

LARGEST CASUALTY LIST OF WAR RECEIVED FROM FRANCE

283 Names on Report of Tuesday, April 9th, Indicates Greater Activity Among American Forces on Battle Front; Thirteen Lieutenants Among Wounded Men.

Washington, April 10.—The largest casualty list for any day since the United States entered the war was announced by the War department today. There are 283 names on the list. Five men were killed in action; three died of wounds; 11 died of disease; seven died from accidents; ten were severely wounded; 245 wounded slightly and two were missing in action. Thirteen lieutenants were among the men wounded.

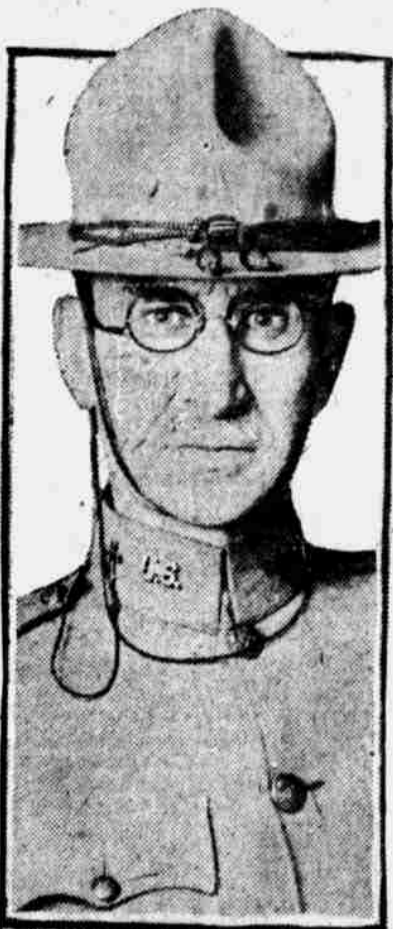

Captain John P. Hurley was among the slightly wounded, and four lieutenants were wounded severely and nine wounded slightly. Their names follow: Wounded severely: Lieutenants Daniel H. Lawler, William D. Meyering, John Walter Morris, James J. Wall, jr. Wounded slightly: Lieutenants Coleman D. Burns, William D. Crane, William T. Fenker, Thomas J. Jackson, Morris R. Levi, Arthur H. Lieutenant Kline Now Chaplain Of 125th Machine Gun Battalion

Lieutenant H. H. Kline, formerly in charge of the Omaha Salvation Army industrial home and now chaplain in the 125th machine gun battalion, which is stationed at Camp Cody, Deming, N. M., left for Los Angeles, Cal., Tuesday night after a short visit here. His wife and family are in California, and he will remain there for a few days before returning to his command. Lieutenant Kline left here seven months ago with the old Sixth Nebraska guards, which later disbanded, and he was transferred to the depot brigade. He was again transferred into the 125th machine gun battalion. On March 1 he was ordered to the training school for chaplains and candidate chaplains at Fortress Monroe, Va., and has just completed a five weeks' training course there. There were 71 chaplains at the fort during his training period, 12 of whom were Catholic priests, among them Father Kane and Father Corby, formerly of the Creighton university faculty. Among other subjects studied were international law, courts martial law, army regulations and customs. Hygiene and first aid work were given particular attention.

BIG SAVING MADE OF WHEAT FLOUR

Percentage of Increase for March Much Higher for Nebraska Than for Country as Whole.

Savings of nearly 15,000,000 pounds of wheat flour through conservation measures in March, against 12,790,000 pounds in February, greatly assisted the United States Food administration in making good on its pledges to the allies.

Reports from the U. S. Food administration to Gordon W. Wattles, federal food administrator for Nebraska, show that Nebraska contributed 421,781 pounds of this amount, a very satisfactory showing, population considered.

That the wheat saving program is effective is shown in the increase of savings from month to month. February showed 10 per cent above the preceding month, yet Nebraska scored a much higher percentage, jumping from 294,419 to 421,781.

Meats showed a relative saving, though with the restriction taken off efforts are being centered upon wheat. The wheat propaganda is being given decided emphasis, provision having been made to handle all returns of flour now in the hands of consumers and distributors.

The offer of communities, in which Nebraska is included, to return flour has been met by the food administration with requests to take the flour, store it at convenient points and release an equivalent amount from the mills for export. In this way, the expense of re-sacking has been eliminated, and at the same time, flour is being sent across the water.

Food Administrator Wattles has been instructed to take all flour offered in Nebraska, payment to be made at the market price through the Grain corporation, if necessary.

Results of Bread Probe by Commission Not Given Out. Bakers refuse to make any comment on the recent investigation of the Federal Trade commission into the bread situation in Omaha, during which it was reported that a new proposition was made them. G. W. Wattles, food administrator, was out of the city Tuesday.

No details of the reported "new proposition" are obtainable, as the representatives of the Federal Trade commission did not make a report before going back to Washington. Whatever it was, the bakers are said to have refused it. Several weeks ago the bakers had a hearing before a referee appointed by the food administration, which found 7 1/2 cents to be a fair price for bread in Omaha. The bakers refused to put that price in effect and the finding of the referee was referred to National Food Administrator Hoover for review. The actual price charged by bakers at wholesale is 8 cents per pound loaf.

Men "Boosting" Election Arrested for Being Drunk. Electioneering, while in an alleged state of "ecstasy" caused the arrest of W. L. Horst, 1716 Cass street, Tuesday afternoon.

Horst was charged with drunkenness and unlawful possession of liquor. A pint bottle, partly filled with whisky was found in one of his pockets. He was passing out election slates to prospective voters.

Expressman's Mad Drive Stopped by Policemen. Fred Waterman, express driver, 1125 north Twentieth street, was arrested Tuesday afternoon at Twentieth and Clark streets and booked on charges of drunkenness, cruelty to animals and fast driving. North Twentieth street appeared too narrow for the horse, goaded by the lash, and the speeding demon invaded the sidewalk, parking and front laws, while Waterman himself rent the air with joyful yells.

MORE SPEED IN DRAFT URGED BY CROWDER

Provost Marshal General Says Occupational Cards Not Sent In; Great Need for Them Exists.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) Lincoln, April 10.—(Special.)—Provost Marshal General Crowder has telegraphed an urgent appeal to the Nebraska State Council of Defense to assist in providing all local draft boards in the state with adequate assistance for transcription and transmittal of occupational cards. General Crowder explains that school teachers have already been assisting, but have not proved adequate and in some instances boards have defaulted entirely and many are badly behind in the work. He further points out that until transcription of the occupational cards is accomplished the United States army must wait for vitally needed skilled workmen. "This is therefore a national emergency," General Crowder states, "and I consider this a critical test of ability of state and local councils. The question is, 'Will they rise to the emergency?'" The state council has advised General Crowder that he may be assured

Nebraska will rise to the emergency and is asking its county council to take this matter up at once and provide the necessary help without delay. Early responses indicate that the county councils are finding it comparatively easy to supply the help needed although in some sections of the state it is admitted there is a dearth of clerical aid.

When delays cost big money

In businesses where delays run into huge losses, Pierce-Arrow trucks outnumber all other makes of trucks in use, for their dependability has been demonstrated in these businesses after costly experiments with other equipment. In the building business, for instance, when the time required for an operation frequently determines who gets the contract, they have made fine records.

Here is a case in point: The James L. Stuart Company, excavating for the William Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh, used three Pierce-Arrow trucks. They worked 80 hours a day, hauling 56,000 solid yards of material, a round trip of 1.8 miles, averaging 98 miles daily, often making 80 trips. They completed the job in 60 days, saving 30 days on the time estimated by the closest competitive bidder. In the contracting business, where penalties are the rule and where bonuses figure prominently in possible profits, the standard equipment of leading operators is PIERCE-ARROW Motor Trucks. When rush work was necessary on the various cantonments to house the National Army, Pierce-Arrow trucks were employed to help build nearly every one. In comparison with other equipment, they made a notable showing.

At Camp Taylor, 6 Pierce-Arrows, owned by the Ohio River Sand Company, worked day and night hauling sand and gravel. Every 10 hours they averaged 6 round trips of 18 miles each. No other truck was able to average 5 trips. They carried an aggregate load in less time, with less idle time than any other truck.

We could multiply similar instances without limit—and in situations like yours. Ask us for specific data gathered from 103 different businesses, in which Pierce-Arrows are operating, meeting successfully every emergency, every condition.
