

Dr. Harry Garfield Who Suspended Closing Order

DR. HARRY A. GARFIELD

Washington, Feb. 13.—Fuel Administrator Garfield today suspended the Monday closing order, but left the way open to put it again into operation if it appears that that would be necessary.

State fuel administrators were given permission to keep the order in force in their states it appears that it should be done to relieve fuel shortage and also were authorized to put into force any other restrictive measures that special circumstances make necessary.

The part of the Monday closing order establishing a priority list in coal distribution will be continued generally, as will the embargoes placed on railroads by Director General McAdoo.

The operation of the priority arrangements and the embargoes, Fuel Administrator Garfield said today, promise to solve the fuel problem, unless there is a return of bad weather.

Dr. Garfield said that the New England states were the only ones that had requested that the order be continued in force, and that J. J. Storrow, fuel administrator for New England, probably would issue a special order continuing its operation in those states.

He described the New England fuel situation as critical.

WAR LORDS SHOW NO DESIRE FOR PEACE---GEORGE

After Careful Examination of Prussians' Speeches British Premier Says He Finds No Chance for Settlement.

(By Associated Press.)

London, Tuesday, Feb. 12.—The government, Premier Lloyd George said in his speech before Parliament, would stand by the declaration of war aims he made last month to the trades unions' representatives.

He said he had read with most profound disappointment the replies of Count von Hertling and Count Czernin to the statements made by himself and President Wilson.

No Difference in Substance.

There is a great difference in the tone of the Austrian and German speeches, he said, but he could find no difference in the substance.

As to the reply of Chancellor von Hertling, the premier said: "What was his answer to the allies' very moderate demand? His answer was that Great Britain was to give up its coaling stations."

"These coaling stations had been accessible to German as to British ships. In the past the German fleet always has received most hospitable treatment at all these stations. During 1913 some 65 visits were paid to them by German men-of-war and they received exactly the same facilities as British men-of-war. The same thing applied to German merchantmen."

Germany Not Reasonable.

"To make such a demand for the first time in the fourth year of the war is the best possible proof that the German empire or those at present controlling it is not in a mood to discuss reasonable terms of peace."

"I regret it profoundly, but there is no use in crying 'peace' when there is no peace."

"These terms were examined carefully and were examined with a real desire to find something in them which indicated the central powers were prepared to come somewhere near a basis of agreement, and I confess the examination of these two speeches proved profoundly disappointing to those who were sincerely anxious to find any real and genuine desire for peace in them."

"The action of Germany with reference to Russia proves that all its declarations about no annexations, indemnities or contributions have no real meaning."

No Answer on Belgium.

"No answer has been given with regard to Belgium which anyone can regard as satisfactory."

"No answer has been given with regard to Poland or the legitimate French claim for the restoration of its lost provinces."

"Not a word is said about the men of the Italian race and tongue now under the Austrian yoke."

"When you come to Turkey, so far from von Hertling or Czernin indicating they were prepared to recognize the rights of the Arabs in Mesopotamia and Arabia, it was a pure denial of those rights and an indication that they were determined to maintain what they called the integrity of Turkey."

"I should like any member of this house to point out anything in these speeches which he could regard as proof that the central powers are prepared to make peace on terms he would regard as just and reasonable."

"I fail to find anything of the kind and it is with the most profound regret that I say so."

"But the government does not recede in the least from the statement

POSTMASTERS DO QUEER TRICKS TO FOLLOW ORDERS

Local Federal Officials Complain That Alien Registration Cards Are Being Sent On to Washington.

Officials here in charge of the registration of alien Germans complain of the "boneheadedness" of some of the postmasters and other officers out through the state who are doing the registering. Some of them have been sending the registration certificates to Washington, although the instructions plainly state that they are to hold these for 10 days and then send them to the Omaha headquarters.

Postmasters are to send the certificates after 10 days to the postmaster at Omaha and chiefs of police are to send their certificates after 10 days to the United States marshal at Omaha.

A long telegram was received Wednesday by the marshal from Washington stating that the certificates have already begun to come in there from some postmasters and asking that they follow instructions.

One postmaster made an amusing blunder. On the outside page of the blanks is a place where the name is to be written. In the space for "given name" and "surname" the postmaster wrote "none."

The publisher of a small town newspaper sent in a bill for $11 for "publishing the notice of registration." He'll have a merry time trying to collect it.

POISONED WATER AT STOCK YARDS KILLS 325 SHEEP

San Francisco, Feb. 13.—Federal officials and San Francisco health authorities have united in investigating the death here Tuesday under mysterious circumstances of 325 sheep and lambs in a stock yard corral in which approximately 7,600 head of stock were quartered.

All indications, according to those making the investigation, tended to show that the animals were killed by poison placed in the watering troughs. Animals in other pens were not affected.

Further loss of stock was anticipated, it was reported last night, as many other animals in the pens in which the dead sheep and lambs were found gave evidence also of having been poisoned.

United States Marshal James B. Holohan reported the matter to Attorney General Gregory at Washington, D. C.
