown by actual practice. There also hand grenade throwing. The bayonet drill is probably the most interesting part of the military day. Wild looking costumes, which are a combination of foot ball togs and divers' suits, are donned, and these vicious looking warriors proceed to pounce upon each other with drawn bayonets.

"Don't Dare Smile." "Don't any of you fellows dare smile," commanded one young officer, "look fierce, look like the devil." And they did! Sharp tussles took place in these encounters, rifles are broken and sometimes a "banged up" man is taken to the hospital.

The exhibition will not consist of merely drilling, however. You will witness the celebrated crap game so loved by the soldiers, particularly on pay day. The evening quartets will be heard and the little homey side of soldiering, which is seen at the back of the tents, with collars off and good fellowship on, will be in evidence.

Just come and see what our boys in khaki are doing in all the many cantonments and at the forts scattered over the country. There is nothing complex about it, they are like a huge crowd of school boys, just learning new and more serious lessons—that is all.

Society Girls. A number of pretty society girls will be in evidence on the evening to sell candy for the fund. Prominent women and men of our city will sponsor the affair, and beside having an interesting and entertaining evening, you will be helping our own boys greatly.

All the men at Fort Crook are enlisted men and the records show the greater part of them joined the colors last spring at the first call. They are giving their all, will you not come and give your support, financially and otherwise, to their performance?

Advice to Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Premont, Neb.—Dear Miss Fairfax: Having read and reread the letter in The Bee from the Bachelor Farmer in search of the "ideal girl," and I can almost see him as he sits by his red hot stove dreaming, and, might I say, his letter has interested me very much, perhaps because I am one of the many gambler, and as he says, either the divorce courts or be game and hoodlum your feelings and make the best of it, and I have chosen the latter.

I am only 24 years old and have been married nearly three years, and while my husband is good and true, makes a good living and home, I have all the pretties that I can want, which was one of my greatest joys before I married, yet our home lacks the one real true foundation of a happy home.

I have often heard people say that you can learn to love after you are married if you think a great deal beforehand, but I disagree to that. Be perfectly assured that if you do not really truly love before, you will not after. While my husband is very dear to my heart and I respect him above all else, I do not love him. It seems heartless and hurts down deep to admit it even to myself, far less to the public, and I like the bachelor, was in search of love, not really truly love before, you will not after. While my husband is very dear to my heart and I respect him above all else, I do not love him. It seems heartless and hurts down deep to admit it even to myself, far less to the public, and I like the bachelor, was in search of love, not really truly love before, you will not after. It seems heartless and hurts down deep to admit it even to myself, far less to the public, and I like the bachelor, was in search of love, not really truly love before, you will not after.
