Beautiful Maid of Mystery Lives in Solitary Splendor at the Blackstone
By MELLIFICIA, March 19.

WATSON, get the needle! There is a woman of mystery in our midst. Even so. Young she is and beautiful, with melting dark eyes and a rose leaf complexion. She drives her own car, her clothes are the very last word in style, and she lives at the Blackstone!

Is she a society girl from the east worn out with a round of dinners and teas, who seeks rest and seclusion in peaceful Omaha? But why is she taking a business course? Every day finds her seated in front of her typewriter learning the "touch system," and delving into the mysteries of the queer little hooks and crooks commonly known as shorthand.

But wait, Mellificia will not keep you in such suspense. Miss Mystery is from New York; for she has said so herself. True, she has worked untiringly at war work in New York, she has a brother who is now in France, and a sister who is training for a nurse that she may do her share. We think, but we don't know that this pretty lady is studying stenography that she may offer her services to Uncle Sam.

Her apartment at the Blackstone is one of the handsomest ones in the hotel, where she lives in solitary splendor. Keep a sharp look out and you spy her one of these days driving along in her "chummy" roadster, looking very pretty, but perhaps a little lonely.

Lieut. Noble Weds.
Lieutenant W. F. Noble, Company D, first regular division motor supply train, Camp Joseph E. Johnston, and Miss Alice Proudfoot of Lincoln were married at the First Baptist church, St. Augustine, Fla., Monday, and are now at St. Augustine.

Last Week of Pennell Exhibit.
Joseph Pennell, whose war lithographs are being shown the rest of the week for war relief benefit in the Kelline building, is associated with the division of pictorial war publicity headed by Charles Dana Gibson, Herbert Adams, E. H. Blashfield and Cass Gilbert are others on the committee. It is the task of these men to mobilize the artists of the nation for war service, and supply every department of the government with posters, window cards, placards, car cards and every other form of art appeal.

The Art alliance of Philadelphia recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. Pennell as guests. An exhibit of Whistler's etchings was in progress and Mr. Pennell gave a talk on the subject. The Pennells have written the authoritative life of Whistler.

Mrs. Levi Entertains.
Mrs. I. L. Longworth of Chicago has been honor guest at a number of affairs during her stay. Mrs. Longworth visits her sister, Mrs. Will Truelsen, every year and her friends drop their various duties for the short time that she is here and entertain at informal luncheons or perhaps a bridge for the Chicago visitor. Mrs. Robert Levi was hostess at an afternoon bridge at her home Tuesday in compliment to Mrs. Longworth. Spring flowers brightened the rooms.

Two Birthday Parties.
Mrs. S. Arion Lewis was surprised Monday by a number of old friends, who called on her to extend birthday greetings. The guests brought their own luncheon, also a large birthday cake. In the evening about 15 other friends called. Each guest brought one course for the birthday supper, also a birthday cake, making Mrs. Lewis honor guest at two affairs in one day.

For Miss Johnson.
Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Foltz will give a little informal dinner party at the Blackstone Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Alpha Johnson, whose marriage to Mr. Gaylor Voris, now at Camp Funston, will take place in the near future. Following the dinner a shower will be given for the bride-to-be at the Foltz home.

Evening Party.
Miss Evelyn Sandberg and Miss Irene Porter entertained at a St. Patrick's day party at the home of the latter Saturday evening.

Fraser Lecture.
Sir John Foster Fraser, who talks before the University club Saturday evening, promises to be in greater demand than any titled Englishman Omaha has ever entertained.

It seems that when Masfield spoke before the Fine Arts Society he told them that if Sir John ever came out this way they must not miss him, and between the demand for seats among University Club members and the Fine Arts Society, the University Club capacity will be taxed to overflow.

It is understood that Sir John will be entertained informally by directors of the club at dinner Saturday evening preceding the lecture.

Change Meeting Day.
The Dundee Woman's Patriotic club has changed its meeting day from Friday to Monday because of the Red Cross auxiliary of the club having chosen Thursday as its working day. Next Monday the club will meet with Mrs. Maynard Swartz. The surgical dressings work will be done at the home of Mrs. A. V. Dresner.

Miss Anne Russell attended the Kappa Gamma dance at Lincoln Saturday evening.

Mrs. Louis Korschmeier of Lincoln arrived Monday to spend the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Tukey.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Learned are going out to their country place, Walden Wood, April 15, for the summer. Mr. Learned will have 20 acres of corn, potatoes and green garden truck.

Mrs. G. L. Raymer of Chicago returned last week from a two months' tour through Florida. At Miami Mrs. Raymer was the guest of her uncle, Mr. "Chuck" Floyd, at his beautiful plantation, which is one of the show places of Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Langan, Mrs. Frank Walker and baby son, Richard, who have been in California for some time, will return next week. The Langans intended making their home in California, but have decided just to spend the winter there, returning to Omaha for the summer months.

Black and White Always Smart

By GERTRUDE BERESFORD.

THERE is nothing startling in a dress of black foulard with white organdy collars and cuffs, yet how striking a woman can look, clad in such a frock if the other accessories of her costume are in keeping. A wide brimmed model of black Georgette crepe, trimmed only with a large jet pin, is the appropriate hat, while black clocked stockings and patent leather pumps complete the equipment or good style to be found in this extremely smart example of the black and white costume.

Charity Ball.

A door prize of a house and lot will be given at the dance for the benefit of the Boys' Home at the Auditorium, April 11. The committee of women who were appointed by Archbishop J. J. Harty, are meeting with great success and they feel sure that the goal of $10,000 will be reached. The boys are now living at the old Byron Reed home, but when the new one is completed they will have an opportunity to learn farming. Prominent women are sponsoring the affair.

Dr. and Mrs. Jonas Entertain.

Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Jonas entertained at dinner Wednesday evening at the Omaha club in honor of members of the committee of physicians who organized the University of Nebraska base hospital No. 49, which has just been ordered to mobilize. Major A. C. Stokes, hospital director, Major C. A. Hull, chief surgeon, and Major E. L. Bridges, chief of the medical staff, will be honor guests.

To Have Birthday Party or to Omit it, Is the Question

An unrecurrent of doubt has been disturbing the peace of mind of some of the members of the Omaha Woman's club, since it was decided that a luncheon should be given April 24 in celebration of the club's 25th anniversary.

Social affairs in war time didn't seem just the most patriotic thing. Mrs. F. H. Cole thought that the money should be given to the State Council of Defense, of which Mrs. A. L. Fernald, the club president, is county chairman.

Mrs. Ben Baker said she would be glad to give her luncheon fee to the Armenian relief, if the others were. Yet a club only has one silver anniversary and the enthusiastic members hated to pass by the occasion without the customary celebration.

After considerable private discussion terms of peace were decided upon. These were based on the fact that even war relief workers were always given public luncheons and since everybody ate luncheon anyway in spite of conservation, everyone might as well eat together on the 25th birthday. To remove all appearances of frivolity or extravagance it was resolved to serve an ultra Hoover menu, to make patriotic speeches and decorate the table with the national emblem.

B'nai B'rith Sends Goodies to Soldiers at Camp Cody

The base hospital at Camp Cody, Deming, N. M., is preparing for a large number of patients. Or at least the doctors and nurses will get busy when the big box of goodies sent by Omaha B'nai B'rith lodge and its women's auxiliary to the soldiers there is received.

In response to an appeal made by Jack Yellen, social worker for Jewish welfare among soldiers and sailors, the Omaha committee, including Edward Simon, Frank Sigle, J. J. Slossburg, Miss Hazel Cooper, Miss Bess Levey and Miss Esther Belmont, assembled the following goods, shipment on which was made today:

Forty-five pounds of home-made candy, 25 pounds of mixed nuts, 25 cakes, five pounds of figs, 100 packages of chewing gum, 5,200 cigarettes and 275 packages of smoking tobacco. Besides this, 16 dozen handkerchiefs, five dozen toothbrushes, 50 bars of toilet soap, books and magazines were included in the box. Leo Rosenthal made the largest donation of "smokes" for the boys.

New Versus Old Fashioned Education

In the world war which has tested the vitality and resources of the nations, one thing has been proven: Old-fashioned educational subjects and methods will not meet the needs of contemporary life. The man who was recently appointed minister of education in England says that his nation must abandon the plan of teaching subjects which have little or no connection with the real needs of daily life.

"We must teach our boys and girls subjects which will enable them to deal with the new problems which are confronting our people. The battle for Latin and Greek has been fought and lost. The schools of the future will be modern schools and England will be stronger, happier, and better nation when its children are taught modern instead of worn-out knowledge."

We in America should lead in educational progress more than should the people of any other nation. This means that the work of the schools must be constantly improved as social conditions change, and as new needs arise. This is precisely what the new education is striving to accomplish, and the changes which you see taking place in the schools are occurring in response to the ever widening and deepening conviction that the business of the schools is to teach the young what they will need to know and to do when they face the problems of actual life.

Science Solves the Butter Problem with Butter Made from the White Meat of Cocoanuts

Just when the price of butter threatens to make it an unattainable luxury, science perfects TROCO, the new vegetable butter made from the white meat of the cocconut.

It tastes exactly like the finest creamery butter and is even more wholesome and pure.

It is churned with fresh Pasteurized milk to give true butter flavor.

Because of old laws, made before this discovery, we are compelled to label this nut-made butter as oleomargarine.

But it contains no oleo oils—no hog or beef fat.

TROCO is simply vegetable fats, churned with milk for the butter taste.

Yet this appetizing combination costs no more than does the best grades of oleomargarine.

TROCO

Can't Be Told From Butter
TROCO has all the good qualities of fine creamery butter. The only difference you will notice is the cost.

It is as nutritious as cream butter, and as easily digested. It possesses the fuel value needed for energy.

TROCO when served has butter's golden color, because we supply the same vegetable coloring used by all butter makers.

Served on your table, without explanation, no one can tell the difference.

Goes Farther In Cooking

TROCO, used in cooking, gives the same results as butter, except that it goes farther. Cooks should remember this and reduce the amount.

It makes such cake as has not been known since butter soared in price.

It allows the old-fashioned "rich cooking" that builds up the family health.

Your Dealer Can Supply TROCO

If your dealer doesn't already keep TROCO, ask him to get it for you. Tell him you must have this new-day successor to butter.

Insist until he secures a supply.

For TROCO solves one of the biggest problems presented by our high food prices—The problem of serving appetizing, wholesome butter at a moderate cost.

Made by the TROCO NUT BUTTER CO., Milwaukee, Wis.

NOTICE: Under the law, all butter substitutes must be branded Oleomargarine. That law was passed before TROCO was invented. So the TROCO package is branded "Oleomargarine," though there is no oleo in it. All butter substitutes must pay an extra tax if colored. So the color for TROCO comes in a capsule. Add it yourself, as you do with Oleomargarine.
