

HOT TILT ON BILL TO COMMANDEER LUMBER FOR U. S.

Colorado Senator Takes Rap
at I. W. W.; Declares Owners Holding Timber for Higher Price.

Washington, March 13.—The senate military committee today heard a delegation of lumbermen who are opposing a War department bill authorizing the president to commandeer lumber and timber for the army, navy and shipping board.

Representative Fordney of Michigan, a lumberman and spokesman for the delegation, declared the bill was "a menace to the industry" and said the lumber interests are doing their best to furnish government requirements.

"It would be a great mistake to take over and operate 48,000 saw mills by one man. Now they are being managed competently by 48,000 experienced men," he said.

"There's nothing to it but an organized labor proposition, from top to bottom," said Mr. Fordney. "To direct the number of hours and wages."

The eight-hour day was forced on western lumbermen, Representative Fordney said, and puts them at a disadvantage with competitors on a ten-hour basis. Also, he said, the Industrial Workers of the World tied up western mills for three months.

"So far as I am concerned, I'd stand the I. W. W. up against a wall and shoot them," Senator Thomas of Colorado interjected.

Senator Kirby of Arkansas said the government, even if the bill was passed, would not interfere with concerns getting out lumber satisfactorily. The powers to commandeer timber, he said, is needed especially because some owners are holding timber tracts for higher prices.

Complaints of the shipping board that southern operators would not furnish timbers in sizes needed, Representative Fordney said, are unfounded. The south does not produce trees of sizes as large as ordered by the board.

Behind the bill, Mr. Fordney said, is a desire to force the southern mills, largely using negro labor, to adopt an eight-hour day.

"The president, through the secretary of labor and Mr. Gompers, has been at it day and night," the Michigan representative declared, explaining that organized labor had failed in efforts to organize negro labor.

Dispute Over Name Finds Way Into District Court

The name "Marinello" is the subject of a dispute which has found its way into the district court.

The Marinello company, of which Ruth J. Majer says she is president, seeks to enjoin Grace Kershner from using the name Marinello in connection with a hair dressing institution which she conducts in the Paxton block. The plaintiff alleges Grace Kershner is infringing upon the Marinello company's rights in calling her institution the "Marinello Sanitary Hair Dressing Parlors."

M. P. Killed in Battle.

London, March 13.—Philip Kirkland Glazebrook, unionist member of Parliament for South Manchester and a major in the Cheshire yeomanry, has been killed in action in Palestine. Mr. Glazebrook was born in 1880 and was first elected to Parliament in 1912.

Miss Prenosil Hurt.

While attempting to alight from a moving street car at Thirteenth and Dominion street last night, Miss Anna Prenosil, 45 years old, 6120 South Twenty-sixth street, fell, causing her to receive a possible fracture of the skull.

Nebraska Live Stock Men Confer With Food Director

Washington, March 13.—(Special Telegram.)—A. W. Dunlavy, Bloomington; H. T. Lettwith, St. Paul; Ed Hickey, Gretna; J. W. Farley, Aurora, and H. T. Cook, Omaha, well known live stock men of Nebraska, are in Washington for a conference with National Food Administrator Hoover over questions of production and price. They are in the national capital at the suggestion of Governor Neville who was asked to suggest a number of representative stockmen to attend the series of conference now on.

Judge Kinkaid, today at a further conference with Assistant Director Gray of the Department of Railroads, emphasized the importance of getting 300 stock cars to Scottsbluff and vicinity immediately as between 8,000 and 10,000 head of cattle are ready for market. These cattle have been fed on pulp and alfalfa and just as soon as the pulp gives out the cattle begin to fall off which means large losses to the owners.

Sends Cake by Mail, But Gives No Address

A four-pound cake is being held at the main postoffice and the owner is advised to call for it before it gets stale. It was dropped in the mail box at the Burgess-Nash station.

Through the postage and even a revenue stamp were on it in due form, the sender had forgotten to address it or to indicate who was the sender.

The owner may have it by calling and identifying it.

RAISE MORE CORN, TOMATOES AND PEAS

Food Administrator Appeals to Growers to Supply Food
Stuff for Army and Navy.

Grow more sweet corn, tomatoes and peas. The government must have them to meet the requirements of the army and navy. That appeal was sent to more than 300 growers yesterday by Gurdon W. Wattles, federal food administrator for Nebraska.

"Inasmuch as the government is taking from 30 to 35 per cent of the output of factories, increased production must follow to meet the demands for home consumption," says Wattles.

"If the factories are to meet the demands and furnish the large quantity of canned goods necessary, the farmers tributary to these factories must assist in every possible manner by increasing their acreage on these fundamental foods."

"Our soldiers fight with guns and ammunition. You take your place in the battle line by producing more food, and especially the particular kinds of foods which the army and navy need."

"I appeal to you in behalf of your government to co-operate with your canning factories and meet the urgent demand for more canned foods."

BRUTAL ATTACK ON YOUNG WOMAN; POLICE HOLD MAN

Miss Nettie Moss, 23 years old, cashier, was found lying unconscious in the street near Twenty-eighth avenue and Lincoln boulevard last night, the victim of an attempted assault. She rooms at 311 North Twenty-eighth avenue.

Her assailant is described by Miss Moss as a short, heavy-set man, wearing a gray overcoat and a cap.

Gust Kaulous, 2309 Dewey avenue, was arrested by Officers Coffey and Rose an hour afterward in his room and is booked at the police station for investigation. Later he was released.

He admitted having a quarrel with Miss Moss last night, but denied having taken her home.

The young woman was found lying in a dark spot, 200 feet north of Lincoln boulevard, by Gerald Heim, 480 Emmet street, and W. D. Dorrance, 402 Lincoln boulevard. She was carried to the home of Mrs. Mary Anderson, 311 North Twenty-eighth avenue, where she was attended by Police Surgeon Mullin.

Incoherently she told of her struggle with her unrecognized assailant. "He tried to choke me, and I kicked him away," said Miss Moss, "then he threw me in the street and choked me until I lost my breath. He kicked me in the side several times and then ran away."

She was suffering terribly from pains in her side. Deep finger-marks on her throat remained where her assailant choked her.

Miss Moss told the police the same man attempted to attack her Friday night, but was scared away.

For five nights, she said, a man has been following her home, but she neglected to inform the police of the affair.

MUSIC

Miss Morton's Piano Recital.

Miss Dorothy Morton, one of Omaha's most talented younger musicians, was heard last evening at the Young Women's Christian association auditorium in a piano recital, which immediately won her a high place in the musical ranks of our city. Miss Morton has many of those qualities which go to make up the thorough musician.

Her talent, distinctly for the musical beauties, has been carefully broadened and developed. She has style, assurance, excellent taste and an artistic conception of everything she plays. There is vitality and charm throughout, and the result is that her playing does not hold a dull moment. Her technical equipment is sufficient to meet the many diversified exactions of the difficult program, yet it never obtrudes above the musical content of the numbers, and this is as it should be. Her clean-cut phrasing, beauty of tone and judgment in shading, her careful pedaling and broad understanding of the unity of each piece were all noted as contributing to the resultant effects.

The many different incidents of the beautiful Schumann "Carnival" were clearly and delightfully presented. A group of modern numbers, brought wide contrasts with each of its four interesting novelties. The climax of the evening came with the Tchaikovsky "Concerto," in B flat minor, in which Miss Morton was artistically assisted by Mr. Martin Bush at the second piano. The grace and charm of the Andante, the poetry of the Andantino Sempe and the spirit and verve of the more brilliant movements, especially the Allegro con fuoco at the close, were depicted in such a way as to reflect great credit upon the young pianist.

Miss Morton was enthusiastically received and presented with numerous armfuls of flowers.

Two encores, "Prelude," by Fryer, and "Arietta," by an old master named Leo, were graciously added to the program.
