Thompson Berry Sends Trench Paper,
"The Spiker," to His Omaha Friends

CAN YOU imagine a khaki-clad Sammy, the rain dripping off his trench hat, his clothes caked with mud, the ever-present cigaret between his lips, reading of the wedding of Miss Ethel Harriman, while the shells burst over and around his trench. No, this is not a dream, because it really could happen and probably has.

In the trench newspaper, "The Spiker," is found a real society "write-up" of the wedding, orange blossoms and all. And they even described what the groom wore! Thompson Dorsey-Berry, a former Omaha boy, who is with the telephone unit in France, sends this little magazine back to friends in Omaha. Probably one of the most interesting features of this trench periodical is a page devoted to letters from two of the "nicest girls in Los Angeles," whom the editor had asked to find other girls to write to these lonely soldiers. The girls are described in a very clever way, one widow is said to be "five feet two and three in French heels," and she wears "vampish looking black loop earrings." After these vivid descriptions the letter always ends, "Her address is—"

"Ask 'The Spiker.'" One letter is signed "Betty," and underneath is written "It'll be useless to ask 'The Spiker' for Betty's address. He has already elected himself."

A department for the love-lorn is also included, letters from a Sammy to his mother, cartoons, a company "Gabby," little tales on the boys, clever little poems and stories are all to be found between the covers of the "Spiker."

It is hard to realize that the youthful editors are not carefree college boys instead of soldiers fighting for Uncle Sam, for they still find time and inclination to write these witty little bits for their paper.

For Major and Mrs. Lazar.

Major and Mrs. Eugene Lazar, who have been at Fort Omaha for some time, were honor guests at a card party Tuesday afternoon given by Mr. and Mrs. T. Gordon Sanders. Hem Towels for Bride.

Miss Marjorie Beckett gave a very practical little prenuptial party today. Miss Betty Carr was honor guest and while she chatted with her friends they hemmed tea towels for her. Of course, there was tea and a lovely basket of jonquils on the tea table, while Easter lilies bloomed in the other rooms of the pretty Woodruff country home. Twelve of Miss Carr's intimate friends were at the party.

"and will be used in connection with plans for housing the great number of officers and clerks who are coming to Washington."

From an Eton Lad

By GERTRUDE BERESFORD.

THEY say that "England's battles are won on the cricket fields of Eton and Harrow." Whatever the qualities that boys learn there which make for stalwart soldiers, the Eton jacket might be said to be the uniform of the American girl in and out of war work this spring, so universal is its adoption. The conservation of wool is the patriotic idea behind this fashion. Blue serge trimmed with black silk braid builds this suit, while silver buttons and a wide girdle of black braid give the touch militaire which so well adorns these dapper little suits. Worn with a blue sailor hat, nothing could be smarter.

Plan of Assembling
Women for Liberty
Loan Parade

Where the women are to form for the Liberty loan parade Saturday at 1:30 o'clock is announced today by Mrs. E. M. Fairfield, marshal of the women's section.

The Red Cross workers will form the Twenty-sixth and Farnam streets, in front of the Komtze Memorial church. Back of them, at Douglas and Twenty-sixth streets, will be the War Relief society workers, who will form a guard of honor for Joan of Arc, and behind them the food conservation women.

Next come the National Service league women in three sections (motor service), Duryea relief and Red Star workers.

On Dodge street, west of Twenty-sixth street, the Campfire Girls of Central High school will form. Behind them will be all other women's organizations.

The War Relief society was chosen for the Joan of Arc guard as a fitting honor to the first organization to take up war relief work in Omaha. It started as the Franco-Belgian Relief society. Members of the society are requested to wear their Red Cross aprons or any white apron. Those who have not yet received their caps and badges will receive them at the point of assembling Saturday.

Private Peat Says
Hun Cannot Break
Through the Line

Like all war lecturers, Private Peat, who speaks Monday evening in the Auditorium under the auspices of the Nebraska base hospital and the City Mission, is constantly asked, "When will the war end?" and "Can the Germans break through?"

He doesn't pretend to know the former, but he is very emphatic on the latter point. "If the Hun couldn't break through in 1914-15, when we held that line with raw recruits, mess boys, transport men and cooks, when the odds were 10 to 1, what chance has he now? None. Why, in those early days we had practically no big guns. The Hun could strafe us all he wanted to and if we asked our batteries to reply, the only answer we got was, 'Awfully sorry, but you have had your allowance of shells for the day.' And we had to suffer. But it is different now. The Germans cannot break through."

of the Liberty loan committee, announces that all women of the labor auxiliaries are to meet at Labor Temple at 1 o'clock, from thence to proceed to Twenty-sixth and Douglas in a body.

Costly Roll Pictures

Now on Exhibit in
The Masonic Temple

The belated arrival of the largest and most valuable canvases of the Roll exhibit, being held at the Masonic temple, is causing much joy among the members of the Omaha Society of Fine Arts.

"The Child on Horseback" is the largest and one of the most beautiful in the collection. The artist's own son posed for this study. The boy astride his pony is shown galloping across a flowered field. The painting is priced at $5,000.

Another picture about which much interest is centered is "The Young Republic." It is the symbolical study of France. A woman's figure clad in flaming red is posed on the hilltop facing the world with outstretched arms.

"The Woman in White" is a portrait of Albert Phillippe, Roll's wife. It is one of the most elaborate of the exhibit.

Mrs. E. P. Ellis has hosted this morning. Mrs. W. J. Hynes this afternoon, and Mrs. Ward Burgess this evening.

The Most Amazing
Story of the War

Gunner Depew

by the Fighting, Laughing
American Sailor Boy

Gunner Depew is the only war book of personal adventure written by an American sailor who fought on land and sea—in Flanders and at Gallipoli. Gunner Depew contains the only complete account of the capture by the German raider Moewe of the S. S. Georgic and Yarrowdale—the only description of the famous Yarrowdale cruise around the north of Iceland and into Germany.

Gunner Depew is the only war book written by an American which describes the wretchedness and misery of German Prison Camps—especially that most infamous of all camps, Brandenburg, "The Hell Hole of Germany."—$1.50.

Mrs. Cudahy Will Interview Canteen
Volunteers Here

Applications continue to pour into Mrs. C. T. Kountze for Red Cross canteen work in France. A letter was received by Frank Judson, state director, this morning from Mrs. Joseph Cudahy of Chicago, who is at the head of the canteen work of the central division. She advised that the women who will be sent to France must be chosen from the highest type of American young women.

They will be sent to any part of France, Belgium or Italy. The work is very difficult and requires perfect physical condition.

Mrs. Cudahy will be in Omaha next Wednesday to meet applicants.

Frocks for little girls are made of flowered silks and show the Watteau plait.

Girdles that are seven and even eight inches wide are seen on white skirts.

Pain
Here is a message to suffering women, from Mrs. Kathryn Edwards, of R. F. D. 4, Washington Court House, Ohio. "I am glad to tell, and have told many women, what I suffered before I knew of Cardui and the great benefit to be derived from this remedy. A few years ago I became practically helpless..."

Card-u-i
The Woman's Tonic
"I was very weak," Mrs. Edwards goes on to say, "and could not stoop without suffering great pain... Nothing seemed to help me until I heard of Cardui and began the use of it... I gradually gained my strength... I am now able to do all my work." If you need a tonic take Cardui. It is for women. It acts gently and reliably and will probably help you as it helped this lady.
