

U. S. MUST SUPPLY FOOD FOR ALLIES OR WAR IS LOST

If America Fails We May as Well Surrender, Says New York Food Head.

"If we are to win the war, we must get food to our boys in the trenches and to our allies. If we fail in our efforts to supply the food, we might as well quit, surrender and pull down the flag. That's the situation in a nutshell," declared Frank G. Crowell, head of the United States food administration in New York and vice president of the food administration grain corporation, who is in Omaha for a conference with Food Administration Agent Neal and to address the Omaha Grain exchange.

"It is up to the United States to win the war," added Mr. Crowell, "and it is just as necessary for us to furnish the foodstuffs as it is to furnish an army. Our allies have reached the stage where we must supply them with food. To do this, we must send our grain to them."

Waste Means Ruin.

"We have got to conserve in every way possible. To waste means more than I can tell. Every pound of foodstuff that we waste means that some man, woman or child of our allies has been deprived of just that much."

"There is no trouble about getting the supplies to Europe if they can be transported to the seaboard and the way things are now shaped up, I believe that can be done."

"The ships of all the allied nations have been pooled and it makes little difference to what port the consignments go, or in what boat they are transported across the Atlantic. They will reach destination and there be distributed."

"It is imperative that we make our shipments during March. Shipments of foodstuffs must leave points of origin not later than March 15, so you see the time is short. Everything that starts by that date will reach the seaboard so that it will be afloat during March. This done, we have solved the problem on which the government is working."

"While we are making a strenuous

GIRL BURNED TO DEATH WHEN HER MOTHER IS AWAY

Little Olga Panker, 5 years old, died at St. Joseph hospital late Thursday night of burns suffered Thursday afternoon while she and other children were stuffing paper into a stove.

Mrs. Julia Panker, 1426 South Fourteenth street, left the children in the house while she went to a nearby grocery store.

The little girl and her playmates stuffed the stove with paper and watched the flames shoot out of the door.

A tongue of flame shot out and caught the tot. Her dress was burned from her body. Neighbors, attracted by her screams, rushed into the house, wrapped her in blankets and beat out the flames.

She was terribly burned about the limbs and the face.

effort to push corn forward, we are just as anxious that all other classes of foodstuffs move. We must have the corn and at the same time we must have the wheat, the oats and the bacon, as well as rye and barley. In fact, we must send to Europe every class of food that will stand shipping and that enters into human consumption.

"I am not an alarmist, but as I said before, if we are going to win this war we have got to get busy and see to it that our boys in Europe are fed and at the same time it is up to us to feed the men, women and children of every country that is joined with us in this war against autocracy."

Rotarians Busy With Plans For "Jingling Bros. Circus"

"Jingling Brothers" circus will give its "stupendous performance" as a Boy Scout benefit Friday night, March 8, at the Auditorium.

This great circus is the concoction of home talent monstrosities, especially trained and drilled for the entertainment of the Merchants' Market week visitors in Omaha March 7. The original plan was that the circus should give one gigantic performance for the merchants and then disband, but the Boy Scouts stepped forward and drafted the service of the show troop for Friday night.

The proceeds will be used in defraying some of the expenses of an outdoor camp for the boys the coming summer. The Rotary club will have charge of the benefit performance.

DEFIANCE TRUCK IS BROUGHT OVERLAND

From Kansas City to Omaha in Weather Twenty Below Zero Without a Mishap.

The Defiance truck on display in the Standard Motor Car company exhibit, was driven to Omaha overland from the Kansas City Show, Messrs. Steiner and Sawbrey, who drove the car, stated that they experienced no trouble during the entire trip, though one day the thermometer registered 20 degrees below zero. They left Atkinson, Kan., at 6 o'clock, where they stayed over night. They left Atkinson, Tuesday morning and reached Auburn by night and remained until Wednesday morning, when they completed the trip to Omaha. No engine trouble was experienced during the trip.

"The surprising thing to me about the auto show is the interest dealers are taking in the truck exhibit and the large number of orders they are placing," said Carl Changstrom, president of the Standard Motor company, distributors of Defiance trucks.

"We have received several exceptionally large dealers' contracts and all seem confident that they will send in repeat orders as soon as farm work starts. The farmers will undoubtedly be the big truck buyers this year. They see the need and advantage of using motor power on the farm."
