Soliloquy of Modern Eve

Youth is the sowing season and middle age the reaping.

By ADELAIDE KENNERLY. IN YOUTH we go madly or gladly, on, flying from one thing to another; things inconsequential, yet quite important as a whole.

The Magnat. There is an unseen magnet holding us to Life—a faint hope, but half awake, that we may, while here, solve some problem back of the veil through which we cannot see—the riddle of Life.

Suffs Realize Dream of Years; In Thick of New York Election

(By Associated Press.) New York, March 5.—Those women of New York who reside in the four congressional districts in which special elections are being held today realized their dream of years when they cast their first votes.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX. All Wrong. Dear Miss Fairfax: At a party recently I was introduced to a young chap who, upon taking me home, asked if he could call at my house Sunday and take me out. I told him that I would let him know, as I had to ask my mother.

Another Bachelor. Miss Beatrice Fairfax, Omaha Bee: There seems to be quite an interest shown in the lonely bachelor in regard to the Hastings, Neb., widow. I'd like to receive her name and address, or others who would like to correspond with me, as I am a widower without tell my mother. I have been meeting each other for more than a month now, sometimes at my sister's house and sometimes when my sister was not home we have met outside. But I am afraid I am doing wrong. E. W. T.

Home Economics

Edited by IRMA H. GROSS, HOUSEHOLD ARTS DEPT. CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

War Breads

An out-of-town reader asks for a discussion of war breads made with the substitute flours, because that is a problem with which all housewives who bake their own bread are struggling.

It seems to me that it is almost safe to say that any housewife can turn out successful war bread, using the standard recipe that she has always used. There are a few special recipes, but most war bread is like ordinary bread. It would be a little difficult for a woman who "hadn't any idea how much liquid or flour she used," as one housewife informed me recently, to substitute a definite percent of other than wheat flour.

Rolls Oats Bread. In making rolled oats bread the liquid should be scalded or boiled and poured over the rolled oats. Allow 1 1/2 cups of rolled oats and 2 cups wheat flour to 1 cup liquid. This amount makes one loaf.

Co-Operation. Miss Gross will be very glad to receive suggestions for the home economics column or to answer, as far as she is able, any questions that her readers may ask.

Co-Operation

time I would suggest the government bulletin, "Bread and Bread Making in the Home," Farmers' Bulletin No. 807, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Or good information may be had from the extension department, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb., state farm.

Potato Bread

1 yeast cake, 10 medium sized potatoes, 1 c. lukewarm water, 1/2 c. water, 1 c. white flour, 1 T. salt, 1/2 T. sugar, 1/2 c. white flour.

Soften yeast cake in lukewarm water, add one cup of water and two cups of flour. Mix thoroughly and let stand over night. In the morning add other ingredients, adding enough flour to make a stiff dough. Let rise to double its bulk; mold into loaves. Let rise again to double its bulk and bake in a moderate oven.

Cornmeal Bread. Part 1. 1 yeast cake, 1/2 c. lukewarm water, 1/2 c. water, 1 c. white flour, 1 T. salt, 1/2 T. sugar, 1/2 c. white flour.

Make a sponge of part 1 as above. Let rise over night. Scald milk in part 2; add salt, sugar and fat. Cool, add to sponge, then add cornmeal and flour to make a dough. Knead well, proceed as above.

A $200,000,000 Investment To Make Your Morning Marketing Easy WHEN you visit a retail store, make your purchase of Armour's meats, fish, vegetables, fruits, condiments or other perfectly prepared foods, and have your selection placed in the basket to carry home, do you ever stop to consider how this easy marketing has been made possible for you? LOOK into it. For you should realize the operation of the systematic plan which offers you this range of choice and value. Here are over a score of packing plants located in the centers of production constantly gathering and preparing the country's choicest yield. Carrying Foods to You HERE are refrigerator cars on every main line and branch spur with icing stations to care for them, steadily transporting these foods to over four hundred branch houses—each a huge, local ice-box in the midst of a congested population district. Here is a great foreign investment—plants in the Argentine, Brazil, New Zealand, Canada—relieving the drain on this country's production. Here is a national selling organization working, day in, day out, to equalize distribution and keep your food supply constant—laboring to hold producers' markets always open that there may be neither shortage nor surplus and that prices may hold at true value levels.
