

SAVE FOOD AND HELP TO GAIN VICTORY, SLOGAN TO BE PREACHED TODAY

Speakers Delegated By the Food Administration Start In on Whirlwind Campaign Through Nebraska to Urge Conservation of Food-stuffs.

Omaha will buzz with food speeches today. Three nationally known speakers, delegated by the Federal Food administration, will open the campaign with 13 speeches. Three others will open a campaign in Lincoln today, and speak throughout the South Platte country during the rest of the week. The six speakers arrived in Omaha Sunday afternoon.

PEOPLE AROUSED.

"The campaign to bring before the people of America the necessity of saving foods, has been a wonderful success," said Dr. L. S. Davis of the University of Indiana, one of the South Platte speakers. "Last September I was discouraged, and thought once there was no patriotism in America. It was hard to get a crowd of 200 people to come out to hear a food speech or to attend a patriotic meeting of any kind. In January last, we were out but 10 days and spoke to 69,000 people. All one has to do now is to arrange a patriotic meeting and the people will come out. They are intensely interested and it is a great tribute to their intelligence."

FOOD CARDS MAY COME.

"I know now that where people understand how to make these substitutes in foods they are willing to make them. Here and there they do not yet understand how to make all the substitutes requested. But the people of America are showing a wonderful willingness to co-operate in this work. "Sooner or later it may be necessary to issue food cards, but it is hardly necessary yet. When this does come people will be prepared for it. They see the importance of the movement now, and I do not believe that the issuance of food cards would meet with any great objection right now."

Mrs. Isabel Beecher of Birmingham, Ala., who will speak twice at the Young Women's Christian association rooms today, said on arriving in Omaha:

"Democracy is being tested as to its ability to unite the people to a central purpose. I do not talk to the women about recipes for corn dodgers. I lay the broad foundation for the work that must be done, the general principle of saving food and substituting foods. The sentiment is crystallizing fast, but it is a question whether it will crystallize fast enough. The lack of the spirit, however, does not lie here in the central west, if you wish to know the truth. Everett Colby of New Jersey, one of the commission that investigated food conditions in France and the allied countries, said:

"The situation is positively desperate. We have the food and can mobilize it, but it is a question whether we can mobilize it in time. People do not begin to realize how serious the matter is. As the war stands at the present time, we're licked, that's all there is to it. We must get food across in large quantities and quickly."

Down to Five Day Margin. "Fishing has been told that he would be furnished with a food supply to give them a 90 day margin. When we were over there his army was part of the time down to a five-day margin, and that is altogether to close a margin for an army."

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Leland Stanford university, said, "When one realizes how desperate are the allies and our own troops abroad for supplies, one can realize how imperative was Garfield's order. We may look for some awful reverses before the people of the country become thoroughly awake to the need of thorough co-operation in every phase of the war. The argument cannot be made in a minute. Unless people get out of the meetings vowing that they will not taste another piece of bacon until the end of the war, we had failed in our purpose."

The three speakers who open their campaign in Omaha today, will cover the North Platte country. Their meetings in Omaha today are scheduled as follows:

- Noon—Chamber of Commerce public affairs luncheon, Dr. Wilbur.
- Noon—University club, Everett Colby.
- Noon—Young Women's Christian

- association, Mrs. Beecher.
- 3 P. M.—Young Women's Christian association, for women, Mrs. Beecher.

- 9:00 P. M.—Sun, Wilbur.
- 9:30 P. M.—Empress, Wilbur.
- 10:00 P. M.—Boyd, Wilbur.

In Columbus they hold Wednesday meetings, and Wednesday night they will be in Grand Island. Thursday morning and noon, meetings will be held in Kearney, and at night Colby and Mrs. Beecher will talk in North Platte. From there they will go to Kansas.

The annual recognition service for the senior class was held today in the chapel. H. T. Smith sang a solo. An address followed which was delivered by Rev. Mr. Holmes of the First Congregational church in Lincoln. He told the class that they were about to become members of America's privileged class, and the greatest debt today is that owed by the cultivated to the ignorant and by the strong to the weak. Doane hosts 11 seniors this year in spite of the war. Most of them are going out in the state to teach next year.

FIND VERDICT GUILTY AGAINST KOENIGSTEIN

Former County Attorney of Madison County Again Convicted of Receiving "Protection" Money.

Madison, Neb., Feb. 24.—(Special Telegram.)—Arthur J. Koenigstein, former county attorney of Madison county, was found guilty on all four counts of a grand jury indictment in the district court yesterday. It was charged in the indictment that he had received $75 per month for four months from Nannie Myers, proprietor of a disorderly house in Norfolk, in exchange for protecting her from prosecution. Each month constituted a separate count.

A few years ago he was found guilty on one of two indictments for accepting "protection money." He appealed the decision of the district court to the Nebraska supreme court and was granted a new trial. The jury remained out 12 hours before bringing in a verdict of guilty in the retrial.

Koenigstein was defended by his brother, Jack Koenigstein of Norfolk, and Attorney Reese of Lincoln. The prosecution was represented by County Attorney M. D. Tyler and former County Attorney W. L. Dowling, who prosecuted in the original trial.

A hearing on a motion for a new trial will be held by District Judge Anson A. Welch in his chambers in Wayne, Monday.

'LIFE,' THEME OF REV. MR. CLARK'S SERMON

First Congregational Church Preacher Reads Letters From Governor Neville and Other Prominent Men.

Rev. Fred J. Clark preached yesterday morning at the First Congregational church on "Life," reading letters he had received from several prominent men on the subject. Governor Neville wrote him: "Considering that time is infinite, a few years more or less of life are of little importance. I feel like Charles Frohman when he stood on the sinking ship in mid-ocean and said with a smile, 'Death is the most beautiful adventure of life.'"

From Christ's Words. Rev. Mr. Clark took his text from the words of Christ, "I am come that ye might have life and have it more abundantly."

"The great, universal desire is for life," he said. "No matter how poor and wretched and cold and hungry people may be they cling to life. "Looking at a girl as she whirls in the dizzy dance. See how every fibre of her being is expressing the

Give The Stomach A Chance To Work

We can't expect the stomach to act normally if the natural avenues of elimination are blocked so it cannot dispose of its refuse. When the bowels are constipated the stomach is called upon for work beyond its capacity and the result is bloating, belching, headache, and discomfort generally, and, unless the condition is promptly relieved, serious illness.

An effective remedy for constipation is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that acts on the bowels in a gentle, natural manner, without gripping or other pain or discomfort, affording speedy relief. Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist and have it in the house when you need it; it costs only fifty cents and is the ideal family remedy, mild enough for children and old people, yet sufficiently powerful for the strongest constitution. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

DYSPEPSIA MAN'S GREATEST ENEMY

Is Most Prevalent of All Present-Day Diseases, Declares L. T. Cooper—Victims Are Whimsical and Melancholy and Suffer Great Mental Depression—Disease Can Be Cured, He Says.

Explaining the record-breaking purchase of Tanlac by the Richardson Drug Co. and Sherman & McConnell Drug Co., and the leading wholesale and retail druggists throughout the country, G. F. Willis, the international distributor of Tanlac, states that the hundreds of questions now being asked all over Omaha make it imperative that some explanation be made to satisfy public interest.

Speaking of Tanlac, he said: "Thousands of the most prominent people—in fact, people representing all walks of life in the larger cities of the country, where the celebrated medicine has been accomplishing such remarkable results, are even more enthusiastic over Tanlac than Mr. Cooper himself. "In explanation of this, it should be stated that Tanlac is believed to be the first actually direct specific for catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membrane and the complications which follow them.

"Catarrh of the stomach is one of the most frequent causes of dyspepsia and catarrhal inflammation of the nose and throat leads to inevitable complications, such as kidney and liver affections, rheumatism, etc.

"Show me a man whose eyes are inflamed, whose sense of smell and hearing is affected, and I will show you a man who is suffering from catarrh. Frequently the lungs become involved by the extension of the catarrhal inflammation or germs to the lung substance. Specialists concede this, but it has remained for Tanlac, the new formula, to provide the remedy, as has been so conclusively and convincingly proven by the hundreds of thousands who have been relieved by its use."

At this point Mr. Willis quoted from one of Mr. Cooper's recent lectures, in which he said:

"Of all the distressing conditions that afflict humanity, catarrh of the stomach, or what is more commonly known as chronic dyspepsia, is probably the most prevalent. This most universal malady has baffled the medical profession for years, and the most skilled specialists have been unable to cope with it successfully.

"Hours might be consumed in describing the sufferings, mental and physical, of the sufferers of chronic dyspepsia and their failure to heretofore get relief. A morbid, unreal, whimsical and melancholy condition of the mind aside from the nervousness and physical suffering, is the usual condition of the average dyspeptic, and life seems scarcely worth the living.

"Dyspepsia or indigestion, as the case may be, is caused by the taking of too much food, or unsuitable food, and the mucous membrane of the stomach becomes irritated, and there is set up an acute or subacute gastric catarrhal condition which prevents the proper digestion of the food.

"This food is apt to foment and decompose, and as a result the familiar distressing symptoms of dyspepsia may arise. In mild cases there is nothing more than an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach, with a certain amount of depression, headache, loss of appetite, perhaps belching, or gas and occasional vomiting. There may be also accompanying intestinal symptoms, such as pains in the back, colic, etc. There may be only the familiar heartburn, due to the inflammation of the stomach from excessive gases of fermentation or putrefaction.

"In the most severe cases—those that last over a day or two—the symptoms enumerated may be much more intense. The distress may be marked and the general constitutional symptoms more evident. When this stage is reached the loss of appetite, the mental depression and the general uncomfortable feeling in the stomach are much more pronounced. This is particularly true in acute gastritis.

"It frequently occurs from continued errors in diet that this condition becomes chronic and the symptoms persist for an indefinite period; the appetite is very apt to be varied, although at times very good. Heartburn is frequent, if not constant, the stomach is painful on pressure, the tongue is coated, there is a bad taste in the mouth and there are changes in the amount of salivary secretion.

"Most cases of dyspepsia can be cured if the diet is properly looked after and with the proper treatment. Proper eating and the proper amount of food are the most important features in the treatment. Most people eat too fast and eat too much.

"There is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac, which begins its work by stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and invigorating the whole system. Next, it enables a weak, worn-out stomach to thoroughly digest the food, promoting the assimilation of the nourishing products to be converted into blood, bone and muscle."

Tanlac is now sold by Sherman & McConnell Drug company, corner 16th and Dodge streets; Owl Drug company, 16th and Harney streets; Harvard Pharmacy, 24th and Farnam streets; Northeast Corner 19th and Farnam streets, and West End Pharmacy, 49th and Dodge streets, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Advertisement.
