

OMAHA WINS IN FIGHT TO LAND CAMP CONTRACTS

General Goethals Issues Orders to Quartermaster to Invite Gate City Merchants to Make Bids.

Omaha merchants again will bid on contracts to furnish Camp Dodge at Des Moines with supplies.

For more than a month Omaha merchants have been ignored by the quartermaster at Chicago in asking for bids on these contracts.

The Omaha Chamber of Commerce jumped into the breach, telegraphed Nebraska senators at Washington to get busy, and the result is that Omaha merchants again are recognized.

Advices from Washington say General Goethals has issued a general order to the quartermaster at Chicago instructing him to invite Omaha merchants to bid on the contracts.

Up to a month or more ago, Camp Dodge was supplied largely through the Omaha quartermaster. Then this was changed and the camp is supplied from Chicago.

Omaha Shut Out.

When this change came about, Omaha merchants no longer were permitted to bid on contracts to furnish subsistence for the camp. It was known that Omaha had been able to make the government better prices on supplies than many of the cities even much nearer the camp and aided by freight rates.

Why then Omaha should be cut out of the running was not understood here, and it was then that the Chamber of Commerce made the wires hot to Washington.

It is now given out from Washington that the order of General Goethals of some time ago ordering the camp supplied from the Chicago depot instead of from the Omaha was misunderstood by officials at the Chicago quartermaster depot to mean that Omaha merchants should no longer bid.

The new order of General Goethals puts the situation back where it was a month ago when Omaha firms were furnishing a large part of the supplies for the big cantonment. In other words, Omaha becomes an open market for supplies for Camp Dodge.

Citizens Petition Council to Repair Florence Boulevard

Citizens of the north part of the city are circulating a petition in which they ask the city council to repair that portion of the Florence boulevard north of Redick avenue and put it in passable condition.

At this time, on account of the ruts and holes in the wearing surface, the Florence boulevard, from Redick avenue north, is said to be as full of holes and as rough as a corduroy road. At the north end of the boulevard there is a pile of several hundred loads of cinders and it is contended that if these were hauled out and scattered over the driveway it could easily be put in first-class condition.

Hupmobile Motors Furnish Power for Gear Factory

"Coal right now is more precious than gasoline, is the belief of the American Gear company of Jackson, Mich., one of the plants of the Hupp Motor Car corporation," says J. H. Houliston. "Therefore for the past month the gear company has been using coal almost entirely for heating only. Power to run the plant has been produced by Hupmobile motors."

Why They Invested $10,000,000.00
By Joe Barker
"My active experience in promoting the sale of war savings stamps," said Joe Barker, a director of the Omaha Loan & Building Association, "has enabled me to see that the government is doing a great work in teaching the people to save their money. We all know that in recent years many persons had not learned the lesson. Now the necessity for saving money is being brought home to all, and the good the government is doing will last long after the close of the war. In fact, the Omaha Loan and Building Association already feels the good effects of the campaign in the unusual number of new savings accounts entered upon our books. Our shares pay 5% interest, compounded semi-annually, and for many years have proved to be a profitable and safe investment. We have been teaching thrift for many years with most gratifying results, for the people have invested over ten million dollars with us."
