Material and Supplies Moving Forward on Schedule; Organization of First Field Army Progressing.

Washington, March 9 .- With men, naterial and supplies moving forward co General Pershing in full accordance with the prearranged schedule, the War department has taken up the organization of the first field army, the largest tactical unit used in modern warfare.

Until General Pershing has under his command a complete field army, no further organization of fighting units will be started.

It was originally the intention of the department to form the "typical" corps, but it is understood that this plan has been abandoned for one which calls for five or six. The purpose of this is to reduce the number of men required for organizing the army troops—the special units attached specifically to the field army for use in controlling the lines of communication from the ports of debarkation to the army corps' rail heads.

heads, field army by combining three army

The army troops include also the great artillery reserve of 8, 10 and 12-inch guns, both of fixed emplacement and mobile type, the army cases, however, they are getting together and putting two of three men's potatoes into one car." ment and mobile type, the anti-air-craft guns and the other units which the commander-in-chief is given to throw against an enemy offensive. An army corps under ordinary conditions or terrain can be expected to hold a 16-mile front of trenches, or about nine miles of geographical front. The first American field army, therefore, may be able to take over 100 miles of French line. Censorship regulations prohibit the publication of the approximate date upon which this may be expected. If the present schedule is maintained, however, it is safe to say that by January, 1919, or earlier, American troops will be hold-ing a longer stretch of front than was held by the British after more than two years of war.

Under the six corps field army plan auxiliary troops numbering more than 300,000 would be required, each army corps having about 30,000 and the field army 130,000. The same number of fighting men under the three corps plan would have required be-tween 450,000 and 500,000 corps and army troops.

While it should be stated that no definite plan of organization has yet been approved, it is known that Gen-eral Pershing has expressed him-self in favor of the larger unit.

may develop into a real investigation.

Mr. Porter then quotes from the records of Colorado courts in which Mr. Havemeyer of sugar fame has filed letters and affidavits showing the cost of producing sugar. Porter takes Havemeyer's figures of $3.21 as the cost of producing 100 pounds of sugar, including price of beets and all, and then shows that out of a ton of beets the refinery makes $22.73 worth of sugar, while the total cost of the ton of beets, operation, maintenance, interest and general expenses is $13.90.

He then calls attention to the fact that the pulp from a ton of beets sells for $2.40. He says that the total selling price of pulp and sugar from a ton of beets is $25.13, giving a net profit of $11.22 per ton of beets.

Mr. Porter says he believes it proper that some of these figures and court records be placed in the hands of the committee investigating the

Says Potato Situation Not as Gloomy as Represented

Lincoln, Neb., March 9 .- (Special.) -The potato situation in western Nebraska is not as gloomy as it has been represented, according to Prof. R. F. Howard of the state university and secretary of the Nebraska Potato Improvement association, who has just returned from an inspection trip throughout the potato section. The situation in a nutshell is embraced in the following facts: There are still 200,000 to 300,000 bushels of potatoes awaiting ship-ment, of these 75,000 to 100,000 bushels are worthless, owing to dry rot, scab, frost and bruises. Practically all of the this year's crop that is worth selling will be marketed.

Potato growers who have had good potatoes will make a profit this year despite the large crop.

"At present potatoes are moving out of the district very fast," said Prof. Howard. "Three weeks ago 500,000 bushels were reported to be held at Morrill place. In a talk with held at Morrill alone. In a talk with growers throughout the entire section and at several meetings I learned that there are not more than 300,000 bushels that have not been shipped.

"The potatoes are being moved rapidly, although at Kimball they are holding back a little for lack of ade-
